Queen's U.S. Visit Slated in October

INDIA—SLEEPING GIANT AWAKES

India's battle against poverty, disease and a growing population to become a modern nation is the subject of an intriguing article by Weekend Magazine staff writer Robert McKeown in this issue.

Ottawa Expecting Royal Pair First

WASHINGTON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip are due to visit the United States for about 10 days in early October, according to plans which have been worked out between Washington and London.

Persons close to the negotiations reported today that the Queen's formal acceptance to an invitation from President Eisenhower to come to Washington probably will be received here in two to three weeks. It has been pending for months while officials worked out the details.

Queen Elizabeth and Philip are expected to visit places other than Washington but diplomats said they did not know what towns and cities would make up the itinerary except that it seems certain Jamestown, Va., would be included.

Talk of an invitation to the Queen was started originally by sponsors of this year's celebration of Jamestown's historic past.

Clouded in Official Secrecy

So far all exchanges between Washington and London on the Queen's projected visit have been handled primarily by the United States Embassy in London and have been covered with as much official secrecy as the authorities could muster.

This is normal in the case of an invitation by the president to the chief of another state. Nevertheless word usually gets around and reports have been current for about a year that the president would invite Queen Elizabeth and Philip to Washington and that she would accept.

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada wants the Queen to make this country her first stop in any North American travel plan she has for this year.

Prime Minister St. Laurent made this clear on his return from the Bermuda talks with Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Said Mr. St. Laurent at that time:

"It will be recommended by the United Kingdom government to Her Majesty that if she comes across the Atlantic this year she should visit here first."

Human 'Bomb' Dies

Montreal Madman Was Shot By Policemen

MONTREAL (CP) — Andre Deblois, the "human bomb" whose threats terrorized a section of Montreal two months ago, died today in hospital from effects of a policeman's bullet that ended his bizarre escapade.

The 25-year-old Deblois, rigged out in sticks of dynamite and detonators, terrorized the staff and customers of a Toronto-Dominion bank branch on St. Lawrence Boulevard last March 8.

Threatening to set off the dynamite, Deblois was finally shot by a police constable who got within shooting range and carefully sent a bullet into Deblois' neck.

BOMB FOUND IN LOCKER

Deblois was taken to hospital where he told police he had planted a bomb in Central Station in downtown Montreal. Police found the home-made bomb in a locker. Some defect in the alarm-clock arrangement prevented the bomb going off at the set hour—5 p.m., while hundreds of homeward bound workers were passing through the station.

Deblois had been paralyzed from the neck down by the police bullet. He was taken into court on a stretcher March 29 and was sentenced to 10 years in prison.

He pleaded guilty to four charges — theft of a taxi, attempted holdup, possession of 39 sticks of dynamite for the purpose of endangering human life, and placing the bomb in the station.

Later Deblois was taken to the Montreal jail in suburban Bordeaux. He was removed from there last Tuesday to Notre Dame de la Merci Hospital.

PREMIER MARRIES

Premier Robert L. Stanfield of Nova Scotia honeymooned today with the former Mary M. Hall, a judge's daughter whom he married Friday in a Baptist church ceremony that was kept secret until it was over. Premier Stanfield was a widower with four children aged four to 15.

EGG-SIZE HAILSTONES AS FLOODS HIT TEXAS

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Hailstones the size of eggs piled up 12 inches deep on highways in western Texas Friday night as almost four inches of rain fell in some areas, causing fresh floods.

Telephone lines were struck by lightning and winds of 80 miles an hour left many towns without communications for hours.

Between 80 and 90 per cent of the grain crop in the Norton area of West Texas was ruined by hail.

About 22 homes in Liberty were threatened. Some 500 persons were isolated.

MOTHER REMEMBERS, TOO

Son Remembered For Mother's Day...

DETROIT (AP) — Six-year-old Raymond Podczervisnki tossed his school satchel on the kitchen table and ran out to play with some of his five brothers and sisters and neighborhood pals.

That was Thursday and as many a first-grader before him Raymond forgot to take something "real important" from among assorted papers and books in the school bag.

Friday Raymond's mother, Mrs. Bertha Podczervinski, found that "real important" thing. It was a sheet of drawing paper, decorated with a crayoned flower and crudely formed letters that said:

"My dear darling mother, God made all mothers as good and as kind as can be. But when God chose mothers, God gave the sweetest mother to me."

Shortly after Raymond went out to play there was a screech of brakes in front of his home, then a sickening thud. A car had hit him. He was dead on arrival at hospital.

PM Should Reveal Notes On Suez, Says Tory Chief

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP) — Progressive Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker said here today that he would not believe Canada would withdraw from the Commonwealth over last fall's Suez Canal crisis.

Mr. Diefenbaker, on a barnstorming campaign tour of Northern Ontario, told a press conference on his special train: "It would be as far removed from reality as any government could come."

He made the comments during a reply to queries about a current battle between Social Credit Leader Solon Low and Prime Minister St. Laurent.

PRIVATE FIGHT

Mr. Low was reported to have said at Victoria that the Liberal leader last fall threatened Sir Anthony Eden, then British prime minister, with Canada's withdrawal from the Commonwealth over the Suez Canal crisis. Mr. St. Laurent termed the statement "a downright lie." Mr. Low claims the Victoria report was inaccurate.

But he said at Brandon, Man., Thursday night that a telegram sent last fall by Mr. St. Laurent to Sir Anthony was the major factor in causing Britain and France to halt their intervention in the Israeli-Egyptian dispute. Mr. St. Laurent denied this too and contended that Mr. Low still was not telling the truth about Canada's role in Britain's withdrawal from Egypt.

Asked to comment on the Low-St. Laurent exchanges, Mr. Diefenbaker said: "That's a private fight. I never believe in interfering in others controversies."

EXPLAINS FEELINGS

Mr. Diefenbaker, however, went on to explain his own feelings in the matter. He said he made an effort to obtain a copy of the telegram but Prime Minister St. Laurent refused. He added, that the prime minister said Mr. Eden did not want the contents of the telegram published.

He pointed out in the Commons that if the telegram was produced all correspondence, over several months, would have to be produced, and Sir Anthony did not want that," Mr. Diefenbaker said.

"All we've had to date," Mr. Diefenbaker went on, "is a refusal to produce the document. During the first debate he (Mr. St. Laurent) gave general indications of the telegram's content, which was meaningless without that document.

"My own views are that the document should have been produced. The prime minister should not have given his personal views."

Mr. Diefenbaker said he had no information on Canada withdrawing from the Commonwealth. He recalled that External Affairs Minister Pearson had told the Commons that because of the lack of a Commonwealth conference at the time some members were "on the brink of withdrawal."

"I wouldn't believe Canada would withdraw," he concluded.

VIOLENCE TAKES HEAVY TOLL

UNEF Officer From B.C. Dies in Egypt Car Crash

OTTAWA (CP) — The army announced Friday night that a Canadian officer with the United Nations Emergency Force was killed Friday in a traffic accident in Egypt and two Canadian soldiers were injured.

Dead is Lieut. Charles Van Straubenzee, 25-year-old officer with the 56th Reconnaissance Squadron, Royal Canadian Armored Corps. His wife, Sheila, lives in Vernon, B.C.

The soldiers, whose injuries were described as not dangerous, were identified in the cable released by the army only as Tpr. O. Kruger, Arvilla, Alta., the driver, and L.Cpl. C. F. Jette, Calgary.

The accident occurred near Rafah, Egypt, when the Ferret scout car in which the three were travelling rolled over after hitting a sandy patch on the road when the driver swerved to avoid a native crowd.

Three of the victims, all from Ste. Monique, were members of one family.

The five were identified as Marcel L'Heureux, 27; his son Andre 2; L'Heureux' brother, Yvon L'Heureux, 22; Pauline Belisle, 22; and Lucette Piche, 22.

TRAIN-CAR SMASH TAKES 5 LIVES

STE. THERESE, Que. (BUP) —A speeding Canadian Pacific train hit an automobile at a fog-shrouded level crossing four miles west of here Friday night, knocked it into a ditch and killed its five occupants.

EX-CONVICT ADMITS CHILD KILLING

MUSKEGON, Mich. (UP) — Police from four cities converged on Muskegon today to question confessed child slayer Herman Barmore about the killings of five other children, three in Chicago.

Barmore, 44, alias Charles W. Ficher, a New York ex-convict and sex pervert, has already admitted the fatal shooting of Peter Gorham, 12, Evanston, Ill., July 5, 1955, near a Boy Scout camp 12 miles north of Muskegon. He said it was an "accident" but authorities call it a sex crime.

BARKEEP RUNS AMOK, SLAYS 3

HOUSTON (AP)—Police said a 36-year-old tavern operator ran amok with a .22-calibre rifle Friday night, killing three persons and seriously wounding another before he was captured.

Police said Tommie Heads, Jr., told them he shot his wife and the other three because of "family troubles."

Killed were Heads' wife, Florence, about 30, Mrs. Emily Jacquette, 70, and Mrs. Priscilla Babin, 40.

TRUCK RAMS CAR; 3 PERSONS DIE

BRANTFORD, Ont. (CP) — A huge trailer truck carrying 16 tons of sugar thundered into the side of an automobile that pulled from a side street Friday night in nearby Mount Pleasant, killing three occupants of the car.

The victims were: Milton Lickers, 52; Arthur Howie, 70, and Howie's daughter, Mrs. Helen Bonnacorso, all of nearby Paris.

FALLING LIMB KILLS MOTHER OF THREE

TROY, N.Y. (AP) — A young mother who was expecting her fourth child was injured fatally Friday night when a tree limb fell on an automobile during a windstorm. Her husband and three children escaped with abrasions. Mrs. Theresa Nichols, 31, died in hospital of a punctured liver after the limb smashed the windshield of the car.

THREE BURIED IN GRANARY

ST. BENEDICT, Sask. (CP) —Two men and a child were killed on a farm here Friday when the wall of a granary collapsed, burying them beneath about 50 tons of grain.

Killed were Lawrence Reinhart, 43, his four-year-old daughter Delphine and Mathew Victor, 30, a neighboring farmer.

Wife Dies While MP Rows on TV

IRLAM, England (AP) — The wife of a Labor member of Parliament collapsed and died Friday night while watching her husband take part in a stormy television program which ended in a brawl.

Labor member Jack Jones was arguing with a union official in a TV studio at Manchester about a recent steel strike. Jones' wife, Olive, sat with friends at her home here and watched the show.

She collapsed as Jones was being booed by members of the studio audience. She had been in poor health for several months.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Our Father, thy children come to thee not in fear but in faith, not with doubt but with confident expectations. Wilt thou grant us not our desires so much as our needs, not so much what we think is good but what thou dost know is good for us; through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

SOUTHERN COMFORT

Police Get Break Under City's Sun

The new look in Victoria city police is likely to spring up any warm day now.

By order of chief constable John Blackstock, policemen are permitted to stand duty in shirt sleeves, uniform trousers and—shades of California — sunglasses. But the sunglasses mustn't be fancy.

Police union has tried for years to get its membership out of heavy blue serge tunics in the heat of summer, but until recently met with opposition from the police commission which argued police should at all times be fully uniformed.

The new regulation will be implemented at the discretion of patrol sergeants and uniform inspectors and is allowable only if all constables on duty are dressed the same.

Later, police will be issued Sam Brown belts to be worn over shirts and neckties on warm summer days and over tunics the rest of the year.

The chief permitted tunics to be removed on two or three very warm days last summer, but made no standing order.

It will be the first time beat constables are allowed to wear dark glasses, although traffic and motorcycle officers have had the privilege previously.

Lucky fer th' Socred leader, Mr. Low, thet he ain't runnin' in England. Ain't many places there he'd git elected with his "invade Egypt" sentiments.

Hope th' U.S. Senate subcommittee won't raise any objections t' two Britons arrivin' next October without bein' cleared.

Two Britons On Trial As Spies

CAIRO (Reuters)—Two Britons accused of spying against Egypt complained today to a Cairo court that they had heard the charges against them for the first time just before the trial resumed.

The two, James Swinburne, 51, Cairo business manager of the Arab News Agency, and James Zaeb, 37, Maltese businessman, who have been imprisoned eight months, refused to plead.

Asked by Judge Abdel Lastif if he admitted the charges against him, Swinburne said: "I have only just heard them and I leave my defence entirely in my lawyer's hands." He said he had seen his lawyer only three times, the longest period being 15 minutes.

Two other Britons on trial, John Stanley, 40, of the Prudential Life Insurance Company and Charles Pittuck, 45, of the Marconi Radio Telegraph Co. of Egypt, pleaded not guilty.

Twenty persons are on trial, including four other Britons who left the country before the arrests were made, a Yugoslav and 11 Egyptians. The trial was adjourned until Sunday after the pleas were received.

PALEFACES INVITED

Redskins to Rock To Age-Old Beat

The age-old beat of tribal drums and the modern beat of redskin rock 'n' roll will summon the paleface to Maple Bank Park next week.

Vancouver Island Indian Festival aims to beat out a host of other Victoria Day weekend attractions for a top crowd-pleasing event.

Before the sun is high, about 11 a.m. white man's time, on Sunday, May 19, men and women from many lodges near the great western sea will gather on Songhees Reserve.

They will bring their war canoes, their authentic costumes, their finest athletes, famed choirs, and renowned dancers and a red-hot modern instrumental band which plays Presley-type rhythm in beads and buckskin.

BEAUTIES

They will bring their dark-eyed beauties and will choose the most beauteous among them and name her queen.

They will engage in all manner of contests to find the strongest of the braves, the fleetest of foot, and he who has most endurance in a one-mile foot race. They invite entries from their white brothers.

There will be a time of worship first at 11 a.m. when Rev. J. L. Bradley will sing mass in nature's church where the sky is the roof. And a choir directed by Able Joe, former star of Tzinquaw, will direct it.

Tribal dances at 2 p.m. will feature men and women of the Makah Tribe from Neah Bay, Washington, and a mask dance never before seen by the Canadian public.

Chief Dan George of Maplewood, B.C. (he of the modern band with the sizzling saxophones), will present another group of dancers. There will be a group of dancers too from Yakima.

GOVERNORS' CUPS

Eighteen entries are expected in the international war canoe races. The 11-men crews will compete for cups presented by former lieutenant - governor, Clarence Wallace, and Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross, who speaks for the great white mother.

The women too will race the long canoes before returning to their cooking fires where 300 dozen fresh crab wait to be served, a ton of clams and several tons of salmon await the smoke.

(For the paleface there will be hotdogs too.)

The rubber-shod metal steeds of the visitors will have ample grazing room. President of the festival association, Percy B. Ross, says:

"Yea, 5,000 cars can cluster like locusts in the green fields."

Wampum for admittance to the full program of events is 50 cents, with all papooses under eight free to wander at will.

PUBLIC DEBATE ON PIPELINE

Regnier's Challenge Accepted by Garson

WINNIPEG (CP)—Justice Minister Garson Friday conditionally accepted a challenge to a public debate on the Trans-Canada Pipeline controversy issued by a Liberal who quit the party in protest against government handling of the question in last year's parliamentary debate.

The challenge was issued by Laurier Regnier, former vice-president of the Manitoba Liberal Progressive Association, who has accepted the Progressive Conservative nomination for St. Boniface.

"I will be waiting on the platform of the St. Boniface College auditorium at 8 p.m., Friday, May 17," Mr. Regnier said.

Mr. Garson issued a statement in which he accepted the challenge but reserved the right to change the time and place of the debate and wording of the resolution. He said Mr. Regnier was apparently unaware that such courtesies were usually extended to a person challenged to a public political debate.

He said he already is committed to appear at a joint meeting elsewhere on the night suggested and added that he will issue another statement later on the challenge.

Mr. Regnier offered this resolution as subject for the debate: "Resolved, that the present administration betrayed the principles of parliamentary government in its closure procedure on the pipeline debate in the House of Commons last year."

Dead Rot in Liberal Regime Says Pearkes; Change Due

Dead rot is beginning to creep into the Liberal government after 23 years in office and it's time for a change to the Conservatives, Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, said Friday night.

The Conservative party provides the only alternative to the "approaching dictatorship" of Liberal rule, said Gen. Pearkes, PC candidate in Esquimalt-Saanich.

HELP LIBERALS

"It would also be for the good of the Liberal party," he said, "that the Liberal party return to its own principles."

Gen. Pearkes was speaking at a public meeting in Marigold Hall.

He said Parliament has been "brushed aside" by the present administration, which is governing the country by cabinet order-in-council.

BUSINESS HURT

Gen. Pearkes said the government is piling up a $500,000,000 surplus this year, while at the same time refusing to cut taxes and applying credit restrictions which are hard on small businessmen.

National Leader John Diefenbaker had pledged the Conservatives to appoint a commission to study the plight of these small businessmen.

A Conservative government would also link pensions to the cost-of-living index to assure the aged, veterans and other recipients of a "reasonable and decent standard of living."

Bargain Prices On Eggs Due To Overstock

Smaller Victoria stores, overstocked with eggs because of a record spring production, are selling two dozen at a bargain price of 85 to 89 cents.

Average price remains at 51 cents per dozen, grade A large.

A government official said Friday 12,000 cases or 360,000 dozen eggs produced in B.C. are moving through registered grading stations.

Provincial government soon will open a $75,000 campaign to sell more B.C. eggs.

AS SNOW MELTS TCA CO-ORDINATES NEW CAMPAIGN

Search for Missing Airliner With 62 Aboard Resumes June 1

By ERWIN FRICKE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—The mystery of Canada's worst aviation disaster, shrouded for five months in the mighty snows of the Cascade Mountains, may be near solution. The snow shroud is melting.

The disaster occurred Dec. 9 when a Trans-Canada Air Lines North Star disappeared at night over the mountains 100 miles east of here with 59 passengers and three crew members aboard.

Not a trace of the 62 persons or the airliner has been found.

BURIED DEEP

For nine days after the North Star disappeared, low clouds and extreme air turbulence thwarted the search. On the 10th day, 50 planes criss-crossed a 1,200-mile area but the silent snow already had been at work.

During the nine days of bad flying weather, 16 to 38 feet of snow—dependong on the altitude—fell in that jungle of rocky spires that makes up the southern British Columbia Cascade range.

But the mountain snowline now is creeping up and TCA held an organizational meeting Friday to lay search renewal plans.

Represented at the meeting were the RCAF, the RCMP, the federal transport department, Okanagan Helicopters Ltd., Aero Surveys Ltd., and the B.C. Mountain Rescue Organization.

PHOTOGRAPH SEARCH ZONE

Later, Norm Donnelly, TCA operations chief here, announced Aero Surveys will photograph a 2,200-square-mile area considered the heart of the search zone. This project will begin near the end of June or start of July.

Last January Aero Surveys covered 1,100 square miles of the same area but, Donnelly said, because a vast amount of snow had fallen, it "was like grasping at straws."

An RCAF search "with at least 12 planes" will concentrate on a 5,000 - square - mile area centred about 9,700-foot Silvertip Mountain, 100 miles east of Vancouver and 200 miles southeast of Hope, B.C.

Donnelly said the plane search will start when snow conditions resemble or are more favorable than those at the time of the plane's disappearance. This is unlikely to be earlier than mid-June.

The mountaineers will be the first to get started. On June 1 they will search 7,000-foot Mount Klesilkwa and Custer Ridge, both just a few miles east of Silvertip.

FOUND FOUR OTHERS

Sqdn. Ldr. George Sheahan, who commands the RCAF's search and rescue squadron here said since the TCA disaster four other planes crashed in the same general area but in each case they were found.

Aircraft searching for those planes were asked also to be on the lookout for the TCA airliner, but no one ever reported the vaguest trace of it.

Earlier, RCAF-directed planes covered 12,000 square miles hunting for the North Star. Ground parties hiked nearly 200 miles of rugged trail and a special Alpine group scaled seven peaks towering to 8,000 feet in attempts to probe fog and snow - shrouded heights.

Many of the individual reports of persons who claimed to have heard or seen the plane were investigated.

Sqdn. Ldr. Sheahan said more than 3,000 reports were received including nearly 500 from persons who merely reported their dreams about the crash.

What is known of the swift tragedy that took the lives of 13 women, two children and 44 men the night of Dec. 9 comes from log books of TCA operations and in an RCAF radar station.

The aircraft was on eastbound flight 810 with its first stop at Calgary. The four-motored plane took off at Vancouver airport at 6 p.m., two hours late because of delays due to bad weather on its westbound flight.

Fifty-seven minutes later, Capt. Allan Clarke, 35-year-old veteran pilot, radioed that a warning device on the instrument panel signalled No. 2 engine was on fire. He shut off the engine and reported he was returning to Vancouver. His position was a few minutes out of Princeton, 130 air miles east of Vancouver; his altitude, 19,500 feet.

A few minutes later, the pilot reported his aircraft riding smoothly. There was no further word of fire. At 7:10 he gave his position "by Hope" and requested clearance to descend to 8,000 feet. Highest mountain peak on the airways track between Hope and Vancouver is 4,500 feet high.

That was the last radio contact with the airliner.

Transport department officials say a navigation error appears to have caused the North Star to crash into a mountain peak.

SINCLAIR PREDICTION

Socred Fate Hinges On Columbia Offer

ABBOTSFORD, B.C. (CP)—Federal Fisheries Minister Sinclair says Premier Bennett's Social Credit government would face defeat if it rejected the federal offer of assistance to develop the Columbia River hydro potential.

"All Premier Bennett has to do is wire Prime Minister St. Laurent and say: 'I'm in favor of private power', and the people of British Columbia would then give their judgment," Mr. Sinclair told a Liberal party rally here Friday night.

PRIVATE GRUDGE

The federal offer of financial assistance in developing the Columbia is based on the work being done by a public power agency.

"The whole thing about it is that Premier Bennett would rather have his private grudge against the federal government than have public development of the Columbia."

Mr. Sinclair denied Premier Bennett's statement that the fisheries minister's speeches about Columbia development have "sabotaged" talks scheduled to start May 19 between Canada and the United States on downstream benefits from the river.

Mr. Sinclair defended his record in conducting international negotiations, recounting his actions at the United Nations, in the collection of European war debts and the drawing up of fisheries treaties with the U.S.

Power Grab on Columbia Aim of Ottawa, Says Tory

REVELSTOKE (CP) — Leon J. Ladner, co-chairman of the Progressive Conservative campaign committee in the June 10 federal election, accused the Liberal government of trying to trap British Columbia into giving up its rights to power resources.

The Liberals aim at getting complete control of the huge potential of the Columbia River, Mr. Ladner said.

He lashed out at a recent Liberal offer to help develop the Columbia, not by subsidies, grants or guaranteed bonds, but as an owner of shares in a Crown company.

Mr. Ladner referred to a speech by Prime Minister St. Laurent in Vancouver last Wednesday offering to develop the Columbia by formation of a federal-provincial Crown company. Mr. St. Laurent had said the province could buy out the federal government's share in the company eventually.

FEDERAL CONTROL

Mr. Ladner said such a company would eventually come under control of the federal government. A licence from the federal government is required to build reservoirs or dams on any river, the Conservative speaker said, and the federal government could regulate construction and operation of international river improvement.

"In plain language, the Liberal party insists that the federal government would become a part owner of our great hydro power development."

IT'S ALL IMAGINARY

Nuclear Bombs Stagger Nation

(See Also Page 17)

By BILL BOSS, Canadian Press Staff Writer

ARNPRIOR, Ont. (CP)—Canada today is being imagined by more than 3,000 civil defence workers strung out from coast to coast as reeling under the impact of two massive nuclear-bombing attacks.

Make-believe casualties in Exercise Co-operation I, the country's first entirely Canadian CD workout, already are believed to number almost 1,000,000 killed, dying and injured.

A total of 23 communities, ranging from St. John's, Nfld., to Victoria and north to Goose Bay, Labrador, and Dawson Creek in the Peace River district have suffered theoretical damage extending to obliteration.

MOST CENTRES EVACUATED

The seemingly-heavy casualties are considered by federal CD co-ordinator F. F. Worthington and deputy co-ordinator George Hatton to be actually light.

But for prior evacuation of most centres, they said, the toll would have been considerably higher.

All provinces, except Prince Edward Island, are represented in the test, although participation in Manitoba and Quebec is largely military.

Reports reaching exercise headquarters at the Canadian Civil Defence College in this community 40 miles west of Ottawa indicated that various levels of CD organization were keeping the control staff well posted on "developments."

And from the scarcity of their requests for aid, either from the federal setup or armed services, it appeared the provinces were meeting the situation from their own resources.

TWO ATTACKS

The first imaginary attack, which demolished 13 centres from Goose Bay westward to Vancouver, materialized between 1.15 a.m. EDT and 2.20 a.m. Toronto. Montreal and Ottawa were the first to disintegrate under the five-megaton-strength nuclear bomb detonated 2,000 feet above them.

Megaton is the equivalent of 1,000,000 tons of high explosives.

The second make-believe attack fell on 11 centres between 6 a.m. and 7 a.m., three and one-half hours after the second general alert from the DEW (Distant Early Warning) radar line.

Jammed rail facilities in Edmonton prevented one-third of the city's hospital stretcher cases from being evacuated before the attack.

Struck in the first attack, in order, were: Montreal and Toronto, Ottawa, Amherst, N.S., Edmonton, Bird's Hill, near Winnipeg, Boucher, N.B., Quetico and Cochrane Ont., Woodstock, Ont., Goose Bay and Vancouver.

RAGING INFERNOS

Obliterated in the second onslaught in order, were: Quebec City, St. John's, Nfld., Banff, a point 28 miles west of Dawson Creek, Victoria, Prince Rupert, Halifax, St. Alban's, Nfld., Saint John, N.B., and a point two miles west of Goderich, Ont.

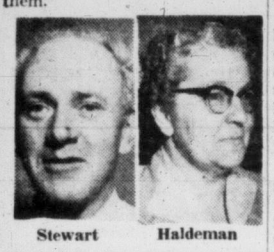
In B.C.'s Fraser Valley 85,000 evacuees were trapped in radioactive fallout; highway and railway bridges at Castlegar were reported sabotaged.

WHAT'S YOUR OPINION?

By DINAH KERR and IRVING STRICKLAND

Question: "Are you in favor of Sidney Village Commission's recommendations that school days be extended, holidays cut down and industrial arts and home economics abolished?"

Douglas Stewart, tailor, 1012 Cook, "No, I'm not. Why cut down on instruction in skilled trades when we so desperately need skilled workers? I like to see the kids learn some kind of skill with their hands. It gives them a hobby, if nothing else. And I'm not in favor of less holidays. The kids need them."



Stewart Haldeman

Mrs. E. M. Haldeman, 139 Goward Road: "I would agree with the commission. Both my children go to private schools because we believe there's too much time wasted in the public school. Industrial arts and home economics are all right to an extent, but they're not very practical."

Sherriff Wright

W. F. Sherriff, shoe repairman, 1591 Begbie: "The commission obviously thinks education is costing far too much today and I agree. For instance, industrial arts, home economics, art and drama are wasted on most of the students. That kind of thing should be left for vocational training schools, completely separate from the high schools."

Miss Mollie Wright, 1925 Ash: "I think those are good ideas. The students should get back to basic subjects. A little attention to the other subjects is all right but too much time is being spent on them now."

Singleton Brown

Ralph Singleton, gas sales representative, 1224 Richardson: "I think drama, art, home economics and industrial arts are essential to the school curriculum and the kids are entitled to all the holidays. Too much studying makes them rather dull."

Mrs. F. M. Brown, 115 Government: "I agree. Personally, I think the children have too much time on their hands. They'd be better occupied with their studies. As for industrial arts and home economics, they belong in trade schools."

In the Ivory Tower

IN TORONTO A FEW DAYS AGO Mr. Diefenbaker said this: "The view of the ivory tower boys seems to be that if you spend your own money it makes inflation but if the government takes it from you, and spends it, no harm is done."

The "ivory tower boys," of course, are the St. Laurent Government and its expert advisers. But their economics are not quite so mad as Mr. Diefenbaker seems to think. Nor are his economics as simple as he pretends.

Certainly inflation is stimulated as much by the expenditures of government as by the expenditures of the individual. And the governments of Canada, federal, provincial and municipal, are certainly spending a lot of money or, in other words, demanding a lot of goods.

The Federal Government, however, is not spending as much money as it collects and to that extent is counteracting the pressure of inflation. If Mr. Diefenbaker promised to spend less after taking office he could promise to reduce the pressure of inflation. But he does not promise to spend less. He promises to spend a great deal more.

With unconscious irony, Mr. Diefenbaker goes on, in the same Toronto speech, to propose gigantic extra expenditures while reducing taxes.

He would raise old-age pensions by an unspecified amount since the Government, he says, has been "niggardly" with its social services. He would increase benefits under the unemployment insurance scheme. He would guarantee higher prices to farmers and pay the cost out of the national treasury under the "parity" principle which already has cost the American taxpayers billions of dollars. At still larger cost to the national treasury he would make sure that the provinces got far more money—and spent it.

Mr. Diefenbaker's policy adds up to a huge increase in governmental spending at all levels, federal, provincial and municipal. It adds up, in fact, to a highly inflationary policy, starting with a rise in the cost of food. And since the Government's revenue surplus would be wiped out by all this extra federal spending, the policy must add up in the end to an increase in taxes—unless Mr. Diefenbaker proposes to plunge the national budget into deficit, which would be perhaps the most inflationary act any government could perform under present conditions.

Well, Mr. Diefenbaker is not living in an ivory tower. He is living in a national election campaign where arithmetic has been temporarily repealed in favor of slogans and promises.

Levy After the Need Is Gone?

AS DEFENCE MINISTER CAMPney pointed out in an address here on Thursday, the Federal Government program for national hospital insurance will relieve the B.C. Government of some costs. At present this province pays out about $32 millions a year of the taxpayers' money for hospitalization. Under the Ottawa plan, to be implemented in the near future, about half of this expense will be borne by the Federal Government—also out of the taxpayers' money.

The B.C. Government will thus be left with some $16 millions a year freed from the hospitalization account. The question arises, what will Premier Bennett do with this money?

If he scoops it into general revenue it will mean that the tax bill of British Columbians will be that much larger. They will be paying—half to the Federal Government and half to the Provincial Government—the full cost of hospital insurance, plus the extra $16 millions the province has saved.

This amount represents one per cent or more out of the five per cent sales tax now levied in B.C. Obviously here will be an opportunity for Mr. Bennett to reduce the sales tax by at least one-fifth and thereby ease the burden now carried by all purchasers of goods, pensioners among them.

As in the case of so many matters of public concern Mr. Bennett prefers to remain silent on this point. Surely this is a chance to put into action a move which has been loudly promised from many a Social Credit platform—a simple reduction in taxes. What does Mr. Bennett propose to do?

Two Hours to Save Life

LAST YEAR 1,032 PERSONS lost their lives in drowning accidents in Canada, 108 of them in British Columbia. A number of those lives could have been saved had people on the spot known how to administer artificial respiration.

That is the brief message the St. John Ambulance Association brings to Victorians with a special offer. The association, during its "Save a Life Week" starting Monday, will send instructors to any group or organization that asks for one to give a two hour course in resuscitation.

That is a bargain no one can afford to ignore—two hours spent on learning how to keep another person alive.

The summer is here. More and more people will be enjoying themselves on or near the water. Some of those people, young or old, will inevitably get into difficulties. They could be persons near and dear to you.

Can you spare a couple of hours, in case?

Tuppence to Lend, Tuppence to Spend

FORTY YEARS AGO MR. JOseph R. Tucker, of Wadena, Saskatchewan, decided to try to live without money.

The idea is not new. Henry Thoreau had something the same in mind. Hundreds of other people have cherished a similar dream.

Mr. Tucker differs from most of them. Mr. Tucker evidently wanted also to keep his self-respect and he was prepared to work so that he could exist without currency.

To date, Mr. Tucker has not quite succeeded. He still needs $25 a year. That's less than bubble-gum money for the economist's classical family of four.

Mr. Tucker runs his own small homestead, cultivates a large quantity of vegetables, makes sugar from sugar beets, tans hides for clothing and makes ersatz coffee. He does, however, spend money for magazines—and logically.

How Mr. Tucker's ersatz coffee tastes is a question—just as the taste of coffee remains something of a mystery to the person who drinks the restaurant beverage. From his garden, however, he should have a very fair selection of food. And if he remains hungry, there are the magazines. As the old saying goes "Reading maketh a full man." That $25 isn't exactly an extravagance after all.

As Our Readers See It

Reward of Faith

Referring to Mr. O'Reilly's letter of April 24 and Mr. Keveren's of April 27, I can't help thinking about the atheist who challenged any opponent in his congregation to a discussion after his speech. A middle-aged woman accepted. She said: "My husband died many years ago, leaving me alone with several small children. Faith in God has enabled me to bring them all up and see them ahead in life. What has your belief done for you?" The atheist tried to avoid the persistent woman's question while the congregation gave her its wholehearted applause.

'Disgusting'

Your editorial on Senator Joseph McCarthy in Saturday's Times was disgusting.

Whether we agree that the Senator was right or wrong in doing the job he was appointed to do, the fact remains that he is dead, and your ghoulish satisfaction in kicking him about is not worthy of a decent Canadian paper.

Let us leave that to the yellow journalism of the U.S. Senate sub-committees.

You have reduced the Victoria Daily Times to the level of a small-town rag.

"CANADIAN."

Diminishing Returns

According to Communist Party Secretary Nikita Khrushchev the new economic decentralization plan for Russia establishes 92 national economic councils for planning and co-ordinating production and calls for an "intensified war against bureaucracy."

An editorial in the Times on May 7 entitled "Someone Must Pay", called attention to "a key fact of the North American economy" as stated by Prof. Joseph Garbarino, an economist of California University, "is that wages as a whole have been increasing much faster than productivity" which results inevitably in "a rising cost of living."

It may be noted that in Russia the new economic plan was introduced by the government confiscating the enforced 30-year savings of the people in order to rid the Marxian system of inflation; while Professor Garbarino merely emphasized the vital danger to democracy of the inflationary temperature induced by a demand for more and more money with less and less productivity.

Both Messrs. Garbarino and Khrushchev direct attention to the limitations of the fields they cultivate. The law of diminishing returns operates in both the political and economic fields whether they are capitalist, socialist, collectivist or communst. Decentralization automatically starts the machinery of exchange without which production is merely the calculation of a bureaucratic computator in search of a mathematical formula to solve a political dilemma.

Exchanging goods and services is a bargain in values or prices which are regulated by competitive substitutes in world markets. These exchanges or trades have to produce the national income which, theoretically, can be divided by taxation into segments matching the contribution of each producing group to the national income. But prior to this bureaucratic enterprise the goods and services must be exchanged to produce the cash or credit which constitutes the national income. That is where the law of diminishing returns operates in both the political and financial markets. The market, not Marx, is the thermostat of production.

L. WATERLOW.

After the Darkest Night

We read a great deal in the press lately regarding what is known as the Norman case and observe that those who condemn the criticism given Mr. Norman are now quite pronounced critics of those who are left to go through the sorrow and confusion which now exists.

Ambassador Norman could have had a holiday among cheerful friends fitting his back strongly for his burden, remembering "the darkest night will have a morning and the tide will turn at last."

Better to wait till the One who gave him life would see fit to take it from him. In the long run in this life, in one way or another, no one suffers more than another, for who can measure the depth of human suffering?

"And I think how many thousands of care-encumbered men
Each bearing his burden of sorrow has crossed the bridge since then.
I see the long procession still passing to and fro,
The young heart hot and restless, and the old subdued and slow."

Speak gently of the dead unable to defend themselves. Yes, and speak gently and generously of the living.

"Who through long days of labor and nights devoid of ease Still hear in their souls the music of wonderful melodies."

In this restless, critical, prosperous and modern time let us pause awhile in charity to others, living our lives facing the sun, the shadows falling behind, till the Master of all good workmen shall see what is best to do.

LOOSE ENDS — By BRUCE HUTCHISON

The Strange Accident of Mike Pearson

IT is always difficult to identify a figure of history while he is alive and familiar as a private person. It is particularly difficult to see Mr. Lester Pearson in that light when history, in his case, is disguised by a boyish grin and everybody calls him "Mike". Nevertheless, we shall see here next Tuesday Canada's first major international statesman and probably the most successful diplomat of these times.

Hutchison

In Canada we cannot quite believe in Mr. Pearson's status throughout the world because we cannot quite believe in the nation's status. To be sure, we are not a great power—no one is more aware of that fact than our foreign minister—but we occupy a unique position as the link between two great powers, Britain and the United States and we have, whether we want it or not, more power than any people of our numbers in history.

MR. PEARSON'S real achievement is in recognizing that power without exaggerating it and using it skilfully where it will do the most good.

This fact is better understood in foreign countries than in Canada for at home, of course, a politician is bound to be the centre of partisan controversy, especially at election time. Besides, that old national inferiority complex which always makes Canada disparage its own achievements and its own leaders, dies hard.

In foreign countries, however, Mr. Pearson is appreciated. He is appreciated in London as the honest broker of the trans-Atlantic alliance and the ablest trouble shooter of the Commonwealth. He is appreciated in Washington as a North American who understands Britain far better than the American Government and refuses to be pushed around by the guerrilla fighters of the Senate. He is appreciated even in the Kremlin where he could not be softened up by Mr. Bulganin's charm or Mr. Khrushchev's bluster.

WHAT we Canadians least appreciate in Mr. Pearson is that behind the relaxed manner lives a very tough guy. But it seems to me, after watching him closely for twenty years, that his success has not been achieved by any definable quality.

Certainly it has not been deliberate or planned, for he had no intention of entering politics until Mr. St. Laurent persuaded him, after Mr. King had repeatedly failed to persuade him.

In one sense his career has been quite accidental; in another sense, inevitable. Accident brought him into politics but his own talents were bound to distinguish him, and had distinguished him, long before he entered the government.

THE secret of his career, I suspect, does not lie mainly in his talent but in the simple fact that he looks, thinks, acts and lives like the average Canadian because he is incapable of doing otherwise. He is the most accurate reflection of the Canadian temperament, with all its virtues and defects, we have found in the politics of our time.

One side of this many-sided person is well known to the public and celebrated in many legends.

The diplomat of the United Nations, who is called in at every moment of trouble; the debater of Parliament who scorns ghosts and actually writes his own speeches; the tireless world traveler whose schedules would have killed most men long ago; the former athlete relaxing at the ball game with a bag of peanuts; the ambassador to the United States who could have been discovered, at the United Nations' first conference in San Francisco, dining in a noisome hot dog stand, on a plate of beans, with a couple of newspaper reporters, to escape an official banquet; the youthful face in the news photos—these images are familiar to everybody.

BUT it is quite wrong to picture Mike Pearson as a beamish boy of fortune, a kind of international butterfly floating comfortably from one triumph to another. In fact, he is the hardest-working public man in the country.

That work is seldom seen because it is homework. He never seems to be hurried in his office, he will gossip with the visitor for an hour as if he had nothing on his mind, because most of his evenings and every weekend are spent at home with no company but a mass of documents littered all over the floor and a sheaf of telegrams for bedtime reading.

LIKE an iceberg, most of his substance is below the surface. Like any public man of the first rank he keeps his own life private, shields his privacy with a grin and hides his anxieties in moments of crisis under a barrage of banter, thus seeming to thrive on trouble while others wilt. The boyish surface covers a core of peculiarly hard steel.

It has long been obvious that Mr. Pearson knows more about the outside world than any Canadian statesman before him—far more, for example, than Lord Bennett who first appointed him to the civil service, or Mr. King who first suspected his abilities when he was an obscure official. The real question in his career, once it was transferred to politics, was whether Mr. Pearson could also master the nation's internal affairs. This question, I think, has been answered.

HE has never lifted a finger to make himself prime minister. He has had little to do with the machinery of the Liberal Party. The professionals often complain, indeed, that he is ignorant of party politics and the organization of the back concessions.

Yet almost unconsciously from day to day he has learned politics in the best and hardest school. For the art of distinguishing and reconciling the clash of forces in the world is precisely the art of managing government in this diverse and clashing nation. Thus, though politics is always a chancy process, we shall probably meet in Victoria next Tuesday the next prime minister of Canada or, at any rate, the most accurate contemporary image and common denominator of the Canadian folk.

WHEN WE WERE VERY YOUNG — By GUS SIVERTZ

Maytime Games Kept All of Us on the Run

THERE was always so much to do in May that we never seemed to know what to do first. All nature seemed to be calling imperiously to us as well to all other growing things. Grass was growing like mad on the street verges and in every empty field; buds were bursting into bloom; golden broom was spreading its glory at Beacon Hill Park and around the Oak Bay golf links. Birds were singing their little hearts out and stiff-legged lambs were bounding on the new green turf.

Sivertz

And in us the blood tingled and muscles ached to be strained to their uttermost limits. One just had to be racing at full speed—"rassling" with other boys in the lush grass; kicking the heads off dandelions and swarming up trees to hang head-down from the branches.

It was a simply crazy time of the year and it was also a recurring miracle that seemed, for some strange reason, not to have affected our elders.

No song writer had yet produced the lyrics of "spring is bustin' out all over" but that was what caused it all.

Summer Twilight

It was also the time for games as the long evenings stretched into purple twilight when the electric arc began to sputter and sizzle on the corner lamp posts.

Even little girls were infected by the virus of fecundity and seemed to have almost as much fun as we boys. Of course their own games were peculiarly for girls, like jacks. They would sit on the edge of a board sidewalk and bounce the little six-legged metal jacks on their hands in a game that required them to work through "oneses-twoses and threeses."

Their other great sport was "hopscotch." This they played on a level spot on which they drew a sort of geometrical pattern with squares of various sizes through which they must hop according to some manner known only to themselves and closed to mere boys.

Apart from these there were games that could be played by both boys and girls like "run-sheep-run," "prisoner's base" and, of course, "hide-and-seek." In fact some of the girls were very good at these games and it was a good thing to have a couple of fleet-footed, pig-tailed girls on your side.

We were supposed to count up to one hundred by fives but I am very much afraid that this rule was breached more often than observed and only too often one would be spotted by a racing young moppet long before a proper hiding place could be found.

Then would ensue one of those absolutely endless arguments at which neither one could win: "I saw you" . . . "You never did" . . . "I did so" . . . "you did not" . . . and so ad infinitum.

But they were all fun until we could hear Mr. Behnsen's shrill whistle calling his boys home and it was time to end the games and go strolling home in the scented dusk, red-faced and hot but happy and tired.

Best of All

These were the shared games but there was one that we never let any girl, even the most clever and fleet-footed join in. That was "paper-chase," which was without any doubt the best of all outdoor games.

I suppose it derived from riding to hounds in the Old Country. It was played by quite a large number of participants and roughly went like this: two boys equipped with bags filled with torn up bits of paper would set out on the most devious ways they could find over rocks and streams, hills and valleys, leaving a trail of torn paper bits behind them.

After an agreed interval the chasers would set out like hounds on a scent to follow the trail and capture the two who had spread the lure. It wasn't always as easy as might be expected to follow the trail of scattered pieces of torn newspaper. Often the wind would blow the tiny bits away and we would go racing off on wrong scents and at other times a short false trail was deliberately laid to divert the chasers from the true path.

But it was the best of all such games because it burned up the energy that became bottled up inside every day in school, took us racing through nature's wonderland and sent us home weary and happy and eased of the burden that spring imposed on all young things.

MARRIAGE GAMBOL

Some of our party games have associations with weddings. Take Blind Man's Buff. Of course variants of this have been found in most countries, but in St. Kilda, in the Outer Hebrides, it used to be played in church—in the dark! The parson would line up the guests on either side of the church, blindfold the bride and groom lest any glimmer of light be taken advantage of, and the couple were given three tries at finding each other within a specified time. If they failed . . . the marriage was off! In Campbelltown, I'm afraid things were even worse! Once a year all the discontented couples were blindfolded and then mixed-up, and then, after a brief but rowdy minute, the woman you had managed to catch was yours!

An Englishman's View of Canada

BRIGADIER C. ARNOLD-EDWARDS, OBE, retiring from the ordnance branch of the British Army, plans to leave his home in Surrey to settle this summer in Vancouver.

He has picked British Columbia following an extended vacation trip to Canada last year. He likes the country.

Why he likes it is described in a recent address to the British Institute of Management and the Institute of Industrial Administration in London.

The prospective new settler's viewpoint provides an interesting contrast to the opinion of some Canadian residents.

"Within a few hours of arrival in the Canadian capital," Brigadier Arnold-Edwards told the meeting of between 200 and 300 high-ranking businessmen, "I had interviews with the Minister of Defence, Mr. Campney, and with the Minister of Commerce and Defence Production, Mr. C. D. Howe. As you know, the latter has done more than anyone to shape the development and prosperity of Canada during the past two decades.

"These ministers, although busy with major political developments, were so approachable and friendly to an unknown, unsponsored visitor.

"This naturalness and 'open house' attitude was a great and most pleasant experience to me after 30 years of government service. Like all leading industrialists and men in commerce, both ministers were immensely enthusiastic about what was being achieved.

"Throughout my visits I found this infectious enthusiasm even in the lower managerial grades for the job of the moment.

"Abounding enthusiasm backed by confidence—that was my first and most lasting impression."

Brigadier Arnold-Edwards found many things in Canada to his liking. If he found anything he did not like, he failed to mention it in his speech.

He summed up his reaction to the country and its people, their aspirations and attitudes in five briefly phrased impressions.

"Enthusiasm and confidence in Canada's destiny.

"A sense of urgency and the taking of administrative risks.

"The use of machines and the concentration of effort.

"The husbanding of resources to ensure a developing future.

"A determination to remain independent in shaping that future."

An Everest for Scott

The serene brow of Justice as she sits in calm seclusion in our Court of Appeal was ruffled by a raised eyebrow last Monday. On that day the atmosphere of dignity and repose which so properly exists in our highest court was sadly marred by the intrusion of unwonted emotion; those who have read their newspapers will remember that the shenanigans centred around Mr. Colin Chalmers.

—8th Century Terracotta
SILENUS

Mr. Chalmers, it will be recalled, was the cause of some local excitement when he, by stratagem and force of arms, robbed one of our local banks; robbing banks is one of those youthful pranks upon which the law looks with disfavor, and Mr. Chalmers was in due course brought before the assize jury, convicted of the crime as charged, and sentenced to 20 years in a place where the opportunity to exercise his talents would be denied to him.

For this restriction of his liberty, which he evidently felt to be excessive, he appealed (as was his right) to the Court of Appeal.

Well enough. There are many appeals against sentence brought before the court; this column feels there would be less if more of the appealing section of the populace were aware that the court has just as much power to increase as it has to diminish; but hope, evidently, springs eternal, and so it did in the breast of Colin Chalmers.

ELEMENT OF DANGER

Every person has a right to get his debt to society reduced as much as he can, even though his path is set with danger in the attempt.

So the case was called. Normally no witnesses are heard on appeals, the court taking the view that if it is possible to produce them at the trial, that is the place where they should be heard. Now and again the court will hear a witness itself, if it is shown that his testimony is important and was hitherto unavailable. Very rarely will it extend its discretion beyond that limit, though the power to do so is always there.

This was one of those rare cases. The court let Chalmers call witnesses to his character, even though no attempt had been made to do so before. The results, as everyone knows, were headlines.

It is not often that the glacial sobriety of the proceedings in the Court of Appeal make good copy. Occasionally some conscientious editor will allow an important (but let us confess, unsensational) constitutional matter, or some legal decision of far reaching effect a prominent place in his pages. But as a general rule such items are recorded in the unobtrusive interior of the paper where only the serious minded can find them. Which is a shame, but things being how they are . . . anyway, Monday was hot stuff.

IT WAS A FINE SHOW

What the court perhaps was not prepared for was the entry of Bill Scott upon the scene. Unlike their colleagues of the trial benches, the Justices of Appeal have had no particular occasion to learn the necessity of preparing for the fray when this formidable Quixote takes the field. With a long record of success in making scenes, from the Oak Bay Police Court to the Assizes, he must have been waiting for an opportunity to round off his forensic career in British Columbia, and he did. It was a fine show, and we can only hope that it did the appellant some good.

This column feels that it is only right that some warning be passed to the Supreme Court of Canada in Ottawa, which by now must be looming as a challenge to Bill. It has an uneasy feeling that he will not rest content until he has scaled this last judicial peak. Some day, perhaps, an opportunity (and the fare East) will arise, and then . . . ! As for Chalmers, he is once again sub judice.

LONDON LETTER

By WALLACE REYBURN

Bowled Out by a Knee

LONLON—Folks here are unhappy at the news that when this season ends Denis Compton will be finished with cricket. And it is not only those who closely follow the game who feel sad about it; everybody, including women who take no interest in sport, knows all about Denis and this colorful character dropping out of the limelight will make life that much less interesting in these parts.

Reyburn

Reason he has had to announce his retirement at 38, with what would normally have been several more years of cricket ahead of him, is because of the famous "Compton knee." Interesting thing about the knee with which everyone here is familiar, including my Torontonian wife, is that although all know about it, few know how it got started.

★ ★ ★

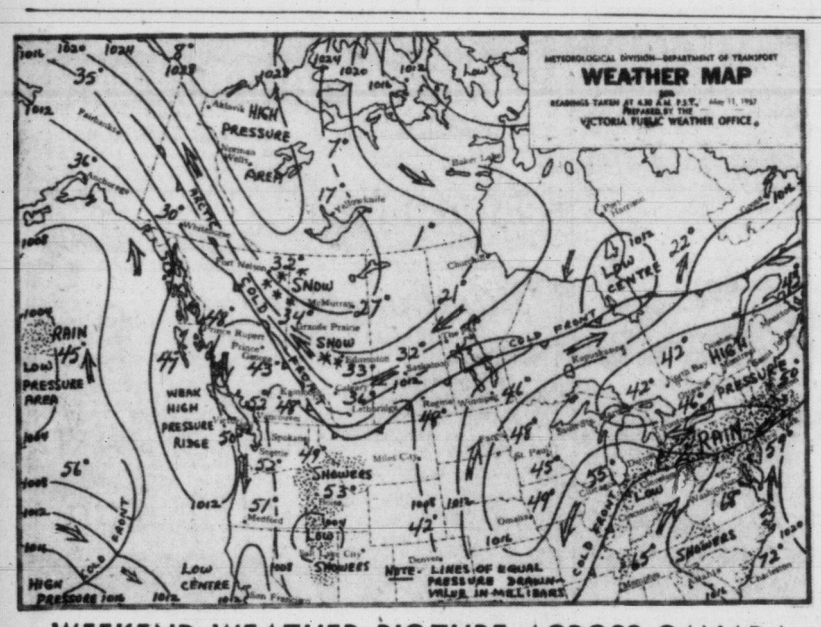
It was injured in a football game just on 20 years ago and after a cartilage was removed didn't give any serious trouble until 1947. In that year he was so busy breaking cricket records with sensational batting that he aggravated it and since then a series of operations winding up with the removal of the kneecap kept Compton and his knee regularly on the front pages.

One of the world's best batsmen and easily the game's greatest crowd-pleaser, the whole country would be on tenterhooks about whether or not his knee would allow him to play in any given match.

One reason for his popularity was that he was the poor kid from the slums who made good. When picked up by a scout playing cricket against a lamppost in the streets he was given coaching but was the despair of coaches to whom being orthodox was all-important. Compton was and still is completely unorthodox.

It was with him that a much-told cricket anecdote originated. A coach, trying desperately to make him bat in the conventional way, bowled a ball to him which Compton promptly smote right out of the ground. Pointing at the ungainly stance Compton had got himself into, the coach yelled at him: "Where's your left foot!" An oldtimer watching broke in: "Where's the ruddy ball!"

He invented strokes of his own which nobody had ever seen before and which other batsmen have tried to emulate but without success because they hadn't Compton's fantastic timing. Once he tripped and fell when running up the pitch to hit a ball and, to the exasperation of the bowler, neatly flicked the ball to the boundary for four runs while lying prone on the ground.



WEEKEND WEATHER PICTURE ACROSS CANADA

SYNOPSIS—There is no indication of any marked centre of activity to disturb the present pattern of fairly pleasant weather in most regions of B.C. Variable amounts of cloud now present in the coastal areas will thin out considerably during the day with afternoon temperatures in the mid-60's except along the outer coast where the mercury will hold in the upper 50's. Sunshine will be general over the southern interior with afternoon temperatures ranging from 75 to 85 degrees. A weak invasion of cool air from northern areas of the province will cause considerable cloudiness and somewhat lower temperatures in the central regions.

Taxes...Tight Money... Pipeline...You Name It

DIEFENBAKER: Pension Boost Niggardly

PARRY SOUND, Ont. (CP) — John Diefenbaker has injected into his election campaign the question of the age of Prime Minister St. Laurent.

The Progressive Conservative leader did it by indirect means in speeches here Friday night and earlier at Midland when he coupled the 75-year-old Liberal leader's name with the $6 increase in the old-age pension approved at parliament's last session.

"Mr. St. Laurent," he said, and paused, "he gets the pension." He says $6 is enough."

Mr. Diefenbaker, who is 61, added that Agriculture Minister Gardiner, 73, Trade Minister Howe, 71, and Revenue Minister McCann, 70, got the universal pension, too.

"NIGGARDLY" RAISE

And he criticized the fact that the pension increase to $46 from $40—a "niggardly and unjust" raise—will not go into effect until July 1. He said that when Conservatives demanded last session that the increase be immediate, Finance Minister Harris had indicated that would contribute to inflation.

"Can't you see the pensioners spending that $6," he said with sarcasm. "Can't you see the cost of living going up? They couldn't do much for the veterans either because it would add to the fires of inflation."

Mr. Diefenbaker set a rugged pace Friday in an auto tour north from Toronto to speak at Barrie in Simcoe North constituency, at Midland in Simcoe East and in this town in Parry Sound-Muskoka. Today he continues his speaking campaign along the north shore of Lake Huron to Sault Ste. Marie, through Algoma West and Algoma East — External Affairs Minister Pearson's riding.

FROST BACKING

At the first two meetings Friday he had the presence and endorsement of Ontario's Premier Frost.

"I have no hesitation in endorsing the cause of this great Canadian, John Diefenbaker," the premier said.

Mr. Diefenbaker called for a firm stand on export of raw materials to the United States. Last year $144,000,000 worth of iron ore had been shipped out. A Conservative government would do its best to assure that a larger share of irreplaceable raw materials was processed in Canada "for the benefit of Canadians and to ensure employment."

"Join together in co-operation with the United States—yes," he said, "but build Canada."

And Canada's sovereignty should be assured at mutual defence establishments like the U.S.-built DEW (Distant Early Warning) radar line in the Arctic.

PIPELINE THEME

In all three speeches Mr. Diefenbaker spent considerable time dealing with the position of Parliament and last year's bitter pipeline debate, especially in the Simcoe East riding of Liberal candidate W. A. Robinson, who as Deputy Speaker of the Commons figured prominently in the pipeline battle.

He said Mr. Robinson had "ably assisted" Speaker Rene Beaudoin during the debate, which he described as "the Pearl Harbor of Canadian democracy."

But his major criticism was of Mr. Howe and the rest of the Liberal cabinet.

The Speaker had been pulled from his throne "because these all-powerful men reached a point that all-powerful men always reach."

SOLON LOW: Recession Sure to Come

WINNIPEG (CP)—Social Credit Leader Solon Low Friday night attacked the federal government's "tight-money" policy as "an unnecessary and potentially dangerous experiment with credit curbs."

He predicted before about 175 persons at an election rally here that there would be a sharp increase in the cost of living in the next six months unless the June 10 federal election brings a change in government "with a consequent change in financial policy."

Later, discussing the slow-down in home building, Mr. Low said that under continued Liberal government, Canada could not avoid a recession.

AWAITS APOLOGY

The Social Credit leader also digressed from his regular theme of "tight money" to renew his demand, made at Brandon Thursday night, for an apology from Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Mr. St. Laurent had termed "a downright lie" news reports from Victoria quoting Mr. Low as saying the Liberal leader threatened Prime Minister Eden with Canada's removal from the Commonwealth if Britain did not remove its troops from the Middle East.

"I'm patiently waiting, because he does owe me an apology," said Mr. Low.

He said the Victoria report was inaccurate, and he personally was not making the charge, but quoting a CBC broadcast.

UNEVEN GROWTH

He said Mr. St. Laurent was getting "bad advice" from his political advisers on the matter.

But Mr. St. Laurent, in a statement Friday, referred to Mr. Low's later Brandon, Man., speech about Canada's role in the Suez and said the Social Credit leader was still not telling the truth about the part Canada played in Britain's troop withdrawal from Egypt.

On the "tight-money" question, Mr. Low said unless there was a change in government and federal policy, the cost-of-living index, already at a record high, would jump to 125 points within six months.

He said Canada's growth had become uneven, and the hope of a stable price level has been demolished in a series of upward thrusts in the consumer price index.

SMALL BUSINESSES HURT

The Social Credit leader advocated "selective controls" in place of blanket credit restrictions, lower interest rates, stepped-up immigration and an immediate reduction in income taxes.

COLDWELL: Big Business Must Behave

TIMMINS, Ont. (CP) — Private enterprise has a big role in Canada's future but must watch its step, says Socialist Leader M. J. Coldwell.

The CCF leader, after recounting some sins of corporations, told an election campaign audience Friday night that he does not oppose private enterprise as such, so long as it behaves itself.

However, he charged the Liberal government with fostering policies favoring corporations as against the people and allowing business to pile up excessive corporate profits.

In this gold mining centre of 27,000 Mr. Coldwell delivered the second of eight major platform addresses he will give in the campaign ending June 10.

AUDIENCE OF 200

About 200 people heard him in a partly-filled hall. From here, he goes to Toronto for a meeting Monday.

Mr. Coldwell taxed the government with promoting legislation in favor of the "big business," lagging behind in social security and mishandling policies for the disposal of Canada's huge grain surpluses.

His main private enterprise target was Trans-Canada Pipe Line Ltd., the $375,000,000 company building a natural gas line from Alberta to the East. He said United States-owned companies promoting the line already have made around $26,000,000 paper profits on stock before gas has begun to move.

The 2,200-mile line is to be completed next year. It has had federal loan assistance in the West, and the Dominion and Ontario governments are joining to build a northern Ontario section that passes near here.

RECALLS COMMONS FIGHT

Mr. Coldwell said there has been a "shameful subsidy of private interests" in connection with Trans-Canada and added that the rights of Parliament were trampled on in the Commons fight last year in which the government pushed through legislation to help the company financially.

"Was there ever a slicker deal?" he asked, referring to the transaction whereby the federal and Ontario governments jointly build the $118,000,000 northern Ontario section of the line and lease it to Trans-Canada with a purchase option for the company.

However, Mr. Coldwell said he is not opposed to private enterprise generally, provided it does not exploit the community and is fair to the workers.

On wheat surplus, Mr. Coldwell said Canada cannot sell enough because it is not buying enough abroad to give foreign countries dollar currencies with which to buy Canadian goods.

This country, instead of insisting on dollar payments, should take part payment in the currency of the country to which products are being sold. These funds could be invested overseas, with the good eventual returns financially.

EX-POLICE CHIEF DIES

CLOVERDALE — Former Surrey chief constable Alex Matheson, 87, died Friday at his home here. He was appointed constable in 1904 and held that position for 35 years. He was also named police magistrate in 1913.

Home movie-making appears to be an increasingly popular hobby for two very practical reasons: It is a relatively inexpensive hobby and this, plus the fact that today's movie cameras are easy to operate, has attracted a large following. Families with small children find that home movies are excellent for recording and preserving the drama of "growing up."

Housewives, who tend to shy away from things mechanical, are soon at complete ease with present-day movie cameras which are only slightly more complex than the familiar box camera. Another reason for the growing acceptance of the movie camera on the part of the housewife is the simple fact that she is around the home and the small fry when the lion's share of good "growing up" picture opportunities occur.

By the way, you have an opportunity to cash in on these picture-taking opportunities by renting projectors and screens at JUS-RITE PHOTOS LTD., 716 Yates St. This is a surprisingly economical means of having a home movie session. If you prefer to own your own equipment, however, JUS-RITE PHOTOS LTD. can offer you an attractive deal on the finest products in the field. Phone 4-1852.

A-One and-a-two Million Welk Is Unlikely TV Success Story

(This is the first in a three-part series recounting the career of TV's phenominally popular "Champagne Music" maestro, Lawrence Welk.)

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Let the kids have rock 'n' roll.

Mom and dad have their rock 'n' chair music.

It's the "Champagne Music" of Lawrence Welk, the coast-to-coast TV sensation who surprised the experts. Welk music is smooth and in perfect tempo—music for dancing on a romantic cloud or for just sittin' in the parlor.

"The mothers of America," Welk says proudly, "are my biggest fans."

They're just as "gone" as Elvis Presley addicts, too. Without the screams and hysterics.

TONS OF COOKIES

Six thousand fan letters, mostly from mothers, are stacked up every week in his Hollywood office. They also send him tons of cakes, cookies, home-made fudge and knitted socks.

"The Lawrence Welk Show" has become one of the nation's top 10 TV shows and has just been renewed for another 52 straight weeks. Welk's yearly gross income has climbed to an estimated $2,500,000.

He's Mr. Wonderful to an estimated audience of 37,000,000 Americans.

"I give them calm, soothing peace," grins shy, 54-year-old Lawrence Welk, father of three, devoted churchman and, for 13 years of his life, accordion soloist and leader of the six-piece "Biggest Little Band in America" on the Midwestern corn belt dance circuit.

The corn is still sprouting, lush and green, out of Welk's ears after 30 years as a professional musician.

He's been called Mr. Cornball.

They say he's the original Mr. Square.

Night club and TV comedians have forgotten Liberace jokes for Lawrence Welk jokes.

"But I don't worry about it," he told me.

TENDERLY

Like Liberace, he's laughing all the way to the bank.

"His music," they say on Tin Pan Alley, "goes back to the model T Ford." But it also goes back to the days when a boy tenderly held a girl in his arms when they danced—instead of tossing her toward the ceiling or sending her into an out-of-control spin.

That's the big secret of his success.

As one modern jazzman told me: "Bands started playing for their own amusement after Second World War. Welk plays for his audience. He killed us when he put the girl back in the boy's arms."

Lawrence Welk finds it difficult to describe his own music.

"It's hard to put into words," he told me. "It's simple music with a steady tempo. I follow the melody. I don't believe in taking liberties with a composer's music. The beat is heavier than other bands.

"I like violins. I use strings to lend a fine touch to the slower and sentimental ballads which people request of us and want us to play. I strive for a smooth and light sound, which we produce mostly with clarinets, violins, organ, a touch of accordion and saxes."

THE BEAT

I pressed him for some secret musical clue to explain why he's become a national TV phenomenon.

The Welk beat—what is it?

He pointed to his heart and said, "I guess it's here. It's the beat of my heart. When I'm happy—when I feel good—and that's almost always—the band plays better."

It all goes back to a farm near Strausburg, N.D.

Back to a shy, sickly boy. To a $19.90 mail-order accordion. To simple, hard-working people of the land who liked to dance in barns, in ballrooms and even in the streets.

In the ivory towers of New York's Madison Avenue Lawrence Welk is still regarded as a freak. A misfit. But a gold mine. His was a local Los Angeles show that hit the network as a 13-week summer replacement to the jeers of New York TV bosses, who groaned: "And it'll never last more than 13 weeks."

BREAKS ALL RULES

By TV's zippy rock and sock 'em, give-'em-the-old personality-stuff code book, Lawrence Welk breaks all the rules while making up new ones.

Off camera he has a smile broader than an Iowa barn and a delightful sense of humor. But when the camera's red light tells him he's on the air, he looks somewhat like a man suddenly surprised in a bank vault at 3 a.m.

He wears a faint smile. He looks at the floor. He folds his hands in front of him like a funeral parlor receptionist greeting a sorrowful relative. He clears his throat while speaking with the accent of his German parentage.

GASLIGHT DAYS

He leads the applause with polite timidity reserved for afternoon musicales in the gaslight days. And he cues his 23-piece orchestra and his singers with the old-fashioned words of yesteryear's long-haired music masters:

"And-a-one, and-a-two, and-a-three."

"He looks," many people say, "like he's scared to death."

He is—a little. On the outside. Inside he's the happiest man in the world.

The bashfulness, the modesty, the humility all go back to his boyhood and early adult years.

But what also comes across on the nation's home screens for an hour Saturday nights at 9 p.m. PST) and in his one-hour Monday "Top Tunes and New Faces" show at 9.30 p.m. is an honesty, a sincerity and an understandable rhythm that has captured and is delighting one of America's biggest TV audiences. And the audience is still growing.

Operatic Group Presents Life Memberships

At the annual general meeting of Victoria Gilbert and Sullivan Operatic Society, retiring president, Mrs. Margery Russell-Pavier, presented three life memberships to members Ivan Howell, Mildred Allen and Fred Cox.

All three have been consistent and enthusiastic workers for the organization since it was first started 11 years ago.

Elected president for 1957-58, was Ron Berod, with Frank Brawn as vice-president. Peggy Dyson was re-elected secretary; Gwynned Hughes is assistant secretary and Mary-Lou Park, treasurer.

On the advisory board are Wallace Beatty, Margaret Duff, Norman Tyrrell, Jim Yeomans, Charlie Ozard and Ivan Howell.

Mrs. Allen joins a special advisory board of past presidents which includes Don Taylor, Frank Dunn, Bob Birkett and Geoff Hodgson.

'Fahey' Name Adopted by Opera Group

Re-organization of the former Victoria Light Opera Company under the name of the Fahey Light Opera Company was decided upon at a recent meeting in the home of Mme. Winnifred Lugrin-Fahey.

The company was formed originally to produce the works of Mme. Fahey and has done so over a period of years. Last production was in March when "The Spirit of the Nile" was performed. It will be repeated June 7 and 8 at the Langham Court Theatre.

The group is planning for next season an opera appropriate to B.C.'s centenary, and based on B.C. history, "The Brideship."

Officers elected were:

President, Mme. W. L. Fahey; vice-president, Eric V. Edwards; chairman and advertising, Gladys Painter; secretary, Jean Arber; treasurer, Leona Hanley; business manager, Lincoln Painter; publicity, Mary Edwards; stage manager, H. Rouche; set designer, Tony Maynard; production manager, Bill Fahey; music director, E. V. Edwards; accompanist, Olive Stewart and ticket sales, Bill Metcalfe.

BRIGHT LIGHTS OF MUSIC FESTIVAL

Pops Singer Hayes Leans to Classics

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Of all top popular singers on records, there are few who can claim the accomplishments and interests of Bill Hayes.

The singer who has produced several top hits such as Davy Crockett and Wringle Wrangle, is a composer-writer, and dabbles as well in playwriting.

He is also busy in other things, such as helping to raise his five children ranging in age from one to nine.

Davy

His one big ambition, he says, is to become a singer of serious songs. He got his first chance recently when he appeared as vocalist at a Cincinnati concert.

Whether or not the singer will try his hand at recording classical songs remains to be seen. For the time being he is sticking to pop songs. His latest is "Ramshackle Daddy"—a tune he wrote himself.

★ ★ ★

A cellist who has become tops in his field is Hungarian-born Janos Starker, now an American citizen.

Starker, a graduate from the Budapest Academey of Music, began to play the cello at the age of seven. It was only after the war on a European tour, however, that he became internationally known.

The artist can be heard on a new Angel release (35417) playing Dvorak cello concerto and Faure "Elegie," with the Philharmonia Orchestra conducted by Walter Susskind. It is a fine performance well-worth hearing.

★ ★ ★

For discophiles interested in symphonies, Angel has also released a superb recording of Mozart's No. 25, K185 and No. 40, K550 (35407).

Conductor is Otto Klemperer, who has been widely acclaimed on this continent and in Europe for his recordings of Beethoven.

If you enjoy Mozart, you will not be disappointed with this record. The symphonies performed rank among the composer's best works.

★ ★ ★

Beethoven First Edition Given To Bruno Walter

A high-emotion occasion at Carnegie Hall was a pension fund concert of the New York Philharmonic-Symphony, an all-Beethoven program, with venerable Bruno Walter conducting and British pianist Dame Myra Hess as soloist in the fourth piano concerto.

There were brief preliminary speeches commemorating Walter's long service for the orchestra and his semi-retirement after this season.

Dame Myra presented him with a first edition score of Beethoven's Pastoral Symphony. Walter acknowledged the compliments with philosophic grace, spoke in praise of Beethoven and the Pastoral, kissed Dame Myra's cheek, then stepped up on the podium and conducted the Pastoral.

Perhaps it was the occasion, but Dame Myra's piano-playing sounded even more deep-running and moving than it usually does.

Chopin composed more than 40 mazurkas for piano.

Summertime Smile Show Rehearsing

A popular Victoria holiday season show has gone into rehearsal this week with plans to open a six-week run July 11. Jerry Gosley's Smile Show will present its fourth annual summer presentation at Langham Court Theatre with new routines, favorite performers and some fresh talent.

Irene Henderson, Al Denoni and Jerry Gosley will have Reginald Stone providing musical background on the organ. Judy MacCormac, a young Victoria actress, will be featured in a specially written routine and Cockney comedy will be handled by a newcomer to the city, Len Evans.

Original sketches and songs will provide local atmosphere.

DIRECTOR

It's been some time since Joshua Logan has participated in a stage venture in which he isn't at least co-producer in addition to being director, but the script called "The Children's Comedy," held by a new producing team, has so intirgued him that he has agreed to serve merely as director.

The play is by James Leo Herlihy and William Noble. Its production is planned for next fall by James Hammerstein (son of Oscar) and Barbara Wolferman's.

Before he undertakes that assignment, Logan will spend the summer directing the film version of "South Pacific" for Oscar Hammerstein and Richard Rodgers.

C (To put in time)

(A PLUS) "THE GREEN MAN" (Capitol): The Green Man should tickle everyone pink.

It is just about tops in that hard-to-put-together bit of theatrical hankey pankey called a farce. Indeed it is doubtful if the English have come up with anything quite so hilarious of its kind since the prewar days of Tom Walls and Ralph Lynn.

The plot is amazingly complicated, reminiscent of yarning by that crazy-house mentality of P. G. Wodehouse. But to put over such a business the whole must have tremendous pace without a single lag.

As Hawkins, the professional assassin, Alastair Sim wears the apologetic air of a basset hound. A humble man, this Hawkins. As he admits in the beginning, he learned his trade well and came up the hard way. In the beginning his game was small, merely his headmaster whom he electrocuted to death. Then there was the foreign emissary who was going to kick the opening ball off at a soccer game. Then on to better things, such as blowing up an entire ship as it slid down the ways. Now his goal is Sir Gregory, a diplomat soon to serve Britain in the near East theatre.

TO LEARN about Sir Gregory's movements Hawkins woos the diplomat's secretary, Marigold (Avril Anger). But one day Hawkins makes a technical error and Marigold says she knows what's up and is going to tell the police. Hawkins, in the midst of playing a game of chess with a policeman, suggests that possibly she had better call at his home first and he will explain the matter to her satisfaction.

Here, possibly, "The Green Man" reaches its greatest pitch of excitement and fun. Even as he continues his game with the constable he and his "technical assistant" McKechinie (John Chandos) dupe Marigold into the vacant house next door and presumably bump her off. Meanwhile the house is a scene of unexpected activity as vacuum salesman George Cole tries to demonstrate his product to McKechinie, mistaking him for the owner. Then Ann Vincent (Jill Adams) arrives at the house, preparing to get it in readiness for her up-coming marriage to her fiance.

While Hawkins continues to play chess with the policeman the scene next door develops into a bedroom farce with George chasing Ann about in her unmentionables while Ann's fiance, a stuffy BBC type, looks on in understandable alarm. Meanwhile Marigold has more ups and downs than a department store elevator.

Be it to the ever-lasting credit of Sidney Gilliat and Frank Launder who wrote the screen play and director Robert Day, in spite of it being a farce, the picture is sure to keep the audience on the edge of its seat such is its suspense, excitement and high good humor.

STARRING RICHARD TODD, JEAN PETERS AND ALL-STAR SUPPORTING CAST
This, to our mind, is one of the greatest motion pictures ever made. One that you will never tire seeing again and again.
The story of the young Scottish Presbyterian minister and his early life as a student, later as an emigrant to America and finally as one of the most powerful and influential preachers in the United States is at once an inspiration and delight. It will give your heart a lift and make you sing inside. His messages are so important to us today and his prayer, "Lord, give us courage to stand for something, lest we fall for anything," is surely most appropriate. See the picture from the beginning, if possible, but see it by all means. It's one you will never forget. Unreservedly recommended.

FASHION SHOW and BEAUTY QUEEN CONTEST

THE STAMP CORNER

By REG NAIRNE

Who was Victoria's first stamp collector? In all likelihood, the late Miss Josephine Crease would qualify for the role. Her collection was the only one known to the writer that contained unused U.S. stamps bought at the Victoria post office. In the 60s these were the only ones available, having franking power outside the colony of V.I. (Our local 2½d stamp was only good within the confines of British Columbia and Vancouver Island.)

But we now know that there was another collector in town who must rank as one of the most important pioneer philatelists on the Pacific coast, though, strange to say, no one in Victoria ever heard of him until his collection turned up at Sooke nearly 20 years ago!

His name was Baumann, and he was of German extraction. From correspondence that turned up later, it is known that the family originally came from Wurttemburg, and that they emigrated to New Orleans over 100 years ago.

Thence they moved to California at the time of the gold rush, finally ending up at Victoria when the Cariboo excitement was at its height. Here they established the Bavarian Brewery, but how long this was in operation is not known.

Most collectors like to get together to swap, "talk stamps", and show off their treasures, but the mysterious Mr. Baumann was a lone wolf; he evidently never sought out others interested in the hobby, and repeated enquiries among old-time philatelists failed to find a single person that ever heard of him.

★ ★ ★

Yet his collection was amazing. He apparently tried to make a complete collection of the world, and must have been well provided with funds, for he came within about 15% of realizing his objective. Canada was complete except for the 12d black, and Europe was practically complete but for the greatest rarities.

The album, the size of an old fashioned family Bible, literally bulged with thousands upon thousands of stamps.

Apparently when Baumann died around 1900 his widow retired to Sooke, and kept the collection intact and unknown until she sold it in the late '30's, to the great excitement of local collectors!

ART IN REVIEW

Trust Your Own Judgment First Making Sure of It

By MONCRIEFF WILLIAMSON

"I know what I like."

This expression, by custom, applies particularly to painting. Now, to know what one likes is everybody's prerogative. It would be a bleak world if we all had similar tastes. If everybody liked green, then all houses would be painted green, with green shingles and furnishings.

Gardens would be devoid of flowers, and limited to vast reaches of lawn; flowering shrubs, having brown trunks and differently-colored blossoms, would not be planted. All automobiles would be green. Ladies would favor green hair-tints.

Williamson

Men would adopt the fashion set by the famous French surrealist, Andre Breton, who dressed entirely in green, wore green shoes and smoked a green pipe filled with tobacco from a green pouch.

SOME LIKE CACTI

Happily, God ordained otherwise. An herbaceous border is a joy because of its spectacular coloring, yet there are people who prefer a potted cactus. A rose fancier has a battle to hold his own against a grower of dahlias. Others, particularly golfers, think that a nice bit of grass is the finest sight, ever!

From the time of that first Garden, Eden, men and women have agreed to differ so that today, when driving through Saanich Peninsula, we all find pleasure from the variety of flowers, fields, plants and shrubs and nobody starts a fight.

Yet when it comes to the visual arts—pictures, sculpture and those other graphic forms which men have chosen for self-expression or decoration, close friends can become pretty bitter.

A man will defend his right to have a certain picture hanging on his wall, yet once he has defended it an element of doubt creeps in and the picture never looks the same again.

Once his taste has been questioned, man gets terribly serious. He becomes moody. He either leaves the picture where it is or goes and buys another, taking the advice of a third party whose opinion is reputedly pretty sound.

What he brings home is something nobody likes and, because a man can't afford to buy a new picture every day, our martyr in the cause of Art—for he feels just that—digs in his heels.

This situation is common enough, though few of us would admit it. Anyway, you say, what sort of a friend is it who let's you down over a picture?

TRUST YOURSELF

The answer is that you are letting yourself down through ignorance. By sticking to an opinion which is not really your own and defending something which you don't really understand. It's not unlikely that your knowledgeable friend is letting you down through the same ignorance.

It's a safe bet that the gardener, whether rose or dahlia fancier, subscribes to seed catalogues and books on horticulture. When he answers your questions he does so with at least semi-expert knowledge.

He knows the correct method of pruning, which fertilizer reacts best to the plant without robbing local soil and how to make an earwig trap with stake, newspaper and pot.

So it is with the first steps in art appreciation. Get to know your own pictures. Read art magazines, go to exhibitions, take an interest in local artists and ask questions.

Provided the picture on your wall means more to you than just another bit of furnishing try to learn something about it.

What is the name of the artist? Is he dead or alive and what made him choose this particular subject? Do you really like it and, if not, why isn't it in the attic?

When growing roses you are dealing with something tangible. The smell or color is enough to justify the growth. Art, however, is almost intangible; there is, however, one quality everybody can look for, though at first it may seem rather elusive. This is sincerity. With practice you'll soon get to recognize it.

Whether the picture was painted by Picasso or Tintoretto, by Grandma Moses or the artist round the corner, sincerity tells and if it's sincere it's probably a work of art.

And when somebody says "I know what I like!"—you can reply "So do I, Sir."

But first make sure that you do.

Not Universal But Good

"DEAD MAN'S FOLLY," by Agatha Christie (Collins, Toronto, 256 pages, $2.75).

In spite of her prolific output the standard of Agatha Christie's mystery novels remains consistently high. Her English publishers assert she is universally acknowledged as being the supreme practitioner of the complex and fascinating art of the detective story.

The claim has merit but takes in too much territory when it is made universal.

There must be millions on this side of the Atlantic, especially in the U.S.A., who find the atmosphere of English mansions and socialites, which the author creates in most of her stories, a little cloying.

For those readers Erle Stanley Gardner's Perry Mason stories would have greater appeal. It is, however, the publisher's superlatives rather than the latest Christie detective mystery story that are challenged.

With her habitual ingenuity the author presents a baffling story of murder and mystery equal to any of the many other stories which have won her fame as a detective story writer.

BOOK TALK By JAMES SCOTT

Gov.-General's Awards Sound

Well, the Governor-General's Awards have been made again and the heartiest of good wishes to those who were recognized viz. Adele Wiseman, fiction winner for her first novel, The Sacrifice (this department liked it too and so did Claude Bissell, president of Carleton College, who called it the best Canadian novel of the year in Letters in Canada, 1956); Pierre Berton, creative non-fiction winner for The Mysterious North; Joseph Lister Rutledge, a posthumous winner for academic non-fiction with Century of Conflict; Robert A. D. Ford, diplomat-turned-poet who took the poetry award with A Window on the North (strange this, since a lot of it was translation), and Farley Mowat, juvenile winner with Lost in the Barrens—and that one I really liked.

And that's about all there is to say. These awards seem increasingly to be decided in terms of the safe, sane and sober, and there's not much wrong with such standards except that it doesn't help encourage the experimentation which any national literature in its formative stages needs so badly. Oh well.

Scott

Except that one hopes the newly appointed Canada Council will take a different tack. And I don't expect they will.

All of this makes me wonder how my friend Brian Moore is feeling since his first novel, Judith Hearne, won almost all the other awards which were going this past year. Maybe he didn't get the G-G nod because his book was all about Ireland.

So is his latest, The Feast of Lupercal, which is really just more of the same as the first novel. This time, instead of a distressed spinster the chief character is a distressed schoolmaster, a layman in an Irish Catholic private school. Perhaps because Diarmuid Devine's case is somewhat less spetacular than Judith Hearne's his plight seems less pathetic and more futile. In The Feast of Lupercal as in Judith Hearne the theme is sterility, not in the narrow biological sense, but in the broad connotation which touches not only the personal lives of the central figures but the entire national life of Ireland — Northern Ireland anyway.

SAVORLESS

Once again we have a hero brought up in the arid environment of a life strongly dominated by a narrow-minded brand of Roman Catholic parochialism which leaves him completely unfit to find any savor in the dull life for which he has been conditioned. It seems to be Mr. Moore's thesis that sooner or later, any human will rebel against this kind of strait-jacketed existence and in seeking to find an escape from the oppression of dullness will come a-cropper against all the forces of dull respectability which are well equipped to fight down renegades with plentiful supplies of malice, stupidity and vanity.

Again, most of the subsidiary characters in this book are of this unpleasant ilk. There are a couple of people with reasonably warm hearts who are in the minority and hence unable to be very effective in working out any happy solution.

NOTHING CHANGED

In this case, the frustrated Dev, late and desperate, seeks in his late thirties to fall in love with and win a young girl from Dublin. Instead he becomes enmeshed in a miserable web of the pettiest kind of misunderstanding and brought almost to ruin, saved at the ninth hour by a wise old priest. But nothing is really changed. All that Dev has saved for is to return to the dull aridity of his former existence. He tried for his fling, was knocked down in the attempt and is lucky to be able to get to his feet again to eke out the rest of his days in the same old frustrating way.

But now, it looks as if this is a bit of an obsession with Brian Moore. Maybe since he has moved to Canada he will work out of it which would be a good thing since he possesses considerable power as a writer. But I hear he has just left on a long vacation in Ireland. I don't know, but I think that's a mistake.

Publishing Business Satirized

BEST SELLER, by William Murray. Harcourt-Brace.

William Murray knows the publishing world, the magazine world, the bohemian-egghead-artistic world, and all the foibles of that particular stratum of society including, apparently, every literary cliche.

Murray's book, Best Seller, is wonderfully satiric, bitingly humorous, devastatingly revealing and never quite embittered.

Regrettably, it has no plot. No coherent plot anyway—leaving the story with a number of brilliant scenes apparently unrelated.

Recollections Of Macnaghten Clan Connections

FAMILY ROUNDABOUTS, by Angus Macnaghten. Clarke Irwin and Company Ltd., Toronto; 124 Pages. $1.75.

Angus Macnaghten, cousin of the chief of the Macnaghten Clan, has written a collection of articles on persons and places connected — sometimes very loosely — with his family. Eleven pictures, some of them of the ancestors in the clan, are used to illustrate the book.

The author, who has inherited a passionate interest in Scotland's past, has already published privately a history of his clan under the title, "The Chiefs of Clan Macnaghten and Their Descendants," which led to the formation of the Clan Macnaghten Association.

Although there is a 700-year survey of the homes of the chiefs of the clan, the author deals mainly with events of the 18th and 19th centuries. Annie Laurie, Robert Burns' patron Marie Riddell, Queen Victoria, Fanny Burney and the man she immortalized as "Daddy" Crisp, are the subjects of chapters.

Naturally the book will have special appeal for Scots but it has a warm human touch which makes it of general interest. —T. M.

HOBBY SHELF

Brief reports on select new books of interest to home craftsmen, hobbyists and collectors. Selected by Clark Kinnaird.

The Milky Way by Bart J. Bok and Priscilla F. Bok (Harvard University Press, 269 pages: $5.50). "We invite you to join us in a tour along the road to the heaven of the Greeks," the authors begin. "Modern science has provided the transportation facilities, and without its being necessary for you to leave your chair, we should like to show you the sights." They proceed to do so in inviting text accompanied by intriguing photos and diagrams. However, this is a book for the advanced astronomy hobbyist, not the beginner.

How to Use a Tape Recorder by Dick Hodgson and H. Jay Bullen (Hastings House, 215 pages: $4.95). The authors have collected from others and thought up themselves an amazing list of ways the tape recorder can be used usefully or entertainingly in business or in the home. This seems to be best guide book on the subject.

Short Cuts to Better Golf by Johnny Revolta with Charles B. Cleveland (Crowell, 203 pages: $2.95), is a revised, amplified edition of a popular textbook by a highly successful teacher.

Q—I require about 200 lobelia plants for an edging. Would it be best to start the seed indoors or sow it thinly in the border? —F. M.

A—Your only chance for a lobelia border this season is to purchase the plants. To flower from June on, lobelia seed is sown indoors in January, the plants being quite slow developing.

Q—Has any research been carried out on fragrance in roses, and are any books available on the subject?

A—The late Dr. James A. Gamble contributed one thousand dollars a year to support basic research on rose fragrance. He was a member of the American Rose Society and a director of the American Rose Foundation. A letter to the Society at 4048 Roselea Place, Columbus 14, Ohio, will bring the information you desire.

BEASTALL ADVISES

Weather Now Seems Possible For Outdoor Sowing of Seeds

By JACK BEASTALL

Judging from the feel of the weather it should now be possible to go ahead with the outdoor sowing of seed with reasonable assurance of escaping late frosts.

Both sowing and planting have been delayed this season on heavy soils because of the amount of moisture remaining near the surface. There are two factors which may account for this tardy drying-out.

Beastall

First, most of our rain has fallen at night during the past week or so and we may not realize the amount we have had; secondly, the usual drying winds of late April and early May have not materialized.

To facilitate sowing and hasten germination in both sandy and heavy soils, the seed drills may be filled with two inches of finely screened compost before sowing. The compost holds moisture and does not cake and crack.

IT LOOKS SKIMPY

Every year we are admonished to sow seed thinly, but it is difficult to put into practice. Although we know full well the plants will be needing six, or maybe 12-inch spacing, we still seem unable to do better than one seed to the inch. Even that spacing looks frightfully skimpy at sowing time.

Another hard-to-follow practice is the sowing of just enough seed to supply a family of two or three for a period of a week or so, and making these sowings at regular intervals. When you get this down to a fine art it really conserves labor, cuts down losses from over-maturity, and allows for a little variation in the meals.

Since the marrow-squash-cucumber group are damaged by the lightest of frosts, it is good insurance to sow a few seeds at weekly intervals so that the entire crop is not lost. Should all the plants survive, the weakest may be destroyed.

Interest in the New Zealand spinach has increased in the past few years, but most gardeners are still sowing too late to have useful plants during the hot weather.

LOVES THE HEAT

This spinach substitute loves hot weather for growing, but needs to be germinated in the cooler days and requires about six to eight weeks to build up sturdy plants.

Oak-leaf lettuce is another vegetable which does not rush to seed as soon as the weather gets warm. Both the green and bronze colored are available, and either makes delicious eating.

Well-hardened tomato plants can go out now in all areas excepting very low spots.

As soon as onion seedlings and shallots can stand up by themselves see that the soil is gradually removed from around the bulbs, and keep them well exposed throughout the season.

Sprinkler Kits Easy to Install

Enterprising manufacturers using modern materials are making kits that permit nearly any homeowner to have an underground sprinkling system. Once an exclusive feature of the large estate, a sprinkling system can now be installed by a handy man in a short time at modest expense.

THE CHANGE was made possible when metals ceased to be the only materials that could be used for pipes that would be: strong enough to withstand water pressure, tough enough to take alternate freezing and thawing without cracking and durable enough to resist rotting.

MODERN PLASTICS such as polyethylene are used in sprinkler kits that require no more than a spade, knife and screwdriver to install. Prices vary with the length of the pipe, number of sprinkler heads, whether they're adjustable, and, of course, quality of the materials.

Unless your lawn is a perfect square or rectangle with no odd corners and curving lines to worry about, it's a good idea to get a kit with adjustable sprinkler heads.

These can be adjusted to spray either a half or quarter-circle area. The adjustable heads work better, too, in areas where water pressure fluctuates during the day.

NEXT STEP is to lay out parts from your kit or kits on surface of your lawn. You can do this in a number of patterns. There are three basic layouts.

(1)—A continuous system in which all sprinkler heads are set in a single pipe, one end of which is connected to the water supply.

(2)—A twin-line system, in which a tee-connector hooks two independent sections to a water supply line.

(3)—A branch system in which short, individual sections are hooked into a common feed line with tee-connectors.

Locate the sprinkler heads as closely as you can to cover area, and drive stakes into your lawn at those points.

MOST KITS CONTAIN instructions detailing the area the system will cover under different water pressure conditions. A majority of cities attempt to maintain pressure at about 45 to 50 pounds. But pressure is often less than maximum on a hot summer day. And since pressure varies, not only from one city to another, but between neighborhoods as well, it's a good idea to check with the water department for the amount of pressure in your neighborhood.

SPRINKLER HEADS should usually be placed about 12 feet apart.

AFTER YOU ARE certain of the location of everything, cut the plastic pipe wherever the sprinkler heads are to be inserted. Most kits contain metal tees and ells into which the sprinkler heads are screwed.

In some systems, the metal fittings are held in place with clamps. Others contain a special tool for cutting threads in the plastic pipe.

Once your sprinkler system is assembled, turn on the water before you bury it. This is your chance to correct the layout before it becomes permanent. Check for leaks at this time.

CHANCES are that you will connect the system to the outside faucet on your house. This is the simplest method.

The length of hose from faucet to sprinkler pipe should be of the same or a larger inside diameter. This will prevent a reduction in the flow of water.

With a square spade cut the sod to a depth of about six inches. Soaking the ground first, helps. Work the spade back and forth until you have an opening just wide enough to take the pipe.

Press pipe into the ground, making sure that the sprinkler heads are level with the base of the turf. This is important to allow clearance for the lawn mower.

Press the sod back together gently with your hands. After a few sprinklings the opening will close.

NOW THAT YOU HAVE an underground sprinkling system, learn how to use it. The habits formed in the days when you used a conventional hose must be forgotten.

For example, you'll find that you won't have to water as much. A two-hour period every two days during hot, dry weather is sufficient; the same amount every three or four days during periods of light rain suffices.

A sprinkling system more closely approximates rain than watering by hand. Soaking is thorough and needn't be done as often.

YOU CAN WATER at night with a sprinkling system without fear of fungus growth, because a fine spray of water is heavy with oxygen, which discourages such growth.

The lichen is nature's pioneer. A unique partnership of fungus and alga, the composite plant produces acid that breaks stone into soil. This action turns barren wasteland into a place where trees and flowers can grow, the National Geographic Society says.

Now is the time to get at those screens, before the advance echelons of summer's horde of insects move in on the family.

MR. FIX

Screening Tests For Insect Battle

The world's most numerous air force will soon deploy its legions in your neighborhood and it's none too soon to erect barricades against its coming.

In short: Bug season arrives with warm weather and you'd better look to your screens.

Are they clean? Do they need painting? Are they in need of repair?

IF THE DUST that's settled during storage is all that you have to contend with, you're fortunate. Soapy water solution, scrubbed on with a stiff-bristled brush and followed with a thorough rinsing from the garden hose, takes care of the situation.

IF IT'S the second or a subsequent season for your screens, painting may be in order, depending on type of mesh.

Bronze or copper screening should never be painted. But water runoff from bronze screening can stain house paint, and you might consider use of a good quality spar varnish, applied after screens have been cleaned.

Aluminum screening needs no refinishing, nor does the plastic screen now in the market.

Galvanized wire screening requires painting at start of second-season use, and it should receive a new paint job about every other season thereafter.

Use only well-thinned screen enamel. Apply with one of the special applicators available, or make one by tacking a piece of carpeting to a wood block.

Paint both sides of the screening, and keep holes in the mesh open as you work across the screen by clearing any clogged areas with a toothpick or thin wire nail.

If you're using a paint sprayer, mask frames and spray out-of-doors on a windless day.

CHECK FRAMES for tightness before painting with regular house paint or varnish. If frames are beginning to sag or wobble, reinforce corners with braces made especially for screens, or screw angle irons into frames at each inner corner. Mitered joints can often be tightened by driving in corrugated fasteners.

TO PATCH breaks or holes in the mesh is no chore at all if you buy ready-made patches available at your hardware store. These small bits of screening have wires bent into the shape of tiny hooks at their edges and patches come in various sizes. Be sure that patch you apply overlaps hole sufficiently to thwart wiggles of the most determined insect.

If you're making your own patches from a length of screening, ravel a few wires at each edge and bend these wires at right angles to the patch. Position patch, and crimp wire strands—in place on side of screen opposite to the patch.

Alcohol Among Top French Killers

PARIS (Reuters)—Drinking kills more people in France than tuberculosis, according to an article published in the current edition of the French national health service magazine. The article, by a member of the National Institute for Demographic Studies, Alfred Sauvy, says alcoholism comes fourth in the list of causes of death for all French people between the ages of 20 and 65.

The bite of the short-tailed shrew is poisonous, owing to a secretion in the salivary glands.

WEEK'S WORK

By JACK BEASTALL

Water lilies should be planted immediately. Be sure to specify the depth of pool when purchasing because both shallow and deep-water lilies are available.

Continue the planting of summer and fall flowering perennials.

Sprouted dahlia tubers may be planted. Provide protection for the young green shoots against early morning frosts.

Thin vegetable seedlings during overcast periods if possible, or water well after thinning to settle the earth around the roots.

Cultivation aids in aerating the soil and drawing up moisture to the roots of the seedlings.

Plant out Brussel sprout plants and sow seed of broccoli, use next fall and winter.

Pinch out the growing tips on the young shoots of Cistus, the shrubby rock rose, to induce branching.

Ribes sanguinea, the flowering currant, needs only the old and weak wood cut out.

FIX-IT FORUM

Q—How can I remove greenish coloring that appears on copper piping running through our recreation room?—W. C.

A—Remove with steel wool—the finest texture that you can buy. Then burnish with a soft cloth and apply a clear lacquer. This will help to prevent the oxidation that causes the green coloring.

Hedges should be pruned with the top narrower than the bottom in order to give all sides of the hedge sunlight.

Musical Covers Life Of Showman Cohan

Old Andy Hardy Movie on 5 at 10.30; Odyssey Does Kremlin Story Sunday

By PHIL LEE, Times TV Editor

Anyway you look at it, tonight is Mickey Rooney's.

The 36-year-old pint-sized actor, who will be remembered this year for his smash success in Playhouse 90's "The Comedian," will be seen twice—once as he is today and later, in one of his old Judge Hardy pictures filmed when he was about 17.

The first show hits Channel 4 at 9 p.m. and is a 90-minute color spectacular based on the life of fabulous Broadway showman George M. Cohan who died some 15 years ago.

The play will emphasize Cohan's days as a vaudevillian with the Four Cohans and the musical comedies he wrote. In addition to Rooney there will be James Dunn as Jerry Cohan; Roberta Sherwood, as Ellen Cohan, Gloria De Haven as Josie Cohan and June Havoc as Trixie Friganza. The musical will be narrated by Garry Moore.

Some of the tunes to be heard include "Give My Regards to Broadway," "Grand Old Flag," "Yankee Doodle Dandy," "Over There" and "Mary Is a Grand Old Name."

As for the Rooney movie, "Judge Hardy's Children," it will start on Channel 5 at 10.30.

Another show to remember Saturday is SRO Playhouse which stars Keenan Wynn as a reporter in "Two-Bit Gangster." This is the first in a series of half-hour dramas.

It is pretty well business as usual, Sunday, with two exceptions. At 5 p.m. Channels 11 and 12 will carry a one-hour film called "The Kremlin." During this period the history of Russia will be reviewed as it is related to the Kremlin at Moscow.

Two interviews will be held by host Charles Collingwood. One will be with Alexander Kerensky, now an American but once provisional premier of Russia in 1917 just before Lenin took over. The other will be with Averell Harriman who was U.S. ambassador to Russia from 1943 until 1946.

It should also be noted that the popular You Are There series returns to Channel 11 at 6.30. The drama will cover "The End of the Dalton Gang," Oct. 5, 1892.

TONIGHT

Nan Bows Out; Orson Pulls Big Man Act

By WILLIAM EWARD

NEW YORK (UP)—An automobile company (Buick) has decided to build a half-hour series around opera star Patrice Munsel this fall. The time spot will be Friday night on ABC-TV.

The Bob Crosby afternoon show on CBS-TV is shaky with "You the Jury" beginning to shape up as its replacement . . . NBC-TV has decided to ditch "Blondie" in favor of "The Court of Last Resort."

Orson Welles pulled a "Great Man" bit during Steve Allen rehearsals last week. He showed up for rehearsals a couple of days late and didn't even notify Allen of the routine he planned to do until four hours before airtime. Welles finally settled on "Merchant of Venice" after Allen's crew had gnawed their nails down to the knuckles.

ABC-TV is quietly experimenting with video tape on its "Medical Horizons" show . . . Part of Jackie Gleason's summer replacement looks like old 30-minute Jimmy Durante film shows.

The Garry Moore show celebrates its seventh anniversary June 26, with the original cast of Moore, Durward Kirby, Denise Lor and Ken Carson still around. Garry estimates they've done some 12,500 pages of comedy sketches over that span.

A 30-minute mystery series starring George Sanders will fill in for part of the Sid Caesar show on NBC-TV this summer . . . something called "Key Club Playhouse" moves in to the "Treasure Chest" spot on ABC-TV during the warm months.

Polly Bergen Stars As 'Helen Morgan' Thursday at 9.30

Ed Wynn in 'Great Hoax' Wednesday; Dinah Shore Hosts Betty Hutton Friday

Although there are no "specials" this week, there are what look like interesting programs to be delivered by some of TV's "Old Faithfuls."

On Thursday, for instance, Polly Bergen will star in Play of the Week's eagerly-awaited "The Helen Morgan Story." The late Miss Morgan, as almost everyone knows, was the famed torch singer of the 1920s who captivated her audience by singing while sitting on top of the piano. Some of the hit songs of the era will be heard, such as "Bill," "Body and Soul," "Can't Help Lovin' That Man" and "Nobody Wants Me." Curtain rises on Channel 11 at 9.30.

Giants Off To Frisco?

O'Malley Confers With S.F. Mayor

NEW YORK (UP)—The wheels continued turning today in the machinery that eventually may take the Brooklyn Dodgers to Los Angeles and the New York Giants to San Francisco, but baseball commissioner Ford Frick placed a "gag" order on all parties involved.

Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco discussed the possible transfer of a major league franchise to this city at a meeting yesterday with Walter O'Malley, president of the Dodgers, and owner Horace Stoneham of the Giants.

Christopher admitted, "We discussed the possibility of bringing major league baseball to San Francisco."

Stoneham also said as much but added that he and all other parties were prohibited from commenting further because of a telegram to that effect sent by Frick.

WON'T GIVE UP

"I won't give up until we have major league baseball in San Francisco," Christopher said. "I'm frank in saying major league baseball on the west coast is an eventual must. It's going to happen some day and I can't say if immediately or later."

Christopher indicated San Francisco will take any major league club it can get, whether it's the Giants or any other club.

"San Francisco is prepared to pay the bill for major league baseball," he said. "We feel we have a fine site available for a new stadium in the southern part of the city. It is on level land with plenty of parking area and we have been told we can be ready by 1959."

The Giants' lease on the Polo Grounds, where they play their home games now, expires in 1961. There has been some talk that the Giants were thinking of sharing Yankee Stadium with the Yankees after that but Yankee president Dan Topping said he has not spoken with Stoneham about that subject in more than a year and a half.

Meanwhile, Christopher pointed out that if San Francisco could "win away" the Dodgers from Los Angeles he would be all for it even though he realizes Los Angeles has been bidding strongly for Brooklyn.

"If we could take the Dodgers from Los Angeles, we certainly would," said the San Francisco mayor. Mayor Norris Paulson of Los Angeles and I are both anxious to have major league baseball in California. If we get teams, we will beat the pants off Los Angeles."

That Old College Try Again

Infielder Nick Cantwell, captain of St. Joseph's College baseball team, could have saved his energy and bruises in game against University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia. Although Bob Sebastianelli, guarding first base in an unorthodox manner, did not have a foot on the bag, the umpire called the cartwheeling Cantwell out, saying he was tagged when he ran into the Penn first baseman. Jack, Roger Climb In Rookie Ratings

Sanford Wins Fourth; Maris Clubs Athletics

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Staff Writer

Philadelphia's Jack Sanford and Cleveland's Roger Maris stood out today as the early-season favorites for the major league's rookie-of-the-year honors.

Sanford, 27-year-old right-hander who joined Phillies last September, leads all National League pitchers with a 4-0 record. Maris, 21-year-old outfielder who did not make the Cleveland roster until after spring training, is up among the American League leaders with five home runs and 17 runs batted in on a .315 batting average.

A three-hitter by Sanford Friday night highlighted Philadelphia's 3-1 triumph over Pittsburgh which boosted Phillies into fourth place, one game back of Brooklyn. The rookie fanned 10 and had a shutout until the ninth. Then a walk and Hank Foiles' triple produced the only Pirate run.

BAGS KEY HOMER

Maris clouted a home run with a mate aboard to feature Cleveland's three-run rally against freshman southpaw Gene Host in the Indians' 4-1 victory over Kansas City. The triumph boosted the Tribe into third place, a half-game behind New York.

Chicago White Sox made it two in a row over Detroit with a 6-4 victory that gave them undisputed possession of the American League lead, a full game in front of Yankees, who were beaten by Baltimore 4-1. Rain forced the postponement of Washington-Boston game.

Milwaukee snapped its three-game losing streak with a 10-5 victory over St. Louis that increased the Braves' National League lead over Cincinnati Reds to one game. The Reds' scheduled game with the Cubs in Chicago was postponed because of rain. The New York Giants dropped third-place Brooklyn two games from the top with a 2-1 triumph over the Dodgers.

ERRORS COSTLY

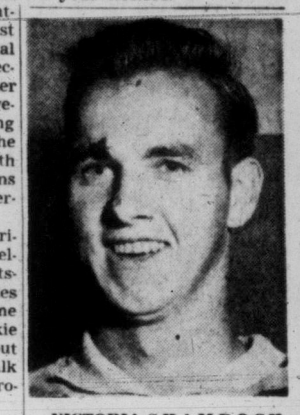
A pair of wild pitches by Luis Arroyo, in relief of Ronnie Kline in the eighth inning, allowed two Philadelphia runners to cross the plate with what proved to be the winning runs. Granny Hamner's second home run since he took over at second base three games ago gave the Phillies their first run.

Juan Pizarro, Milwaukee's rookie southpaw, gained his first major league victory with the help of teammates Johnny Logan and Eddie Mathews, who drove in eight of the Braves' 10 runs. Logan batted in five with a home run, a two-run double and a pair of run-scoring singles. Mathews smashed a two-run homer, double and added a run-producing single.

Willie Mays came off a hospital bed to wallop a triple and two singles, drive in one run and score the other in the Giants' victory over Brooklyn.

EXHIBITION GAME

An exhibition game, preliminary to the opening of their league schedule, will be played between Safeways and Navy Fliers of Pat Bay, of the Sidney Senior Softball League, Sunday at Carnarvon Park at 6.45 p.m.



VICTORIA SHAMROCK forward Al Gill, suffering from a knee injury, is a doubtful starter for tonight's Intercity Lacrosse League game between Shamrocks and defending champion Nanaimo Timbermen at Nanaimo's Civic Arena.

Brandon's Latest Loss Extends Trophy Jinx

QUEBEC (CP)—Brandon Regals left for home Friday, their quest for the Edinburgh Trophy another lost-cause mission that has beset Brandon teams far back in hockey history.

Regals bowed to Quebec Aces 5-1 in games—most of them by close scores—in the best-of-nine series.

Although Regals won the President's Cup in the Western Hockey League this season, some sort of trophy jinx has long followed Brandon teams once they moved out of their immediate leagues.

Brandon even had a big chance once for the Stanley Cup. That was back in 1904, when the great Lester Patrick played for Brandon. But the famous Silver Seven of Ottawa won the cup series in straight games, 6-3 and 9-3.

Came a chance for the Allan Cup in 1920, then the prized trophy of brilliant senior amateur competition. Brandon lost in the final in two straight games to the University of Toronto.

MISSED THREE TIMES

Brandon teams missed out three times in trying for the Abbott Cup, emblematic of the western junior championship. In 1948 the Abbott Cup jinx was beaten and Brandon juniors went after the Canadian championship and the Memorial Cup. In a hectic eight-game final they lost to Montreal Royals.

The Regals-Aces series brought out good hockey crowds despite lateness of the season. Of the six games played, five were in Quebec and one in Montreal.

The five games here drew a total of about 37,200 fans. Highest attendance was 10,358. The single game in Montreal was played before about 5,300.

Mrs. H. G. Mearns won first place in competition for the Louise Todd Cup at Victoria Golf Club Friday by beating Mrs. C. Foster.

COLWOOD, GORGE STARS IN B.C. AMATEUR MEET

Ten Victoria golfers from two clubs have filed entries for the annual B.C. Amateur Championships, starting at Vancouver Golf Club next Friday.

Vancouver's Gordon MacKenzie took the title at Gorge Vale last year with Spokane's Rod Funseth in the runner-up spot.

Colwood has the largest local contingent entered in the tourney with Bill McColl, Pat Frith, Bob Kelly, Laurie Kerr, Tommy Harris, Vince Clarkson and Vic Painter shooting for MacKenzie's title.

Representing Gorge Vale are Dr. Roger Ross, Bill Wakeham and John Carlow.

THE BASEBALL FUTURE of injured Cleveland Indians' pitcher Herb Score may be decided today when doctors take full X-rays of his injured eye to determine if the sight has been impaired. He was injured when hit in the face by a line drive.

TWO LENGTHS BEHIND

Briscoe in Saddle; Arrows Leave Gate

Arrow Furniture finally broke out of the starting gate Friday night to get into the race for the Senior A Men's Softball League title.

Held to five runs in their first two games, Arrows erupted for 10 in the fourth inning at Central Park and went on to whip Mayo Lumber, 14-2. Arrows are now two lengths behind front-running Gorge Hotel, while the Duncan squad is still at the gate with two straight losses.

Dawson Briscoe guided the twice-defeated Furniture crew to the win, pitching a three-hitter and blanking the Lumbermen over the final five innings of the game, called after seven innings because of darkness.

Arrows climbed on three Duncan hurlers for a total of nine hits and took advantage of four walks and two errors as they parlayed four hits into their 10-run inning.

Brian McKinley opened on the mound for Mayo and lasted until the fourth, when Jerry Capps took over. Capps failed to weather the inning, facing only five batters before Ron Hunt chased him to the showers with a bases-loaded home run.

Arrows and Mayo play a return game at Duncan Sunday afternoon while Gorge and Half Way House tangle at Central Park at 2.30.

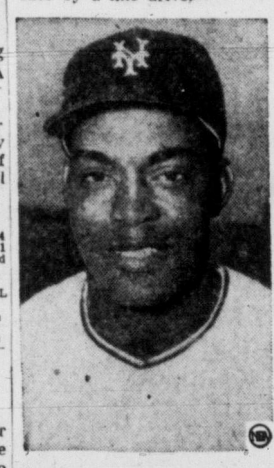
Fullmer, Jones Sign For Bout in Chicago

NEW YORK (CP) — Former middleweight champion Gene Fullmer signed Thursday to meet contender Ralph (Tiger) Jones of Yonkers, N.Y., in 10-round bout at the Chicago Stadium June 7.

President James Norris of the International Boxing Club made the match after unsuccessful attempts to line up a championship fight for the date.



THE BRILLIANT CAREER of one of baseball's greatest Negro players, Monte Irvin, has been ended by a sore back. Irvin, former New York Giants star, announced Friday he was retiring from baseball because of a chronic bad back.

Stan Leonard Back Home 'Worn Out'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Stan Leonard returned home here Friday from his greatest golf triumph for a three-week rest.

The winner of the Greensboro, N.C., Open is to make his next Gold Trail appearance in one of the sectional qualifying rounds for the United States Open, at Vancouver, Wash., June 3.

Leonard has had to shelve plans to try to qualify for the U.S. Open in the Illinois area, probably at Chicago, because of a testimonial dinner being held in Vancouver in his honor May 28. He is the second Canadian to win a Gold Trail tournament on foreign soil — Toronto's Al Balding was the first.

After his success at Greensboro, his golf fell off and at Louisville in the Kentucky Derby Open he failed to keep among the top scorers.

"The game," he said, "wore me out."

Four Knights To Take Part In Stock Races

The Four Knights, popular recording stars currently appearing in Victoria, will abandon rock 'n' roll for spins and skids tonight at Western Speedway.

Ardent auto racing enthusiasts, the four singers, Cliff Holland, John Wallace, Clarence Oixon and Oscar Broadway, will take part in a special race tonight as part of the regular Speedway program. Three of the four singers have had previous stock-car racing experience in the U.S. and Calgary.

Their race will be held early in the evening so that they can return to their singing date at Memorial Arena.

Al Besselink Holds Lead

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Al Besselink took the halfway lead in the Hot Springs Open golf tournament Friday with 138, one stroke in front of four pursuers.

Besselink carded 68 on the par-72 Hot Springs Country Club course to slip into the lead as both first-day leaders faltered.

Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex.; Bill Casper, Jr., of Bonita, Calif.; Jimmy Demaret of Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., and Johnny Palmer of Tulsa, Okla., were jammed into a four-way tie for second place.

Jackie Burke, who shared the first day lead with Marty Furgol at 68, stayed in contention with a 72, but Furgol skied to 75 and dropped far off the pace.

Demaret turned in the day's best card, a 66 which included an eagle and five birdies.

Al Balding of Toronto carded another one-under-par 71, matching his score in the opening round Thursday for a 142 total, four strokes off the lead.

Pollock Levels Bitter Blast

OTTAWA (CP)—Coach Sam Pollock of Ottawa Junior Canadiens says the refereeing in the Memorial Cup championships was "atrocious, crude and incompetent."

Canadiens arrived home Friday after they lost the best-of-seven final series to Flin Flon Bombers.

Pollock said the refereeing was of the crudest form.

"I've never seen anything like it," he said. "It was very incompetent, just plain bad."

ITCHING TO RETURN TO YANKS AS MANAGER

Steady Eddy Ready for Casey's Job

MONTREAL (BUP)—Eddie Lopat, the former New York Yankee "junkman" now in his sophomore year as manager of the Richmond Virginians, frankly admits he has one goal in mind—succeeding Casey Stengel as manager of the Yankees.

"After all, Case can't go on forever," Lopat pointed out today. "Let's not kid anybody, we managers are in this game for the same thing the players are—the money. And like I tell my players, there's no money in Triple A ball."

The wavy-haired redhead who won 160 games in 12 big league seasons—eight with the Yankees—feels he is serving a worthwhile and necessary apprenticeship in the International League. Lopat said he's not in any particular hurry. "I'm willing to work down here for two or three years and see what happens."

The stocky lefthander they used to call "Steady Eddie," said the struggle for a manager to reach the majors is much the same as it is for the players.

"It's the same for both of us," he said. "They pay off on results."

Lopat disclosed that the idea of turning to managing probably started back in 1949 when he first took over a baseball school in Florida, but "I didn't really start thinking about it seriously until my last year with the Yankees."

EDDIE LOPAT
. . . only one goal

"When I wasn't pitching I'd sit on the bench and make believe I was managing the team," he recalled. "I wasn't trying to second guess Case, but just putting myself in his place trying to call the plays as a manager would. You'd be surprised the different attitude you get and how much more you see in a ball game.

"After a game I used to ask Case why he made certain moves and he'd tell me . . . and I think he knew what I had in mind," he added.

Lopat said he turned down offers to pitch and coach in the majors to take the Richmond job. "I knew I was over the hill and I also wanted to manage and figured the best move I could make was to get started learning all about it." He was talked into being an active manager last year ("while the magic of the name was still there"), but he is sticking to the coaching box this year.

"I'm just another ex-major leaguer managing in the International League now," and besides, he went on, "You just can't play and manage too if you hope to do both jobs justice."

The 38-year-old New York-born Lopat said he is well aware that the Yankees have never hired a manager from their own system, but added optimistically: "Who knows? There's always a first time."

Stuart Has Choice: Hittin' or Gittin'

WHO ISN'T FOR TENNIS?

Appearing more like a French can-can dancer than the Italian tennis champion, Lea Pericoli becomes a trifle over-exposed as she slams back an overhand shot in Monte Carlo tournament. The "Lollobrigida of tennis" won the match and title. (NEA.)

By The Associated Press

Seattle and Portland snapped losing streaks in Pacific Coast League baseball Friday night and Hollywood's much-publicized batting star, Dick Stuart, got an ultimatum.

After dropping three straight to San Diego, Seattle called in veteran Red Munger who blanked the Padres, 7-0. Luckless Portland picked up its sixth win in 27 starts with a 12-10 decision over Los Angeles.

To round out the schedule, San Francisco edged Vancouver, 5-4, in 10 innings, and Sacramento blanked Hollywood, 2-0.

It was Stuart's performance in the latter game that brought the ultimatum from Hollywood manager Clyde King.

King said Stuart was "going to have to go" unless he could hit a batch of homers pronto.

Stuart struck out Friday night in the first inning with the bases loaded to end Hollywood's biggest threat of the game as Sacramento hurler Roger Osenbaugh pitched five-hit ball.

HIT OR GO

The 23-year-old former Western League home run king, who started off the season with five four-baggers in four games, failed to get a hit in the game.

Portland outslugged league-leading Los Angeles as the Beavers came from behind to win with a seven-run eighth inning rally highlighted by Luis Marquez' grand slam homer.

Ray Shore, third of four Beaver pitchers, drew the win over the Angels, who used five hurlers. Portland held a 5-1 lead when Los Angeles exploded for eight runs in the seventh inning to go ahead 9-5, only to have the Beavers bounce right back. Jack Littrell and George Freese of Portland and Angel Bob Jenkins also hit four-baggers.

The five-hit pitching of Seattle's George Red Munger backed by sharp hitting, including a homer with one on in the sixth by Hal Bevan, gave the Rainiers the win over San Diego.

Ken Aspromonte's single with two out in the 10th scored Marty Keough to give San Francisco a 10th inning win over Vancouver.

GET A LOAD OF THIS—ROCKET WOULD BE REF

CENTRALIA, Ont. (CP)—Maurice "Rocket" Richard said here Friday that when he retires as a player he would like to be a National Hockey League referee, but he doesn't want an NHL coaching job.

If he cannot get a referee's job, the Montreal Canadiens' star said he would prefer to coach in the minors.

The Rocket came here as a dinner guest at the RCAF aircrew station, and before that he beguiled a gathering of public school boys who shot him dozens of questions, including "How often do you get your skates sharpened?" Richard said he didn't know, all that was handled by the club.

TIREMEN BOUNCE BACK

Furnace Flames Fizzled Too Soon

Pacific Sheet Furnaces sizzled furiously for one inning but fizzled drastically in their Colt League game with Victoria Tire Heralds Friday night at Windsor Park.

The Pacifics, on only two base hits, piled up a five-run lead in their half of the first inning and seemed ready for a victorious evening. But the Heralds had a big inning of their own, chasing in seven runs in the third inning as they romped to a 13-5 victory.

Don Collier and Brent Seddon shared the pitching duties for the victorious Heralds.

NOT ENOUGH

Ken McAllister was decked out in hitting clothes but his mates weren't quite as well dressed as the Patterson Construction slugger.

McAllister walloped two doubles, one with the bases loaded, and a single, but it wasn't enough as Patterson's went down to a 14-5 defeat at the hands of Brotherhood of Painters, who posted their second victory of the Saanich Babe Ruth League season.

A third top-heavy score was posted Friday night, this one at Jaycee Little League Park, when Tuglets, of the American League, swarmed over Kinsmen, 12-7, for their second straight league victory with no defeats. Three doubles were the key blows, two by Harvey Stevenson and one by Mike Smith.

ON THE ALLEYS

Heat, Slow Alleys Make Things Tough

By GRAHAM COX

Victoria tenpin bowlers in Spokane last weekend for the 41st annual International Bowling Congress didn't fare too well as Princess Mary and Grandspot finished out of the money.

Princess Mary, who finished sixth last year in the Booster event, could manage only a 2,287 total with Alex McKeachie, Victoria's singles champion, again being team leader with 560.

Grandspot did only slightly better in the Commercial event when Cec Dixon rolled 543, Beaver Fell 495, Bob Bystedt 469, Bill Walker 472 and Dave Williams 464 for a total 2,443 pins.

Cec Dixon scored the best nine-game series when he went out for both doubles and singles events and finished with a total of 1,630 with a doubles score of 526 and singles 561.

Dave Williams was the only bowler from Victoria to finish in the money in any event as he bowled in a special pot game tournament and scored a six-game 1,198 total and ninth place.

All bowlers, not just those from Victoria, were complaining of two things—the heat and slow alleys. Weather conditions can't be controlled but the slow alleys are an easy matter to correct. It is expected that this will have been rectified for this weekend action as Tillicums were down for Friday night play and Drake Hotel men will be in action tonight or Sunday.

Leagues started rolling for the spring sessions on the two major alleys in town, with Hank Stefanek leading the way at Strathcona Alleys when he rolled 585 in the Monday Commercial League to pace Lorne Elves' 548, brother Ed Stefanek's 542 and Vic Dear's 538 (200).

At Gibson's last week, Mixed League bowlers stole what little show there was with Wilf Smith hitting 617 (221), Lew Kamann 610 (225, 221) and Andy Palmer bowling 546.

Sheldon Nipp was head and shoulders above league five-pinners when he shot 746 (305) in the men's league to pace Percy Riddle 645, J. Maxwell 625, Richard Lou 622, J. Ogden 623 and R. LeBeuf 605.

In the Tuesday Mixed Five-pin League P. Mackintosh had 631, W. Smith had 662 and W. Garcin 611.

Esquimalt Spring Leagues will be in full swing by Monday but there is still room for more bowlers on all city alleys.

Track-Spikes Crowd Primps For Inter-High Track Meet

Training is over. Now high school track and field athletes will test the results of their practice labors.

The spikes-and-speed season swings into high gear Monday as four Greater Victoria high schools stage finals in their annual inter-house field events and follow later in the week with track finals.

Oak Bay got the jump on its rivals by starting field event finals Thursday and continuing through Friday. The Oaks hope to complete all field events and the girls' 200-yard sprint Monday.

Wednesday they will run for their houses and for places on the Oak Bay team which will compete in the inter-high school meet at Victoria High May 24.

Vic High athletes start their inter-house meet Monday with field events, which will continue through the next two afternoons. One addition—the softball throw—has been made to the field event roster this year.

Finals in all Vic High track events, with one exception, will be held Friday. The two-mile run will be held at 3.45 Wednesday.

At Mount View, field events will begin on Monday and be completed Tuesday, in order to clear the way for track finals Wednesday afternoon.

Mount View is also making an exception in the two-mile gallop, scheduling the event for Monday afternoon.

Also opening its annual inter-house meet Monday is Esquimalt High. Track events are slated for Friday and the field program will go Monday, Wednesday and Thursday. A staff meeting will result in a break in the action Tuesday.

For the Dockers the orphan two-mile race will be held during the noon-hour recess Monday.

Action during the inter-house meets may be somewhat lackadaisical at times as the athletes will be competing against their classmates.

But wait until the inter-high meet. That's when the action really begins.

WORDS CAME CLEARLY, WITH SIGNIFICANCE

Keen Musical Understanding In Choral Work at Festival

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

High standard of music in the schools was in the limelight at Friday night's Victoria Music Festival concert at Central Junior High School. Choirs, instrumental groups and a folk dance team from Frank Hobbs School repeated performances that had won them top morkings in various classes during the week.

Wonderful training in the art of ensemble singing, rhythmic perceptiveness, aural memory and sight-singing was revealed in the choral work.

Words came over clearly and with significance, phrases were well formed and there was keen musical understanding.

Only one adult class was adjudicated by Wayne Hertz. This was for church choirs, sole entry being by St. Andrew's United Church Junior Choir of Nanaimo.

FINE FUTURE

The group received warm praise and some constructive criticism from Mr. Hertz and 90 marks for each of their two selections. The adjudicator had a special word for the youthful accompanist, Kenneth Bertram —"That boy has a fine future."

Two years ago Kenneth amazed adjudicators and audiences at the Victoria festival, romping away with the junior championship.

Taking part in Friday night's well-attended concert were choirs from Monterey, Margaret Jenkins, Sir James Douglas, George Jay, Esquimalt High, Victoria High, Central Junior and Oak Bay Junior High Schools.

Rhythm Band from Oaklands School, Flutophone Band from George Jay and the Oak Bay Schools Band supplied instrumental music.

60,000 Expected For Nanaimo Fun

NANAIMO — Empire Day celebrations here next weekend will be the largest in the city's history, with the annual parade already promising to be the biggest ever, and at least 60,000 people expected along the parade route.

Celebrations will continue for five days, Frank Ney, chairman of the Empire Day celebrations committee, told the Times in a summary of the many events.

"There will be something doing all day and every day," he said.

START THURSDAY

The celebrations will start Thursday with the opening of a carnival and midway at Comox Road Park, to continue Friday, Saturday and Monday.

Friday at 6.55 p.m. May Queen Dorothy Armishaw will be crowned in the Civic Arena before a huge crowd of school children, and Saturday night the chief attraction again will be at the arena when Nanaimo Timbermen will take on Vancouver Pilseners in a lacrosse game.

SALMON DERBY

One of the major events Sunday will be the Kiwanis Club salmon derby, from 5.30 a.m. to 3 p.m., and the other will be a Lions Club picnic for youngsters and adults on Newcastle Island.

The former Gabriola Island ferry Atrevida will be brought from Powell River to carry passengers—5,000 are expected—and under the direction of chairman Andrew Vanger Jr. there will be a swimming marathon, free rides, seven concessions and refreshments.

SAIL-PAST

Nanaimo and Vancouver outboard clubs will combine for a sail-past, and men and women of Nanaimo Indian Band run a giant salmon barbecue.

Soap box derby racing will start at 9 a.m. on Fitzwilliam Street under direction of Gordon Blank, and the parade will start at 12.30 p.m.

"We have more entries than ever before at this time," Mr. Ney said. "There will be at least 17 bands, drill teams, military units, clowns, floats and children's groups."

TALENT SHOWS

Shriners will stage afternoon and evening "search for talent" shows in the arena, and an afternoon musical pageant at Caledonia Park featuring some of the bands from Seattle, Bellingham, Vancouver and Island points appearing in the parade.

There will be marching and gymnastic displays, and the corn-on-the-cob eating championship of the world. Men from a United States destroyer to be here for the celebration are expected to take part.

Celebration will end with a grand ball at the arena.

ISLAND VIEWPOINT

Boat Basin

LADYSMITH CHRONICLE

Only the approval of the Dominion Treasury Board is now required to give this community the boat basin it has been trying to get for more than ten years, and Mr. Campney, a minister of the crown, said here that he is confident the approval will be forthcoming. In a matter of a week or two this community should have the final word and it appears highly probable that construction of the boat basin will actually begin this summer.

Of all the things this community has worked for over the years, few have assumed the importance that this boat basin has assumed, few will mean as much to so many people in the community as this boat basin will mean. . . . The City Council and the Chamber of Commerce look upon the boat basin as the equivalent of a new industry which is in no way dependent on forest resources. As such it means a broadening of this community's economic base.

Liquor Laws

COMOX DISTRICT FREE PRESS

The stupidity of the liquor laws of this province was emphasized again when the annual Shrine Ball was held.

The Shrine Club, composed of sensible men who are able to drink with discrimination, are permitted to drink in the afternoon at a private reception, held in a public hall, but at a dance in the same hall in the evening, liquor is prohibited for the simple reason that the dance is a public one.

What could give greater encouragement to the iniquitous practice of drinking in cars?

ISLAND DIGEST

Jury Returns Open Verdict In Plane Crash

LADYSMITH — An open verdict was returned here by a coroner's jury inquiring into the deaths of Alexander B. Richardson of Duncan and Hans Reuter of Maple Bay.

Mr. Richardson, a student pilot, was killed in a plane crash at Cassidy airport April 29, and Mr. Reuter, his flying instructor, died the next day from shock and injuries.

The jury was unable to determine the cause of the crash.

Dr. H. W. Lewis of Nanaimo, the coroner, indicated he blamed "human error" by one or other of the occupants.

None of the witnesses called at the hearing actually saw the plane, a small, two-passenger Aeronca, when it made its fatal plunge.

First on the scene were Peter Piachugin of Lake Cowichan and a companion, who had been in the office of a firm across the road from the airport. They were alarmed when they saw the plane fly behind a clump of trees and fail to reappear.

Robert Keetley of Vancouver, inspector of civil aviation for the Department of Transport, testified he inspected the plane after the crash and could find no evidence of mechanical failure.

From the evidence he was able to obtain in his investigation, he said, it appeared that the aircraft took off, climbed to an altitude of about 200 feet, then started into a turn so sharp that the wings were perpendicular. The plane was then seen to drop, nose down and crash.

He also testified that the aircraft had undergone a routine 50-hour check six days before the crash and had been certified as airworthy.

Federal Ships On Scientific Salmon Trip

NANAIMO (CP)—Two ships of the federal Fisheries Research Board left Nanaimo Friday on a three-week biological expedition to the salmon runs of the Pacific Ocean.

Carrying more than a mile of gill nets and a midwater trawl, the expedition plans to catch salmon for scientific study.

The two ships, Key West and Fort Ross, will follow salmon runs both in the North Pacific and inshore waters of B.C.

Aboard are five technicians from the Pacific Biological Station here with students from Toronto and Vancouver.

Pioneer Medical Man Dies at Port Alberni

PORT ALBERNI (CP)—Dr. Caleb T. Hilton, 82, who travelled by bicycle, boat and buggy to care for the sick of Vancouver Island during B.C.'s pioneering days, died Friday.

Death came in West Coast General Hospital, which he helped found 44 years ago. He had practiced here from 1908 until he retired in 1945.

Active in the campaign to establish the district's first hospital in 1913, after performing operations under primitive conditions and compounding his own prescriptions, Dr. Hilton officiated at the opening ceremonies in 1953 when the West Coast Hospital was replaced by a 111-bed building.

Born at Wigan, England, Dr. Hilton graduated from Guys Hospital and London University. He came here in 1908. A new primary school opened here last year was named in his honor.

He served overseas with the Canadian Medical Corps during the First World War.

Survivors include a son and three daughters. Private funeral services will be held at Victoria.

QUALICUM BEACH—Techniques of the frozen food industry were reviewed at the convention of the B.C. Frozen Food Locker Association at the Qualicum Beach Inn this week.

About 85 members from all over the province attended.

They were welcomed by J. Craig Reid, village commission chairman, who was also special speaker on Tuesday evening on the subject of advertising and the business viewpoint.

Other speakers were J. Johnston, public relations officer of Canada Packers Ltd., and Walter Seymour of Duncan, who conducted a panel discussion on cold storage principles.

ELECTIONS

Directors elected included W. W. Seymour of Duncan; C. A. Gardner of Sidney; Mrs. Bea Buton, and Charles Lowe of Victoria.

The convention voted to hold next year's gathering again at Qualicum Beach.

96 Boys Register For Little League

CHEMAINUS — A total of 96 youngsters between the ages of eight to 18 years have registered to play Little League ball here this year. There will be four teams in the league, the Kinsmen, Rotary, Legion and Community Centre teams. Coaches will meet shortly to select their teams and draw up a schedule.

Piped TV Plan For Courtenay

COURTENAY (CP)—Improved TV reception for this area is in prospect with city council backing the application of a syndicate to pipe-in service.

Four channels have been promised by a group of six businessmen who plan to bring TV programs into Comox and Courtenay homes from a pick-up station on Comox peninsula.

With council's blessing, the group has filed application in Victoria for incorporation of a company.

Channels 2, 4, 5 and 11 are to be brought in.

Names of syndicate members given council included Owen Ellis, Ron Ellis, Vic Ingraham, Jack Nicol and Dr. H. Mooney.

SYMES GRANTED APPEAL; REPRIEVED TO JUNE 27

DUNCAN (CP)—A reprieve to June 27 has been granted Thomas Sydney Symes, 31, a Duncan logger, who was sentenced to be hanged on May 14.

Symes was found guilty of the murder of Paul Richard Powling on New Year's Day.

A. I. MacDonald, representing Symes at earlier court hearing said the Supreme Court of Canada will hear Symes' appeal May 25.

VICTORIA, B.C., SATURDAY, MAY 11, 1957

Civil Servants Protest Bennett Firing Threat

Suggestion by Premier Bennett that the civil service may be trimmed to provide for wage increases next year has been branded as a "threat" by a spokesman for the B.C. Government Employees' Association.

Ed O'Connor, general secretary, said the 10,500-member association would welcome an efficiency survey.

"The government's announcement, however, at this time may be interpreted by many union members as a threat," he said.

"In other words, if you attempt to establish a fair living wage by use of economic force you may lose your job. It is inconceivable that anyone can expect efficiency to live side by side with the complete lack of morale that naturally emanates from a cheap labor policy."

The statement coincided with an association meeting at Nanaimo Friday night at which 500 members went on record as favoring a secret strike vote if the government has still ignored their wage increase demand by the end of the month.

The meeting unanimously reaffirmed a resolution passed at a Vancouver meeting of 1,000 civil servants last Monday empowering the executive to serve an ultimatum on the government.

A. C. Bennett, assistant general secretary, told the Nanaimo meeting the association had already approached the government, asking a meeting with the cabinet.

He was commentating on a statement by Provincial Secretary Wesley Black Friday that no request had been received through his office.

IGNORED

The civil servants charge they are being "ignored" by the government.

A delegation met the cabinet last November to urge a basic wage increase and a similar recommendation has been forwarded by the Civil Service Commission.

Last basic increase was granted in 1952.

H. A. Carney, secretary of the Victoria branch, said today salaries of some civil service officials were boosted this year, but nothing has been done for the rank and file.

The association stand is now that it will wait for an answer from the government agreeing to a meeting to discuss demands.

END OF MONTH

If it is not forthcoming by the end of the month, the strike vote will be called.

A telegram was read at the Nanaimo meeting from the Terrace branch, urging that a special convention be called to consider the situation. All branches throughout the province should have a say in any decision to hold the strike vote, the wire stated.

An executive member said the government could never allow a strike deadline to be reached in some of its departments.

"It is inconceivable that the government can close down for even a week," he said.

Tone of the meeting was set by one member who declared:

"We want action. If we don't get action by the end of this month we will take a strike vote. And Heaven help us if it is defeated. We need more pay and the only way we will get it is by militant action."

In his prepared statement issued from association headquarters at Vancouver, Mr. O'Connor said the government has not denied the justification of the civil servants' wage demands.

Provincial revenues have been steadily increasing, he said, and public services have correspondingly expanded.

The government is subjugating a fair wage policy to an expanding public service, Mr. O'Connor charged.

"It would appear that human values are of little concern."

The average wage of government employees is $38 below the average industrial wage in the province, Mr. O'Connor said.

MONTE ROBERTS

Let us off caps and give three rousing cheers for the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

Such a suggestion, in this space, may come as a shock to loyal constituents, who are aware of the fact I rarely say hurrah for the Chamber of Commerce.

But in this case, the cheers are richly deserved.

I am referring, of course, to the Chamber of Commerce plan to introduce those who deal with tourists to the tourist attractions of this area.

A conducted bus tour, in which 400 to 600 persons will participate, is planned for Wednesday of next week. The Chamber of Commerce hopes that restaurant and hotel people, and others who are in frequent contact with visitors, will attend and thus know better whereof they speak when they suggest places to go and things to do.

This is by long odds the most constructive step in tourism I've seen since I arrived back here a half dozen years ago.

And I speak with authority when I speak of knowledge of tourist attractions.

With all modesty, I think I can lay claim to the free-style championship, ignorance of tourist attractions division.

I know less about Victoria's tourist attractions than anybody I know.

Among the many local tourist attractions I have not visited are Butchart Garden, the Gonzales historical monument which commemorates I know not what, and the Bert Thomas plaque at Saxe Point.

Mind you, I am an old hand at not visiting tourist attractions. In Toronto, for instance, I successfully failed to visit the top of the Commonwealth's tallest building, or tour Casa Loma, or watch the stock exchange in action.

In Montreal, the horse-drawn carriages which tour Mount Royal missed my business.

In New York, Grant's Tomb, the Empire State Building, the Battery, and Zaza Gabor were only a few of the tourist attractions I failed to see.

And, of course, in London, England, I failed to see the tower. But this may be because I've never been in London, England.

The point I am making is this: I know all about ignorance of tourist attractions.

And out of the wealth of my ignorance, I am glad to see the Chamber of Commerce is doing something to eliminate similar ignorance on the part of those who play host to tourists.

Once again, three rousing cheers, and even a tiger, for the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

WEATHER FINE FOR FISHIN', GOLFIN', JUST PLAIN LOAFIN'

Good weather for the weekend, with sunny skies and moderate temperatures, was promised today by weatherman William Mackie.

He said storms moving toward this coast were being deflected toward California, and that the cloud they left behind them in the morning was being "burned up" by the sun.

"The sun is higher now and gaining strength," he said. "For instance, Sunday morning will be cloudy, but it will be clear by afternoon."

Preserve Lake Park Ash Demands of City

If Victoria refuses to sell Saanich its Beaver-Elk Lake property, then the city should dedicate the land to park use for posterity, Saanich Reeve Arthur Ash suggested today.

Saanich has bid to buy the land from the city in order to dedicate it for park purposes, but so far has been turned down flat by Victoria city council.

"Victoria should not demand its pound of flesh, but enter into a spirit of co-operation to develop this property as a Greater Victoria park," Mr. Ash said.

He said, considering the site is one of the most promising for development of playground, park and beach, "it is difficult to understand the attitude of Victoria city council in refusing to negotiate . . ."

The city "refuses to do anything about it, and sits back ready to extract a pound of flesh when they think the time is opportune, a rather dog-in-the manger attitude.

"We are all agreed the area should be set aside for park purposes—one of the few remaining green belts in the centre of Greater Victoria . . ." the reeve said.

He suggested after dedication by the city, the three municipalities of Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt join in developing the property.

This would "ensure for all time a permanent park for which present and future generations would appreciate the foresight of those in authority now."

6,507 City Stay-at-Homes Victims of Mock A-Attack

Total of 6,507 persons who refused to leave their homes were dead or injured today following a hypothetical "enemy attack" which levelled most of the HMC Dockyard area.

The mock attack on Victoria was part of an all-Canada Civil Defence paper exercise which concluded at noon today.

According to Greater Victoria CD co-ordinator Roger Peachey, a "guided missile" lobbed from an enemy submarine at 3.30 a.m., devastated the vital area, leaving 1,540 dead, 650 seriously wounded and not expected to live, 2,817 suffering from effects of radiation, and another 1,500 with various minor injuries.

"Casualties" were rushed to city hospitals for treatment after four monitoring teams had surveyed the destruction later this morning. The attack theoretically wiped out everything within a mile's radius. There was no damage to the downtown area.

"The exercise was very successful as far as we are concerned," Mr. Peachey said. "Evacuation was carried out smoothly with very little hold-up."

YWCA HEAD RESIGNS POST

Six Injured In Traffic Mishaps

Overnight traffic smashes sent six persons to hospital, two of them with head injuries.

Jack Lewis, 21, and Dick Morrison, 41, both of Keating, were admitted to Royal Jubilee and St. Joseph's Hospitals respectively and are reported in good condition recovering from head injuries received when thrown from a motorcycle on Patricia Bay Highway.

SOFT SHOULDER

Saanich police said the two were riding near Beaver Lake Park at about 1 a.m. when the motorbike apparently struck a soft shoulder and went out of control.

The men were thrown off to the side of the road.

At 7.10 p.m. cars driven by Alvin Schlecht, 1746 Pembroke, and Fred Charles Alwyn, 2533 Graham, were in collision at Kings and Blanshard, injuring three passengers.

Treated at Jubilee and discharged were Mrs. B. Alwyn, 20, 2533 Graham, who received a leg injury; Barry Rushworth, 22, 2615 Blanshard, hand, head and side injuries, and George Ludlow, 22, 1746 Pembroke, side and arm injuries.

An eight-year-old cyclist, Brian Paul, son of Dr. G. M. Paul, 1895 Lansdowne, received knee and facial injuries and was discharged after treatment at Jubilee following collision with a truck driven by Louis Yen, 537 Cormorant, at Lansdowne and Westdowne at about 7.14 p.m.

Major Speeches Here Next Week

Pearson, Knowles Coming As Campaign Speeds Up

The June 10 federal election campaign moves into high gear in British Columbia next week with a number of major speeches scheduled.

Highlight locally will be the address of External Affairs Minister Lester Pearson in Central Junior High School Tuesday night.

It is presumed Mr. Pearson will touch on the thorny Suez issue, which became a full-blown election controversy this week after National Social Credit leader Solon Low charged in Victoria that Canada had threatened to withdraw from the Commonwealth at the height of the crisis.

Local Liberal candidates Alistair Fraser and Dr. Frank Fairey will speak on the same platform.

The week opens Monday night in the Central Junior High Auditorium with the appearance of Stanley Knowles, CCF whip in the last parliament.

He will be speaking in support of CCF standard-bearers Dr. J. M. Thomas and Victor Williams.

Premier Bennett gets into the fray Wednesday night when he addresses a public meeting at Nanaimo in the Plaza Hotel Ballroom.

Elsewhere in the province, other federal cabinet ministers will be active.

Trade Minister C. D. Howe will be campaigning in the Vancouver area Monday and Tuesday. He will not be in Victoria.

Other Liberal ministers stumping the province next week include Agriculture Minister James Gardiner, Defence Minister Ralph Campney and Fisheries Minister James Sinclair.

Mr. Pearson will spend three days in B.C., and will make another major speech in New Westminster Wednesday night.

The following week Health Minister Paul Martin and Finance Minister Walter Harris will travel west.

Mr. Martin will visit Vancouver Island on Thursday, May 23, not next Thursday, as previously reported. He will speak in Nanaimo on the night of May 23 and will return to the mainland following the meeting. He will not be in Victoria.

Mr. Harris will arrive in Vancouver May 20 and spend two days in that area.

In the local area, Esquimalt-Saanich and Victoria candidates will continue their campaigning at meetings throughout the week.

Apart from the CCF meeting, the only other electioneering Monday night is planned by Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, who is off to a fast start in his bid for re-election.

He will be speaking at Metchosin Hall. The rest of the week, Gen. Pearkes will spend on the lower mainland and Okanagan supporting other Progressive-Conservative candidates.

Four B.C. Ministers Invade East

While the federal ministers are on the hustings in the west, B.C.'s provincial cabinet ministers are going to be in the east.

Details of their speaking tours were disclosed today in Toronto. The ministers had been secretive about their campaign plans and refused to tell reporters here when they were leaving.

Works Minister W. N. Chant is already en route to Ontario by train and will speak in Galt Monday night and St. Thomas Tuesday night.

Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi, Labor Minister Lyle Wicks and Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan will also campaign in Ontario in the next week. They are expected to work their way back across the country and hold a number of meetings on the Prairies.

Other cabinet ministers, including Attorney-General Robert Bonner, Labor Minister Ray Williston, Health Minister Eric Martin and Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black are also expected to stump the country for Social Credit in the next few weeks.

Premier Bennett won't say for sure, but he probably will return to Eastern Canada, too.

Other speeches planned by the premier within the province were announced today.

He will be in Prince Rupert May 17, Vernon May 27 and Kelowna May 29.

He will also speak at a Deas Island tunnel ceremony in Vancouver May 22 and at a Socred rally in Victoria May 24.

Stanley Knowles told an election meeting in Kelowna Friday night the Liberal government is trying to "half-satisfy" everybody and is catering to "big interests."

Speaking in support of the sitting Okanagan Boundary CCF member, Owen L. Jones of Kelowna, Mr. Knowles said Trade Minister Howe had made Canada "a happy hunting ground for millionaires" but intended to give people who built the country a "miserly $46-a-month old-age pension."

"Mr. Howe," he said, "believed parliament should just shut up and had said so in Port Arthur recently."

Compensation Denied Carver On Royal Totem

The Workmen's Compensation Board has disallowed a claim by totem carver Henry Hunt, working on a totem to be given Queen Elizabeth, for a compensation following a back injury March 26.

As he, his wife and 10 children are not living on a reservation, they also do not qualify for hospital coverage under the Indian Affairs Department.

Mrs. Hunt today said her husband injured his back while moving a canoe in Thunderbird Park to make room for the new totem.

"It was a type of dislocation. The doctors told Henry he should sleep on a hard mattress for at least six months."

She added that her husband still suffered pain, particularly in damp weather.

The Hunts live at 902 Caledonia.

Chief carver Mungo Martin is also perturbed about the situation.

"If we went on strike over the matter, the Queen would never receive her totem," he said.

The Hunts are annoyed because they were brought to Victoria specifically for totem carving projects, and now, said Mrs. Hunt, they are being given the run-around by the provincial government.

Job Picture Shows Steady Improvement

Employment picture in Victoria continued to improve during the week, with the number of unemployed applicants dropping from 1,808 men and 771 women to 1,745 men and 672 women.

The present total of 2,417 unemployed, though, is about 650 above this time last year, according to J. H. Fox, manager of the National Employment Office here.

Number of orders for men changed little during the week, Mr. Fox said, but the demand for women increased 30 per cent, with waitresses, restaurant help, and retail clerks in the greatest demand.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—Did Laurence Irving, actor son of Sir Henry Irving ever visit Victoria?—A.C.M.

A.—Yes, he and his company played here in 1914. The event was fixed in the memories of many Victorians by the news shortly afterwards that he was among those who lost their lives in the sinking of the liner Empress of Ireland.

Q.—What is a solidus?
—D.M.W.

A.—It is the sloping line that separates numerals of a vulgar fraction and the similar line that separates shillings and pence in the written and printed form of that currency. There was a solidus in the days of the Roman Empire but it was a gold coin originally worth about 25 denarii.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

CARDINAL WYSZNSKI

Polish Cardinal Marks Milestone By Vatican Trip

(Editor's Note: Charles Ridley was the United Press correspondent in Poland during the "Black Church" period in 1950-51. He now is the UP News Editor for Italy and covers the Vatican.)

By CHARLES RIDLEY
UP Staff Correspondent

VATICAN CITY (UP)—The pilgrimage to the Vatican of Stefen Cardinal Wyszinski, primate of Poland, is significant for 75,000,000 Roman Catholics suffering under communist domination.

It is the first time a primate has been able to come from a communist country to Rome. It is an indication that the Polish Red regime failed to bring the church to heel. It reflects the Vatican's faith that in the end the church will triumph over communism everywhere.

But high Vatican sources caution that the situation in Poland differs from other Iron Curtain countries and that even in Poland the church is officially considered to be under the grip of "Atheistic Communism."

"TENUOUS" START

Vatican quarters consider the release of Wyszinski from jail by the new "Independent" Polish Red regime only a "tenuous beginning of a minimum of religious liberty."

In Hungary, Primate Josef Cardinal Mindsenty is neutralized as a church leader. After a brief period of freedom at the start of last October's rebellion, he took refuge in the U.S. Embassy, where he remains today.

In Czechoslovakia, Monsignor Josef Beran, Archbishop of Prague, remains a prisoner in an unknown location.

In Yugoslavia, Primate Aloysius Cardinal Stepinac, though freed from prison, is confined to his native village and cut off from his flock.

In Romania, the small Catholic Church has been virtually wiped out.

13,000 "REMOVED"

In all these countries, thousands of priests remain jailed or banished or have been executed. Catholic quarters say 13,000 have been "removed" in these ways behind the iron curtain.

Seventy-five million of the church's 450,000,000 adherents live in Communist-dominated countries, including Red China, the Baltic States and Eastern Europe. Of these, more than 25,000,000 are in Poland.

The overwhelming religious faith of Polish Catholics showed itself in jampacked churches and shrines throughout the worst terror of the Stalin era. But Vatican sources cite two other reasons why in their opinion Poland stands apart from other Red-dominated lands:

1. In Poland's brief spell of national liberty before Second World War, its regime was more democratic than some other eastern European states.

2. In Poland's 1,000-year history of oppression by neighboring states, the oppressors, like Russia and Prussia, have been bitter enemies of the church. Thus, the sources say, the church became a symbol of resistance to oppression ingrained in the Polish character. Ninety per cent of the population is Catholic.

For these reasons Pope Pius XII and the Holy See cling firmly to their faith in the Polish church.

EXEMPLIFIES MOTHERHOOD

Cathedral Enshrines Determined Robin

A simple, beautiful stone portrayal of a bird and its nest, high above the pews of Christ Church Cathedral here, exemplifies the faith and devotion of motherhood which will be marked Sunday, "Mother's Day."

Back in 1928, when the cathedral was under construction, a determined robin flew in, looked around, and built a nest, hard by the capital of the southeastern pillar of the nave.

All building operations stopped until the robin's family was successfully launched into the world.

". . . the sparrow hath found a house and the swallow a nest for herself, where she may lay her young, even Thine altars, O Lord of hosts. . . ."—Ps. 84.

It was on the scaffolding around the pillar the robin built, actually raising her brood in sanctuary.

When the pillar was completed, this little triumph in faith was carved on the exact spot on the pillar near where the robin had nested.

Next year the cathedral was roofed in.

But today the event of a quarter century and more ago is still commemorated. There sits the robin, in stone, a lovely inspiring symbol of motherhood for all time.

Former Citizen Rev. J. H. Warr Gets B.C. Church

Former Victorian Rev. J. H. A. Warr has been appointed minister of Kamloops United Church in Kamloops, B.C.

Mr. Warr had been serving at John Street Church, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and attending classes at Boston University, Boston, Mass., from which he graduated with a bachelor of science degree in public relations and communications. Mr. and Mrs. Warr and son Dale will return to B.C. early in July.

First Colored Person Ordained By Presbyterians

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP) — Neville Phills of St. Vincent, British West Indies, Friday night became the first colored person licensed and ordained by the Presbyterian Church in Canada. He will be minister at Killarney-Bellafield, Man.

Rt. Rev. Finlay G. Stewart, in the course of an Eastern Canada tour as Presbyterian Church moderator, flew here from Woodstock, N.B., to conduct the service.

Mr. Phills' parents, who live in Sydney, N.S., came to Kitchener for the ceremony. He was graduated this week from Knox College at the University of Toronto.

YOU SAID TO ME-

By ETHEL TULL

A Sunday message of help and comfort for those puzzled, depressed or low in spirit.

You said to me, "What is your objective in life?"

You told me that this question had been recently put to you, yourself, and that you felt it was worthy of thoughtful consideration. I agreed, and to clear my own mind I began to think of what might have happened in your life.

In your youth, you probably had your dreams, as we all do—visions of the part you intended to play on the world's stage. But as you grew older, perhaps circumstances hemmed you in a little, and your outlook began to change. Some of the things you had longed to do became impossible. Perhaps you began to feel that you had never had the opportunity to develop and use the latent powers you knew yourself to possess.

I think I know what your objective in life has now become. All the lovely dreams and visions of youth did not die, for it was the best for which you always looked, and now you have found that the best for you is to live completely by the guidance of God. Your vision is of a world drawn together under one perfect Leadership. You see a society of new men and women, honest with each other in every detail of life—sharing, instead of grabbing—with purity of motive — loving unselfishly. You see that the only form of evolution possible for all mankind is the growth in spiritual power through constant communion with God.

You want to join with others to help to build that new world of new men and women, and you do not shrink from the discipline of God as He teaches you how to take from Him the wisdom and knowledge and love that you need, and to pass it on to others, for the change in you must bring change in them. That is how God builds His Kingdom.

That, I think, is your objective in life, and I pray that the power of the risen Lord may be with you, and with all of us who share your vision and your purpose.

St. John's Gospel Linked With 'Dead Sea Scrolls'

TORONTO (CP)—A theologian has suggested that the Gospel of St. John in the New Testament may be the most historically accurate of the gospels.

Professor James Muilenberg of the Protestant Union Theological Seminary in New York told the second annual Institute on Judaism Thursday there is a remarkable similarity between John's gospel and the writings of the Dead Sea scrolls, found in caves by the Dead Sea in Jordan.

The scrolls, written by a community known as the Essenes, contained the scroll of the Book of Psalms, the Book of Leviticus, a paraphrase of the Book of Job, in Aramaic, in ancient Semitic language, and extracts possibly from the works of minor prophets.

Professor Muilenberg said the similarity between the writings on the scrolls and the New Testament gospel indicated the gospel of John is perhaps the most historically accurate of the four works.

"It is possible and quite probable that John was actually a member of the community of Essenes," he said.

The astonishing thing about the scrolls, Professor Muilenberg said, was the extent of which "our texts" agreed with the more ancient writings.

"There is a variance," he said. "But not as great as we expected."

WE WELCOME VISITORS

DIAPER DUTY FOR MOTHER—The "end result," that has to be coped with innumerable times a day, is only one of many things the hands of Mrs. George Rerick, 1116 McKenzie Street, must do for baby Kellie, and her two-year-old sister, Loa, to keep them healthy and happy.

PATCH WORK—Small boys have a faculty of cutting their fingers and mother must be an expert at "patch" work. Young Christopher Kissinger has perfect confidence that the gentle hands of his mother, Mrs. K. T. Kissinger, 365 Ivor Street, will easily cure his wounds.

CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN—Mother's hands wage a constant battle against the dust and dirt that little girls accumulate in their play. She knows it's all part of the business of growing up and learning to keep clean. Mrs. Gordon Jennings' hands give the last-minute touches to dainty lace ruffled dresses and hats on her daughters, Debbie, right, and Barbara, before they go off to Sunday School.

Mother's Hands . . .

So many duties, so many chores, yet mother's hands are never too busy to do one more favor for someone. There's little time for them to rest for there are beds to make; little garments to wash; the ironing to do; buttons to sew on.

Mother's hands must prepare nutritious meals; they must choose nourishing foods and guard the youngsters' health with love and firmness.

Mother's hands wage a constant battle against grime and dirt; they wipe away tears, sooth the troubled heart; coax small fry to down medicine.

At the end of a day mother's hands take on added gentleness as they smooth back unruly curls and touch young foreheads in wordless prayer before the bright eyes are closed in sleep.

On the eve of this Mother's Day, let us be glad that mother's hands were made for service, for being there when they are needed —for helping us learn that life is good when love is shared.

The hands of Mrs. Ada Barner, matron of the B.C. Protestant Orphans' Home, have been chosen to exemplify the selfless service and love that goes into motherhood. She has raised two children of her own, has four grandchildren and for the past 30 years has been mothering hundreds of boys and girls from the ages of 14 months to 17 years, all of whom call her "mother" in love and affection.

Mrs. Barner's hands photographed by Irving Strickland; other pictures by Bill Halkett.

SIT STILL, LITTLE GIRL! The busy hands of Mrs. Howard Smedley, pause in the daily round, to run a comb through daughter Diane's natural curls. There are two older brothers, Brian and Lynn, to share this mother's love.

END OF THE DAY—Mother's hands must tuck little children safely into bed at night; they must smooth pillows, turn out the lights and lull imaginative fears. Mrs. David L. Whittingham, 3216 Aldridge Street, shows how it's done as she says "good-night" to young Dianne. A twin sister Donna is out of sight in an adjoining bed.

"Hiya, fishwife!"

Pastel Leathers Need Special Cleaning Creams

By PENNY SAVER

Light-colored leathers in shoes and handbags are appearing now, to complement your prettiest florals and gay summer cottons. White shoes can be cleaned with your favorite white polish that you use for so many other things, but your pastel leathers need the special care of a good leather cream that won't change the colors. An excellent cream in pale blue, pink, yellow or green costs 35 cents. As well as cleaning and polishing your pastel leathers, it conditions it. You can keep your shoes, bags and belts looking like new with this product.

Imported from Japan to brighten our fashion scene, are gay straw bags, some plain, some fancy. I was quite taken with one of white and gold entwined. A handle that can be put over your arm makes this purse a good summertime travelling companion. Others are in neutral or white straw, with highlights of pastel shells or posies. When attractive straw bags begin to appear, I know it must be summertime.

As usual, my thoughts are turning to food. I think you'll enjoy the instant dip for chips I found. In a foil package is a powdered mixture that you just whip with milk. In no time at all, there is a tasty cheese dip for your chips. These are always good when you're entertaining, and being so easily to prepare, you'll use it often. A package is 29 cents.

A tea towel and apron set of terry cloth is the newest idea for shower gifts or for a brightener for your own kitchen. On white background are gay green and red prints of kitchen utensils. Lilly Archer a Beautiful Bride In Ceremony in New Westminster

A springtime wedding was held recently in Holy Trinity Cathedral, New Westminster, when Miss Lilly Archer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Archer, 1704 Knight Avenue, Victoria, became the bride of Stacey Walter George Maris, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Thomas Maris, Vista Cresent, South Burnaby.

Tall standards of pink-tipped gladioli and mauve iris were placed in the cathedral for the ceremony, and lilies banked the candlelit altar before which Canon L. T. H. Pearson heard the vows.

St. Alban's choir of South Burnaby, under the direction of Vicot Wright, sang traditional selections, accompanied by organist, Frederick Nelson.

Given in marriage by her father, the attractive bride was a picture in a floor-length gown of ivory-toned satin. The molded bodice featured long sleeves, tapering to lily points at the wrists. An inset of delicate lace extended from the modified decolletege neckline into the full, flowing skirt. The back fullness of the graceful, floor-touching skirt swept into a train. A fluted crown of seed pearls and sequins held her waist-length veil of nylon net which misted in three lengths. Her only jewelry was a double-strand necklace of tiny pearls with matching earrings, the groom's gift. Her bouquet was a cascade of red roses and stephanotis.

Maid of honor, Miss Cory Archer, sister of the bride, wore a gown of pale yellow. Her picture hat was of yellow lace and her colonial bouquet of pale pink carnations and stephanotis. Bridesmaids, Miss Stella Maris, sister of the groom, and Miss Pauline Archer, wore gowns of pale blue nylon net. They wore rhinestone studded caps with blue veils and carried bouquets of pink carnations and stephanotis. Bridesmaid, Miss Pauline Archer also wore a gown of pale blue nylon net with matching rhinestone-studded cap and veil and carried a bouquet of carnations and stephanotis. Flower girl, Donna Fosti, in a pink floral nylon frock, scattered rose petals in the bride's path as the bride approached the altar. She wore a white flowered cap.

James Buttar was the groom's best man, and ushers were William Jones and David Stevenson.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at Farden's Lodge, where the toast to the bride was made by Richard S. Lawrence. Serviteurs were Miss Barbara Nelson, Miss Margaret Smith and Miss Iris Taylor and Miss Kathleen Archer.

The newlyweds left for a honeymoon trip to Laguna Beach, Calif. The new Mrs. Maris wore her going-away outfit a beige sheath dress with matching jacket, white accessories and a corsage of orchids.

Mr. and Mrs. Maris will live in Kitimat where Mr. Maris is with the department of public relations, Alcan Company of Canada.

At 1957's June Ball Will Be Seen Frothy Chiffon Summer Evening Gowns

Invitations to the June Ball have been mailed and the finger of fashion points to summer formals. A gown that is soft and filmy comes to mind as you picture a warm June evening, a beautifully decorated ballroom, twinkling lights and lovely music.

Nona

The perfect fabric to create this vision of soft femininity is chiffon . . . yards and yards of chiffon . . . spilling out from empire bandings or floating airily in long panels from the shoulder.

This season chiffon appears in dresses for all hours of the day but under soft lights on the ballroom floor it really comes into its own.

There is only one fabric which drapes more beautifully than chiffon an dthat is silk jersey, which, because of its weight lacks the airy appearance of chiffon. There is only one other fabric which flatters a woman's skin tones more than chiffon and that is velvet, which, of course, is a fall and winter fabric.

Pure silk chiffon is naturally the softest and most expensive of the sheer fabrics. There are, however, many lovely versions of rayon chiffon which have been perfected by the fabric houses and which are quite inexpensive.

Most gowns that you buy have a suitable slip with them but if your gown is very sheer you may feel the need of an extra one. Remember to keep the silhouette soft . . . stiff crinolines have no place beneath a chiffon gown.

With a floaty chiffon dress wear fine delicate jewelry, a softened hair style and tinted satin shoes. Perfume is also a part of the completed picture . . . a light-hearted flower scent cologne for your atomizer and a small vial of the same scent for your evening bag will carry you through the evening on a pink cloud.

The Question Box:

Dear T.P.P.: Rawhide leather luggage is certainly a little heavier than some which is on the market but for the ordinary woman you can easily pack two pieces with clothes and they will be under the 40-pound air allowance. I think you will find English saddle soap about the best thing to use for a cleaner.

Fair-haired Kay Rogers and brunette Mickey Hill-Tout model two lovely gossamer chiffon gowns by Ceil Chapman. Kay's gown, an incredibly slender column of pale pink, has a full-length flowing panel cascading from one shoulder. The full skirted blossom white gown worn by Mickey has a softly draped bodice and a wide waistline of wrapped chiffon.

How to Make Tasty Salad Dressings That Add a Touch of Perfection

Everyone seems to have their own special way of making salad dressing or mayonnaise, and most ways seem to need a lot of different ingredients. As a short-cut to salad preparation, I used to keep all these fussy little ingredients together on a small tray, which was lifted from the pantry shelf to the sink bench at a moment's notice. This tray always had its quota of olive oil, tarragon vinegar, cayenne pepper, chive salt, dill seeds (with a little pepper-mill to grind them) and a small bottle of rosewater (for fruit salads).

OLD-FASHIONED SALAD CRUETS

The long, rather elegant glass-topped bottles of the cruet stand are again in fashion, taken off the stand and placed on either side of "tossed salads" when served at the table from a large central bowl. (And you don't need to throw out those rather ugly stands, either! I painted mine white and it held four little cactus pots neatly in one corner of the hall; or, with the top inverted, one large potted fern!)

LITTLE TRICKS WITH SALADS

Here are a few additions to salads which you will enjoy, especially if you grow your own herbs: Orange mint for rubbing round the salad bowl; (it is a little too "scented" for most tastes when used whole in salads); lemon balm for fruit salads; rosemary tips (fresh) cut into "dots" and mixed with fruit (rosemary is particularly tasty in apple and nut salads); candied angelica stalks or leaves, cut up and sprinkled over dried fruit salads; dill seed with processed cheese, and basil dotted over tomatoes topped with cottage cheese.

HERB SALAD DRESSING FOR SLIMMING

Two-thirds cup salad oil, 1 cup herb vinegar, 2 tablespoons grated lemon rind, 1 teaspoon freshly ground pepper, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, 1 tablespoon minced fennel, 2 teaspoons celery salt, 1 teaspoon oregano or marjoram, 1 teaspoon ground chervil, 1 teaspoon dry mustard. Combine all ingredients well. Shake before use. Serve with any salad.

(Next week I'll give you the recipe for the herb vinegar mentioned, and instructions for making tarragon vinegar.)

Christ Church Cathedral Scene of Lovely Ceremony

In a candelit ceremony last evening in Christ Church Cathedral, Miss Joanna Jenkinson exchanged wedding vows with William Ingram McMillan. Dean Brian Whitlow performed the ceremony. Organist was Graham Steed.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Jenkinson of Michel, B.C., and the groom, the son of Mrs. Mae McMillan and the late Mr. Lauchie McMillan, Nanaimo.

Given in marriage by W. H. F. Sands, the bride was charming in a floor-length gown of brocaded satin fashioned with lace bodice, mandarin neckline and lily point sleeves. Her floor-length veil was held to a dainty Juliet cap. She carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations. Her only jewelry was a small gold cross.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Norris Elphick, Richmond, B.C., sister of the bride, wore a gown of mauve net over taffeta with a small mauve headdress trimmed with sequins. She carried a cascade of yellow carnations.

The groom had his brother, Jack McMillan, as best man and ushers were Charles Kules, Nanaimo, and Ian Dyke, Victoria. During signing of the register, Miss Nerys Preece sang "O Perfect Love."

A reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. F. Sands, 1026 Fairfield Road, where Hon. Wesley D. Black proposed the toast to the bride. A three-tier wedding cake in pink tulle centred the bride's table. White candles in silver holders and lily of the valley completed decorations. Mrs. C. Akenhead, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. J. McMillan, aunt of the groom, presided at the tea table.

For her travelling ensemble, the bride chose a charcoal grey suit with white accessories. Following a honeymoon trip on the Island, the newlyweds will live at 1334 Harrison Street.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

We often hear women say, "Why would I need to take exercises? I get plenty of it doing my housework! It it true that women in the home is on her feet a lot of the time and that she does get more exercise than the woman who sits at a desk most of the day.

Nevertheless, the exercise which is truly valuable whips up the circulation and uses the large muscle groups as they are employed in special exercises. Many women who seem busy actually lead rather sedentary lives when looked at from this viewpoint.

They may spend much time sewing, at club meetings, committee meetings, church meetings, school meetings, luncheons, bridge and the theater. They do not get maintained physical exercise at any period during a busy day. Their exercise consists of dashing in between sitting-downs.

I know that time is at a premium but why not count an exercise plan in on your daily time budget? If you will do this I feel sure you will find that many of your defects in complexion and figure will disappear. You also will notice a big uptake in energy and a loss of tension.

Just 20 or 30 minutes a day will be beneficial. Start in with a shorter period and work up to this, resting in between exercises for a few moments whenever you need to do so. Today I would like to give you a few easy motions.

1. Stand tall. Walk in place lifting the knees high up in front of you. Do not bend the knees under you but lift them in front of you. Assume good posture while doing this—spine straight, abdomen in and hips under.

2. Stand tall, arms hanging at sides. Lift the arms sideward-upward as you rise high on your toes. Clap your hands overhead. Lower arms to sides and heels to the floor. Reach for the ceiling on this one so that you feel the stretch. Do not allow the chin to push forward. Lift it slightly.

3. Stand with the left side toward the wall and the left hand on the wall. Swing the right leg forward and backward, reaching as far in each direction as comfortable. After a while turn the right side toward the wall and swing the left leg forward and backward. Keep knees stiff.

If you would like to have my six introductory exercises, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 25. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

James-Shoemaker Wedding

Dr. F. E. H. James conducted a wedding ceremony in Metropolitan United Church this afternoon, in which his son, Francis Trevor James, took Barbara Anne Shoemaker as his bride. Dr. James was assisted by Rev. E. Laura Butler.

Tall baskets of white lilac decorated the church for the wedding of the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Shoemaker, 221 Linden Avenue, and the son of Dr. and Mrs. James. Forget-me-nots and narcissi marked pews of the church, which was decorated by the Metropolitan Flower Guild.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was a picture in her Empire-style gown of white crystal charm taffeta with scoop neckline and full, floor-length skirt. Bodice and fitted sleeves were of lace. A tiara of pearls and sequins held her finger-tip veil of illusion and she carried a white nurse's testament overlaid with white roses and heather.

Miss Grace Shoemaker was maid of honor for her sister and Mrs. K. Robertson and Miss Kathleen James were bridesmatron and bridesmaid, respectively. Their gowns were styled on princess lines, with waltz-length skirts and V-necklines, Miss Shoemaker's in deep turquoise, Mrs. Robertson's and Miss James' in peach taffeta. They carried cascade bouquets of purple and apricot violas with strands of glacier ivy.

Miss Linda Baker, flower girl, wore a peach taffeta frock with lace and floral trim and carried a basket of mixed spring flowers.

Glenn Valde, Vancouver, was best man and Kenneth James, brother of the groom, Paul Martinson and Lyle Robertson were ushers.

Mrs. F. H. Godley sang "A Wedding Prayer" during signing of the register. Organist was F. H. Godley. At a reception in Olde England Inn, the bride's mother wore a two-piece French blue silk faille dress with rose and navy accessories and corsage of little princess roses, to receive guests. Mother of the groom wore beige silk brocade with copper toned accessories and corsage of coral gladioli.

The bride's uncle, C. H. Shoemaker, Vancouver, proposed the toast, and the newlyweds cut a three-tier wedding cake which was flanked by silver candelabra on a lace cloth.

Sylvia Ann Gill Wed In St. John's Church

Last evening in St. John's Anglican Church, Miss Sylvia Ann Gill was a lovely picture in a bridal gown of traditional white, as she was escorted to the altar by her father. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gill, 2890 Inez Drive, she exchanged wedding vows with Mack William Paul Calder, son of Mrs. W. Wickware, Tomahawk, Alta., in a ceremony performed by Canon George Biddle.

Pink and white snapdragons were placed at the chancel rail and mixed spring flowers and blossoms on the altar. Organist was Frederick Chubb and soloist, D. Rogers, sang "The Lord's Prayer."

The bridal gown styled on princess lines was of lace over satin blending into a bouffant skirt of nylon net. A matching empire line jacket topped her strapless gown and was fashioned with a mandarin collar and lily point sleeves. Rich embroidery of iridescent sequins and pearls highlighted the neckline and the martingale styled peplum. Her ensemble was completed with a double crown headdress of matching trim of sequins and pearls, from which misted a chapel veil. The cascade bouquet was of red rapture roses and lily of the valley. Her only jewelry was a pair of cultured pearl earrings, a gift of the groom.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Roberta Mawer; maid of honor, Miss Anita Baird, and bridesmaid, Miss Diane Price, were gowned alike in lace over taffeta dresses of yellow, blue and pink respectively. They wore matching feather bandeaux.

Mrs. Mawer carried a bouquet of mauve gladioli blooms and Miss Baird and Miss Price carried bouquets of carnations and hyacinths in pink and blue. Flower girl, Miss Bonnie Mawer wore a blue nylon frock embossed with pink flowers, a pink rosebud bandeau and carried a basket of mixed spring blossoms.

The groom had W. Moeckl as best man and ushers were W. W. Gill and J. D. T. Price.

A reception was held at Club Tango, Oak Bay, where the bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake topped with lily of the valley and trimmed with white tulle and pink rosebuds. White candles in silver holders were placed on either side of the cake. White lilacs and blue and yellow iris decorated the room. G. B. McKenzie proposed the toast to the bride.

For her going-away outfit, the bride wore a pale blue fitted suit with pink hat and gloves, and navy shoes and purse. Her corsage was of pink rosebuds and feathered carnations. Following a honeymoon trip to Santa Barbara, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Calder will live in the Gorge View Apartments.

QUICK-COLOR EXERCISE

IS SHE OLD OR YOUNG?

Denise is coy about telling her age, but we can give you a hint: Her age now is the same as the difference between five times her age five years ago and five times her age five years from now. What is her age?

See if you can solve it without using pencil and paper.

Answer: She is fifty years old.

There seem to be several figures present in the diagram above, but some of these will quickly disappear if you shade in the spaces, according to the following color indicators: R stands for Red. B is for Blue, and G for Green. Y designates Yellow; V, Violet; BR, Brown.

Why is tennis such a noisy game?

Answer: Because every player raises a racket.

A SHOPPING BOG

In the new shopping centre near the railway station in Outer City there are four shops on the first floor and apartments above.

The hardware man is next door to the baker.

The baker has never met the owner of the shop next door but once.

The grocer buys his newspapers next door.

The news-dealer's mother runs the shop next door to the grocer's.

The baker's right-hand neighbor is over 70.

Solution: News-dealer, grocer, hardware-dealer, baker.

POETRY THAT FIGURES

Here's a poem that makes sense only if you translate it literally. Can you figure it out?

To one-fifth of yacht,
To one-fourth of shot,
Affix one-sixth of nibble;
To one-third of dew,
To one-fourth of slew,
Annex one-fifth of sibyl;
Unite the whole and you will then survey
A network spread for unsuspecting prey.

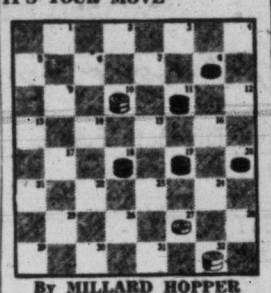
Answer: The word cobweb.

GIVE YOUR TONGUE A TESTING

David Doldrum dreamt he drove a grey dragon dangerously. But Dave disclaims rallying rabid dragon devotees to determintal driving.

Solution: 1. Pine. 2. Oak. 3. Larch. (If you said "poplar," you're wrong, for the tree's name is spelled poplar).

IT'S YOUR MOVE



By MILLARD HOPPER

White is four turns removed from a win in this setting. White moves first, traveling up the board. If you can solve it in less than a minute, you're a real sharpie at the game.

Solution: White 10-15, Black 19-10, White 27-24, Black 20-27, White 32-23-14-7-16, Black 8-12, White 16-19.

FIND THE THREE TREES

The name of at least one common tree is concealed in each of the following sentences. They are found by joining two adjacent words or parts of words. Can you find all three?

1. After taking a nap, Inez felt refreshed.

2. Tom gave Otto a knife in return for a kite.

3. Because she's so popular, Charlotte has more invitations than she can accept.

Solution: 1. Pine. 2. Oak. 3. Larch. (If you said "poplar," you're wrong, for the tree's name is spelled poplar).

RIDDLES

How does a fire show it's angry?

Answer: By flaring up.

Why is the life of a penniless man so monotonous?

Answer: Because he had no change.

WATCH FOR...

Waldo's Corner

By WALDO SKILLINGS
Social Credit Candidate for Victoria

The idea of me, Waldo Skillings, appearing in Victoria newspapers as a columnist is certainly different. I do not qualify as a writer and I won't be classed with the outstanding men on The Times and The Colonist who are writing daily columns.

At the same time I would like to tell the voters of Victoria my views on some of the election issues in the campaign, and this is an effective way of reaching you.

It is interesting to note that the fire of all other political parties and their supporters in the Victoria area is being directed at Social Credit. It proves one point—that Social Credit is the party to beat.

★ ★ ★

I am amused at the sudden and intense interest that has developed over the two-party system in Canadian politics. It's funny that the need for a two party system was so completely overlooked during the provincial election campaign.

The two-party system will return to Canada, as it has to Britain, when we have two strong and dynamic parties in this country. There isn't much strength in a worn-out machine.

★ ★ ★

Every vote for Social Credit is a vote for:

(1) Adequate old-age pensions,

(2) Lower income taxes,

(3) A new, effective housing program,

(4) Removal of the "tight money" policy.

The Liberal theme in this campaign is "let's hold on to what we have."

That's some platform for a growing country!

WALDO SKILLINGS,

Your Social Credit Candidate, will report on the major political issues...

Misdirection Claim In Cemetery Appeal

The Public Utilities Commission "misdirected themselves on points of law" in granting permission to an eastern Canadian firm to establish a garden-type cemetery at Goldstream, the B.C. Appeal Court was told Friday.

D. M. Gordon, QC, appealed on behalf of the Colwood Cemetery Company against a decision by the Commission and the provincial cabinet last February to grant a certificate of convenience and necessity to Memorial Gardens Association (Canada) Ltd. of Toronto.

The company proposes to build its garden cemetery on 30 acres of former farm land located a few hundred yards south of the Island Highway and east of the Goldstream road.

Fourteen property owners in the Goldstream area are also protesting the new cemetery.

BASIS OF CASE

"The Public Utilities Commission handed down many reasons for granting this certificate and we base our case on these reasons," Mr. Gordon told appeal judges Mr. Justice Sidney Smith, Mr. Justice H. W. Davey and Mr. Justice F. A. Sheppard.

Mr. Gordon contended that the commission erred:

1. In holding that the company qualified for a certificate as an owner of land in Victoria because its president held an option to buy.

2. In granting a certificate to a company unqualified by (a) not being a provincial company or registered as an extra-provincial company (b) by not being a cemetery company.

Dealing with the president's option to buy, Mr. Gordon said: "Until he has paid the purchase price, he has no more right on that land than has a perfect stranger . . . a person who has an option to buy may not necessarily take it up."

"But," interposed Mr. Justice Davey, "he can control the use to which the land is put while he holds the option."

Mr. Gordon emphasized that the same company had been refused permission to build garden cemeteries in Saanich and Sidney by the local municipalities.

MANY LAWYERS

The appeal court was crowded with lawyers when the hearing opened today and Mr. Justice Smith commented: "We are anxious to proceed with this big case which lies ahead of us."

It is expected to last three days.

Public hearings before the PUC last December erupted in a storm of protest from other Victoria cemetery owners and local residents.

The commission rejected an argument that, because a water main runs under the proposed cemetery, the city's water supply would be polluted by seepage.

Local residents objected that the cemetery would harm local businesses including dine and dance hall, beer parlor and auto courts.

Royal Oak Cemetery and Colwood contended there was no need for another burial ground in Greater Victoria.

Williston to Act As 'Observer' At Hydro Talks

Lands Minister Ray Williston will act as "observer" for the B.C. government at discussions between the U.S. and Canadian federal governments on the Columbia River.

The talks will open in Washington, D.C., May 19, and Mr. Williston said today he will fly there with Federal Resources Minister Jean Lesage from Ottawa.

He will be accompanied by A. F. Paget, provincial water rights comptroller, and Gordon Kerr, hydraulics engineer with the land department who has specialized in a study of the Columbia.

Principal issue to be discussed at the conferences is downstream benefits accruing to the U.S. by construction of dams on the Columbia in B.C.

SWINDLERS' APPEAL DISMISSED HERE

'Too Many Sharp Practices' In Real Estate, Court Told

What was described as "a carefully thought-out" real estate swindle had its sequel in the B.C. Appeal Court here Thursday afternoon.

The judges dismissed an appeal by two men who are now serving 18 months apiece in penitentiary for defrauding a former Saskatchewan farmer of $3,500 in a Vancouver housing deal.

The men, Peter R. Burlock and John Cependa, were found guilty of defrauding Mark Nelson Albertson over the sale of a house at 1954 Napier Street, Vancouver, last year.

S. J. Remnant, QC, for the Crown, insisted that too many sharp practices are being carried on in the real estate business "and it is time we had a house cleaning."

Mr. Remnant said when the house was advertised for sale Burlock and Cependa approached the owner, Arsene Guerier, and offered to find a buyer.

Later they returned to the house with a spurious offer signed by a man named Chalus to buy the house for $11,250 including a commission of $500. This was accepted by Guerier.

Cependa then inserted this notice in a newspaper:

"$3,000 Bonus! $3,950 cash buys second mortgage of $6,950 being repayable at $65 a month at 7 per cent interest with a five-year clause. This is hot! So act quickly—John Cependa."

Mr. Albertson, former Saskatchewan farmer, agreed to buy the mortgage at the slightly reduced figure of $3,500.

RIFE IN VANCOUVER

Mr. Remnant recalled that the trial judge, Mr. Justice R. A. Sargent, had said:

"The practice of inflating values so as to create a second agreement and sell the inflated consideration at a substantial discount is rife in Vancouver."

Richard Anderson, appearing for Cependa, said the 18 months' sentence was "too severe." He added that Cependa had been studying to become a lawyer.

"This sentence means he is no longer able to realize his ambition and is no longer able to revert to his former occupation as a real estate agent," Mr. Anderson said.

Thomas Dohm, counsel for Burlock, submitted that he did not realize the "import" of what he was doing.

$25 Fine for Failing To File Income Tax

Richard Stanley Stratford, Langford, was fined $25 and $5.50 costs in Colwood RCMP court Friday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to file a 1955 income tax return.

The visiting Eagles will not take part in the parade May 20 but the Seattle band will hold a concert at Veterans' Hospital Sunday, May 19.

Canadian Explorer's Body Found

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP)—The bodies of Col. Leonard Clark, Canadian writer and explorer, and Richard Macklin, American miner and geologist, were recovered Monday, it was learned here today.

Last Saturday their boat, carrying $500,000 in mining equipment and machinery, capsized in a waterfall on a trip from Cuidad Bolivar to the Caroni territory of Venezuela.

Clark, 50, was a member of the Southwest Research Institute of America. Macklin, 35-year-old vice-president of Strategic Minerals Incorporated, California, was a native of Madison, Wis.

Clark was the author of a number of books, including The Rivers Ran East and A Wanderer Till I Die.

Late last year Clark and a companion claimed the discovery of a new river route into Brazil from the headwaters of the Essequebo River, in the British Guiana hinterland. Their diamond expedition passed through here nearly three months ago bound for the Venezuelan border.

NEW YORK (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham's 6½-week series of meetings here is expected to cost $900,000, budget figures at his New York crusade headquarters show.

HOT STUFF

By Maurice Humber

I've mentioned our gardener, whose name is "Wong."
He's as old as time . . . and he came from Hong-Kong;
Well, some vegetable seeds he wanted to stir,
So a fistful he bot from Brackman-Ker.
He looked at the pictures, & his lips did smack
He'd spent "60 sen" . . . so I paid him back.
"Oh . . . he velly nice," . . . (he was still selling me.)
"I ketchum onion . . . radishee . . . & cooking-pea."
Then I looked at a package, and sed in some scorn,
"It's too cold in Oak Bay, to grow that corn."
He sat down on his heels & started a row,
And simply replied,—"he all-light . . . HE grow."
Well, he planted his seeds, & they all came thru,
And I'll have a radish for each one of you.
'Cause he planted 4 rows, & he poured 'em tight,
And thinning them out is NOT his delight.
So drop me a line, if you like 'em hot,
'Cause a million radishes I surely have got.
And his corn shoots too, in the sun do shine,
So I think his brown thumb, is much greener THAN MINE.

What Can You Expect of Kimberchiks?
This Leghorn strain cross netted $4.23 INCOME OVER FEED COST in the three random sample tests in which it was entered in 1955-56. In 18½ months of age it averaged 264 eggs per pullet; in 16½ months it laid 249 eggs per pullet. The average livability is 93.6% with eggs weighing 26 ounces per dozen during the first laying year. In all the 1955-56 random sample tests it was first for early egg size.
The K-137 Kimberchik does very well in cages or on floor litter. In some areas 90% of the Kimber Leghorns are on wire.

Decision Soon On Sculpture For B.C. Youth

Final decision whether to put up a $20,000 centennial sculpture on the grounds of the Legislative Buildings will be made within the next few weeks.

The first of three steps has been passed with narrowing down of 40 entries in a province-wide contest to three finalists by an eight-man panel of judges.

The panel will submit a report to the Centennial board, which will in turn make a recommendation to the provicial cabinet.

It's possible that the project will be dropped entirely.

Or that the Centennial people go outside the finalists and give the commission to an outside artist.

Laurie Wallace, Centennial Committee chairman, said today nothing has been decided.

"The board members haven't seen any of the models yet," he said.

Wages Boost Unknown Here

Surprise announcement today that wage increases ranging from 5 to 6 per cent have been received by 13,000 federal civil servants in B.C. "has no foundation in fact," G. K. Sammon, national president of the DVA Employees' Association, said.

The announcement, made by J. J. Waddell, of Vancouver, representative for Amalgamated Civil Servants, followed a government notice Friday that 7,000 civil servants in "professional classes" will receive increases of 4½ to 12 per cent, effective May 1.

There was no mention of pay boosts for government workers in other categories.

Mr. Sammon said today the DVA employees' national secretary in Ottawa checked the report from Vancouver with heads of the Civil Service Commission and "they had never heard of it."

ST. LAURENT SPEAKS MONDAY IN QUEBEC CITY

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister St. Laurent today was looking to a quiet weekend at his home in Quebec City before going forth again to election campaign battle with a speech there Monday night.

For CCF leader M. J. Coldwell and Social Credit chief Solon Low the weekend would also be a time for easing up a little before further vote-seeking onslaughts. Only the Conservative leader, John Diefenbaker, among the party leaders, was on the road today.

250 Dentists Start Parley Here Thursday

More than 250 B.C. dentists are expected to attend the 41st annual convention of the British Columbia Dental Association which opens at the Empress Hotel next Thursday and continues till Saturday.

Host for the convention is Victoria dentist Dr. W. B. Milburn, president of the B.C. Dental Association. Convention committee chairman is Dr. R. H. Turner of Victoria.

Representatives of the profession in Washington, Oregon and California will attend.

BLACK TO SPEAK

Provincial Secretary Wesley Black will give the opening address Thursday morning.

In the evening Dr. Gordon M. Shrum, OBE, head of the department of physics, University of British Columbia, will be chief speaker at a banquet in the Crystal ballroom.

Mrs. W. B. Milburn, Victoria, is in charge of a ladies' convention for the dentists' wives.

Rain Dampens Fires

BOSTON (AP) — Rainfall, heavier and sooner than expected, put a virtual halt today to forest fires that have seared the northeast for the last week.

FOR CENTENNIAL

City Decides Thursday On Joint Talks

A special meeting of city council Tuesday will decide whether to join again with Esquimalt, Oak Bay and Saanich in unified Centennial project talks.

Mayor Percy Scurrah said Friday the matter had been placed on the Tuesday agenda following advice the Jubilee Hospital wing project, and perhaps the auditorium project, are now impossible.

It was learned Thursday any project chosen must be completed and dedicated in 1958. This was taken as ruling out the hospital and only hope for the auditorium would be building of one section to the extent of the Centennial monies, dedicating it, and completing the job in the future with funds from other sources.

The mayor said last week, as far as he was concerned the "door was still open to further talks."

He said it would be a shame for the municipalities to construct separate memorial projects in 1958 when a major construction to the area could be completed by joint effort.

Somebody's daughter...

It couldn't, of course, be YOUR daughter. This girl has no one to care for her and her unborn child. Both face a future dark with shame and bitterness, fruit of folly and betrayal.

But not without hope. In the havens, homes and hospitals of The Salvation Army the unwed mother and her babe are given compassionate care and the chance to build virtuous and happy lives. Aren't you glad there is a Salvation Army?

To all who have fallen by the wayside from whatever cause, The Salvation Army offers refuge and hope. To equip its faithful workers for these tasks of mercy and restoration, it relies confidently on YOU.

Queen's U.S. Visit Slated in October

INDIA—SLEEPING GIANT—AWAKES

India's battle against poverty, disease and a growing population to become a modern nation is the subject of an intriguing article by Weekend Magazine staff writer Robert McKeown in this issue.

Ottawa Expecting Royal Pair First

WASHINGTON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip are due to visit the United States for about 10 days in early October, according to plans which have been worked out between Washington and London.

Persons close to the negotiations reported today that the Queen's formal acceptance to an invitation from President Eisenhower to come to Washington probably will be received here in two to three weeks. It has been pending for months while officials worked out the details.

Queen Elizabeth and Philip are expected to visit places other than Washington but diplomats said they did not know what towns and cities would make up the itinerary except that it seems certain Jamestown, Va., would be included.

Talk of an invitation to the Queen was started originally by sponsors of this year's celebration of Jamestown's historic past.

Clouded in Official Secrecy

So far all exchanges between Washington and London on the Queen's projected visit have been handled primarily by the United States Embassy in London and have been covered with as much official secrecy as the authorities could muster.

This is normal in the case of an invitation by the president to the chief of another state. Nevertheless word usually gets around and reports have been current for about a year that the president would invite Queen Elizabeth and Philip to Washington and that she would accept.

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada wants the Queen to make this country her first stop in any North American travel plan she has for this year.

Prime Minister St. Laurent made this clear on his return from the Bermuda talks with Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Said Mr. St. Laurent at that time:

"It will be recommended by the United Kingdom government to Her Majesty that if she comes across the Atlantic this year she should visit here first."

Human 'Bomb' Dies

Montreal Madman Was Shot By Policemen

MONTREAL (CP) — Andre Deblois, the "human bomb" whose threats terrorized a section of Montreal two months ago, died today in hospital from effects of a policeman's bullet that ended his bizarre escapade.

The 25-year-old Deblois, rigged out in sticks of dynamite and detonators, terrorized the staff and customers of a Toronto-Dominion bank branch on St. Lawrence Boulevard last March 8.

Threatening to set off the dynamite, Deblois was finally shot by a police constable who got within shooting range and carefully sent a bullet into Deblois' neck.

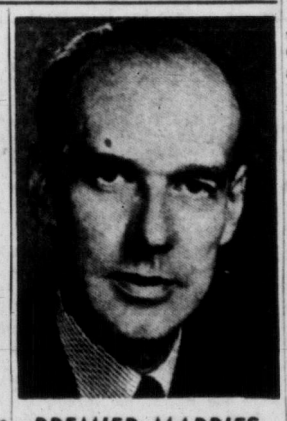
BOMB FOUND IN LOCKER

Deblois was taken to hospital where he told police he had planted a bomb in Central Station in downtown Montreal. Police found the home-made bomb in a locker. Some defect in the alarm-clock arrangement prevented the bomb going off at the set hour—5 p.m., while hundreds of homeward bound workers were passing through the station.

Deblois had been paralyzed from the neck down by the police bullet. He was taken into court on a stretcher March 29 and was sentenced to 10 years in prison.

He pleaded guilty to four charges — theft of a taxi, attempted holdup, possession of 39 sticks of dynamite for the purpose of endangering human life, and placing the bomb in the station.

Later Deblois was taken to the Montreal jail in suburban Bordeaux. He was removed from there last Tuesday to Notre Dame de la Merci Hospital.



PREMIER MARRIES

Premier Robert L. Stanfield of Nova Scotia honeymooned today with the former Mary M. Hall, a judge's daughter whom he married Friday in a Baptist church in Halifax that was kept secret until it was over. Premier Stanfield was a widower with four children aged four to 15.

PM Should Reveal Notes On Suez, Says Tory Chief

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP) — Progressive Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker said here today that he would not believe Canada would withdraw from the Commonwealth over last fall's Suez Canal crisis.

Mr. Diefenbaker, on a barnstorming campaign tour of Northern Ontario, told a press conference on his special train: "It would be as far removed from reality as any government could come."

He made the comments during a reply to queries about a current battle between Social Credit Leader Solon Low and Prime Minister St. Laurent.

PRIVATE FIGHT

Mr. Low was reported to have said at Victoria that the Liberal leader last fall threatened Sir Anthony Eden, then British prime minister, with Canada's withdrawal from the Commonwealth over the Suez Canal crisis. Mr. St. Laurent termed the statement "a downright lie." Mr. Low claims the Victoria report was inaccurate.

But he said at Brandon, Man., Thursday night that a telegram sent last fall by Mr. St. Laurent to Sir Anthony was the major factor in causing Britain and France to halt their intervention in the Israeli-Egyptian dispute. Mr. St. Laurent denied this too and contended that Mr. Low still was not telling the truth about Canada's role in Britain's withdrawal from Egypt.

Asked to comment on the Low-St. Laurent exchanges, Mr. Diefenbaker said: "That's a private fight. I never believe in interfering in others controversies."

EXPLAINS FEELINGS

Mr. Diefenbaker, however, went on to explain his own feelings in the matter. He said he made an effort to obtain a copy of the telegram but Prime Minister St. Laurent refused. He added that the prime minister said Mr. Eden did not want the contents of the telegram published.

He pointed out in the Commons that if the telegram was produced all correspondence, over several months, would have to be produced, and Sir Anthony did not want that," Mr. Diefenbaker said.

"All we've had to date," Mr. Diefenbaker went on, "is a refusal to produce the document. During the first debate he (Mr. St. Laurent) gave general indications of the telegram's content, which was meaningless without that document.

"My own views are that the document should have been produced. The prime minister should not have given his personal views."

Mr. Diefenbaker said he had no information on Canada withdrawing from the Commonwealth. He recalled that External Affairs Minister Pearson had told the Commons that because of the lack of a Commonwealth conference at the time some members were "on the brink of withdrawal."

"I wouldn't believe Canada would withdraw," he concluded.

EGG-SIZE HAILSTONES AS FLOODS HIT TEXAS

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Hailstones the size of eggs piled up 12 inches deep on highways in western Texas Friday night as almost four inches of rain fell in some areas, causing fresh floods.

Telephone lines were struck by lightning and winds of 80 miles an hour left many towns without communications for hours.

Between 80 and 90 per cent of the grain crop in the Norton area of West Texas was ruined by hail.

About 22 homes in Liberty were threatened. Some 500 persons were isolated.

MOTHER REMEMBERS, TOO

Son Remembered For Mother's Day...

DETROIT (AP) — Six-year-old Raymond Podczervinski tossed his school satchel on the kitchen table and ran out to play with some of his five brothers and sisters and neighborhood pals.

That was Thursday and as many a first-grader before him Raymond forgot to take something "real important" from among assorted papers and books in the school bag.

Friday Raymond's mother, Mrs. Bertha Podczervinski, found that "real important" thing. It was a sheet of drawing paper, decorated with a crayoned flower and crudely formed letters that said:

"My dear darling mother, God made all mothers as good and as kind as can be. But when God chose mothers, God gave the sweetest mother to me."

Shortly after Raymond went out to play there was a screech of brakes in front of his home, then a sickening thud. A car had hit him. He was dead on arrival at hospital.

VIOLENCE TAKES HEAVY TOLL

UNEF Officer From B.C. Dies in Egypt Car Crash

OTTAWA (CP) — The army announced Friday night that a Canadian officer with the United Nations Emergency Force was killed Friday in a traffic accident in Egypt and two Canadian soldiers were injured.

Dead is Lieut. Charles Van Straubenzee, 25-year-old officer with the 56th Reconnaissance Squadron, Royal Canadian Armored Corps. His wife, Sheila, lives in Vernon, B.C.

The soldiers, whose injuries were described as not dangerous, were identified in the cable released by the army only as Tpr. O. Kruger, Arvilla, Alta., the driver, and L.Cpl. C. F. Jette, Calgary.

The accident occurred near Rafah, Egypt, when the Ferret scout car in which the three were travelling rolled over after hitting a sandy patch on the road when the driver swerved to avoid a native crowd.

TRAIN-CAR SMASH TAKES 5 LIVES

STE. THERESE, Que. (BUP) —A speeding Canadian Pacific train hit an automobile at a fog-shrouded level crossing four miles west of here Friday night, knocked it into a ditch and killed its five occupants.

Three of the victims, all from Ste. Monique, were members of one family.

The five were identified as Marcel L'Heureux, 27; his son Andre 2; L'Heureux' brother, Yvon L'Heureux, 22; Pauline Belisle, 22; and Lucette Piche, 22.

EX-CONVICT ADMITS CHILD KILLING

MUSKEGON, Mich. (UP) — Police from four cities converged on Muskegon today to question confessed child slayer Herman Barmore about the killings of five other children, three in Chicago.

Barmore, 44, alias Charles W. Ficher, a New York ex-convict and sex pervert, has already admitted the fatal shooting of Peter Gorham, 12, Evanston, Ill., July 5, 1955, near a Boy Scout camp 12 miles north of Muskegon. He said it was an "accident" but authorities call it a sex crime.

BARKEEP RUNS AMOK, SLAYS 3

HOUSTON (AP)—Police said a 36-year-old tavern operator ran amok with a .22-calibre rifle Friday night, killing three persons and seriously wounding another before he was captured.

Police said Tommie Heads, Jr., told them he shot his wife and the other three because of "family troubles."

Killed were Heads' wife, Florence, about 30, Mrs. Emily Jacquette, 70, and Mrs. Priscilla Babin, 40.

THREE BURIED IN GRANARY

ST. BENEDICT, Sask. (CP) —Two men and a child were killed on a farm here Friday when the wall of a granary collapsed, burying them beneath about 50 tons of grain.

Killed were Lawrence Reinhart, 43, his four-year-old daughter Delphine and Mathew Victor, 30, a neighboring farmer.

FALLING LIMB KILLS MOTHER OF THREE

TROY, N.Y. (AP) — A young mother who was expecting her fourth child was injured fatally Friday night when a tree limb fell on an automobile during a windstorm. Her husband and three children escaped with abrasions. Mrs. Theresa Nichols, 31, died in hospital of a punctured liver after the limb smashed the windshield of the car.

TRUCK RAMS CAR; 3 PERSONS DIE

BRANTFORD, Ont. (CP) — A huge trailer truck carrying 16 tons of sugar thundered into the side of an automobile that pulled from a side street Friday night in nearby Mount Pleasant, killing three occupants of the car.

The victims were: Milton Lickers, 52; Arthur Howie, 70, and Howie's daughter, Mrs. Helen Bonnacorso, all of nearby Paris.

Wife Dies While MP Rows on TV

IRLAM, England (AP) — The wife of a Labor member of Parliament collapsed and died Friday night while watching her husband take part in a stormy television program which ended in a brawl.

Labor member Jack Jones was arguing with a union official in a TV studio at Manchester about a recent steel strike. Jones' wife, Olive, sat with friends at her home here and watched the show.

She collapsed as Jones was being booed by members of the studio audience. She had been in poor health for several months.

PRAYER FOR TODAY

Our Father, thy children come to thee not in fear but in faith, not with doubt but with confident expectations. Wilt thou grant us not our desires so much as our needs, not so much what we think is good but what thou dost know is good for us; through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

SOUTHERN COMFORT

Police Get Break Under City's Sun

The new look in Victoria city police is likely to spring up any warm day now.

By order of chief constable John Blackstock, policemen are permitted to stand duty in shirt sleeves, uniform trousers and—shades of California — sunglasses. But the sunglasses mustn't be fancy.

Police union has tried for years to get its membership out of heavy blue serge tunics in the heat of summer, but until recently met with opposition from the police commission which argued police should at all times be fully uniformed.

The new regulation will be implemented at the discretion of patrol sergeants and uniform inspectors and is allowable only if all constables on duty are dressed the same.

Later, police will be issued Sam Browne belts to be worn over shirts and neckties on warm summer days and over tunics the rest of the year.

The chief permitted tunics to be removed on two or three very warm days last summer, but made no standing order.

It will be the first time beat constables are allowed to wear dark glasses, although traffic and motorcycle officers have had the privilege previously.

Two Britons On Trial As Spies

CAIRO (Reuters)—Two Britons accused of spying against Egypt complained today to a Cairo court that they had heard the charges against them for the first time just before the trial resumed.

The two, James Swinburne, 51, Cairo business manager of the Arab News Agency, and James Zarb, 37, Maltese businessman, who have been imprisoned eight months, refused to plead.

Asked by Judge Abdel Lastif if he admitted the charges against him, Swinburne said: "I have only just heard them and I leave my defence entirely in my lawyer's hands." He said he had seen his lawyer only three times, the longest period being 15 minutes.

Two other Britons on trial, John Stanley, 40, of the Prudential Life Insurance Company and Charles Pittuck, 45, of the Marconi Radio Telegraph Co. of Egypt, pleaded not guilty.

Twenty persons are on trial, including four other Britons who left the country before the arrests were made, a Yugoslav and 11 Egyptians. The trial was adjourned until Sunday after the pleas were received.

PALEFACES INVITED

Redskins to Rock To Age-Old Beat

The age-old beat of tribal drums and the modern beat of redskin rock 'n' roll will summon the paleface to Maple Bank Park next week.

Vancouver Island Indian Festival aims to beat out a host of other Victoria Day weekend attractions for a top crowd-pleasing event.

Before the sun is high, about 11 a.m. white man's time, on Sunday, May 19, men and women from many lodges near the great western sea will gather on Songhees Reserve.

They will bring their war canoes, their authentic costumes, their finest athletes, famed choirs, and renowned dancers and a red-hot modern instrumental band which plays Presley-type rhythm in beads and buckskin.

BEAUTIES

They will bring their dark-eyed beauties and will choose the most beauteous among them and name her queen.

They will engage in all manner of contests to find the strongest of the braves, the fleetest of foot, and he who has most endurance in a one-mile foot race. They invite entries from their white brothers.

There will be a time of worship first at 11 a.m. when Rev. J. L. Bradley will sing mass in nature's church where the sky is the roof. And a choir directed by Able Joe, former star of Tzinquaw, will direct it.

Tribal dances at 2 p.m. will feature men and women of the Makah Tribe from Neah Bay, Washington, and a mask dance never before seen by the Canadian public.

Chief Dan George of Maplewood, B.C. (he of the modern band with the sizzling saxophones), will present another group of dancers. There will be a group of dancers too from Yakima.

GOVERNORS' CUPS

Eighteen entries are expected in the international war canoe races. The 11-men crews will compete for cups presented by former lieutenant - governor, Clarence Wallace, and Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross, who speaks for the great white mother.

The women too will race the long canoes before returning to their cooking fires where 300 dozen fresh crab wait to be served, a ton of clams and several tons of salmon await the smoke.

(For the paleface there will be hotdogs too.)

The rubber-shod metal steeds of the visitors will have ample grazing room. President of the festival association, Percy B. Ross, says:

"Yea, 5,000 cars can cluster like locusts in the green fields."

Wampum for admittance to the full program of events is 50 cents, with all papooses under eight free to wander at will.

PUBLIC DEBATE ON PIPELINE

Regnier's Challenge Accepted by Garson

WINNIPEG (CP)—Justice Minister Garson Friday conditionally accepted a challenge to a public debate on the Trans-Canada Pipeline controversy issued by a Liberal who quit the party in protest against government handling of the question in last year's parliamentary debate.

The challenge was issued by Laurier Regnier, former vice-president of the Manitoba Liberal Progressive Association, who has accepted the Progressive Conservative nomination for St. Boniface.

"I will be waiting on the platform of the St. Boniface College auditorium at 8 p.m., Friday, May 17," Mr. Regnier said.

Mr. Garson issued a statement in which he accepted the challenge but reserved the right to change the time and place of the debate and wording of the resolution. He said Mr. Regnier was apparently unaware that such courtesies were usually extended to a person challenged to a public political debate.

He said he already is committed to appear at a joint meeting elsewhere on the night suggested and added that he will issue another statement later on the challenge.

Mr. Regnier offered this resolution as subject for the debate: "Resolved, that the present administration betrayed the principles of parliamentary government in its closure procedure on the pipeline debate in the House of Commons last year."

Dead Rot in Liberal Regime Says Pearkes; Change Due

Dead rot is beginning to creep into the Liberal government after 23 years in office and it's time for a change to the Conservatives, Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, said Friday night.

The Conservative party provides the only alternative to the "approaching dictatorship" of Liberal rule, said Gen. Pearkes, PC candidate in Esquimalt-Saanich.

HELP LIBERALS

"It would also be for the good of the Liberal party," he said, "that the Liberal party return to its own principles."

Gen. Pearkes was speaking at a public meeting in Marigold Hall.

He said Parliament has been "brushed aside" by the present administration, which is governing the country by cabinet order-in-council.

BUSINESS HURT

Gen. Pearkes said the government is piling up a $500,000,000 surplus this year, while at the same time refusing to cut taxes and applying credit restrictions which are hard on small businessmen.

National Leader John Dienfenbaker had pledged the Conservatives to appoint a commission to study the plight of these small businessmen.

A Conservative government would also link pensions to the cost-of-living index to assure the aged, veterans and other recipients of a "reasonable and decent standard of living."

Bargain Prices On Eggs Due To Overstock

Smaller Victoria stores, overstocked with eggs because of a record spring production, are selling two dozen at a bargain price of 85 to 89 cents.

Average price remains at 51 cents per dozen, grade A large.

A government official said Friday 12,000 cases or 360,000 dozen eggs produced in B.C. are moving through registered grading stations.

Provincial government soon will open a $75,000 campaign to sell more B.C. eggs.

AS SNOW MELTS TCA CO-ORDINATES NEW CAMPAIGN

Search for Missing Airliner With 62 Aboard Resumes June 1

By ERWIN FRICKE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—The mystery of Canada's worst aviation disaster, shrouded for five months in the mighty snows of the Cascade Mountains, may be near solution. The snow shroud is melting.

The disaster occurred Dec. 9 when a Trans-Canada Air Lines North Star disappeared at night over the mountains 100 miles east of here with 59 passengers and three crew members aboard.

Not a trace of the 62 persons or the airliner has been found.

BURIED DEEP

For nine days after the North Star disappeared, low clouds and extreme air turbulence thwarted the search. On the 10th day, 50 planes criss-crossed a 1,200-mile area but the silent snow already had been at work.

During the nine days of bad flying weather, 16 to 38 feet of snow—dependong on the altitude—fell in that jungle of rocky spires that makes up the southern British Columbia Cascade range.

But the mountain snowline now is creeping up and TCA held an organizational meeting Friday to lay search renewal plans.

Represented at the meeting were the RCAF, the RCMP, the federal transport department, Okanagan Helicopters Ltd., Aero Surveys Ltd., and the B.C. Mountain Rescue Organization.

PHOTOGRAPH SEARCH ZONE

Later, Norm Donnelly, TCA operations chief here, announced Aero Surveys will photograph a 2,200-square-mile area considered the heart of the search zone. This project will begin near the end of June or start of July.

Last January Aero Surveys covered 1,100 square miles of the same area but, Donnelly said, because a vast amount of snow had fallen, it "was like grasping at straws."

An RCAF search "with at least 12 planes" will concentrate on a 5,000 - square - mile area centred about 9,700-foot Silvertip Mountain, 100 miles east of Vancouver and 200 miles southeast of Hope, B.C.

Donnelly said the plane search will start when snow conditions resemble or are more favorable than those at the time of the plane's disappearance. This is unlikely to be earlier than mid-June.

The mountaineers will be the first to get started. On June 1 they will search 7,000-foot Mount Klesilkwa and Custer Ridge, both just a few miles east of Silvertip.

FOUND FOUR OTHERS

Sqdn. Ldr. George Sheahan, who commands the RCAF's search and rescue squadron here said since the TCA disaster four other planes crashed in the same general area but in each case they were found.

Aircraft searching for those planes were asked also to be on the lookout for the TCA airliner, but no one ever reported the vaguest trace of it.

Earlier, RCAF-directed planes covered 12,000 square miles hunting for the North Star. Ground parties hiked nearly 200 miles of rugged trail and a special Alpine group scaled seven peaks towering to 8,000 feet in attempts to probe fog and snow - shrouded heights.

Many of the individual reports of persons who claimed to have heard or seen the plane were investigated.

Sqdn. Ldr. Sheahan said more than 3,000 reports were received including nearly 500 from persons who merely reported their dreams about the crash.

What is known of the swift tragedy that took the lives of 13 women, two children and 44 men the night of Dec. 9 comes from log books of TCA operations and in an RCAF radar station.

The aircraft was on eastbound flight 810 with its first stop at Calgary. The four-motored plane took off at Vancouver airport at 6 p.m., two hours late because of delays due to bad weather on its westbound flight.

Fifty-seven minutes later, Capt. Allan Clarke, 35-year-old veteran pilot, radioed that a warning device on the instrument panel signalled No. 2 engine was on fire. He shut off the engine and reported he was returning to Vancouver. His position was a few minutes out of Princeton, 130 air miles east of Vancouver; his altitude, 19,500 feet.

A few minutes later, the pilot reported his aircraft riding smoothly. There was no further word of fire. At 7:10 he gave his position "by Hope" and requested clearance to descend to 8,000 feet. Highest mountain peak on the airways track between Hope and Vancouver is 4,500 feet high.

That was the last radio contact with the airliner.

Transport department officials say a navigation error appears to have caused the North Star to crash into a mountain peak.

SINCLAIR PREDICTION

Socred Fate Hinges On Columbia Offer

ABBOTSFORD, B.C. (CP)—Federal Fisheries Minister Sinclair says Premier Bennett's Social Credit government would face defeat if it rejected the federal offer of assistance to develop the Columbia River hydro potential.

"All Premier Bennett has to do is wire Prime Minister St. Laurent and say: 'I'm in favor of private power', and the people of British Columbia would then give their judgment," Mr. Sinclair told a Liberal party rally here Friday night.

PRIVATE GRUDGE

The federal offer of financial assistance in developing the Columbia is based on the work being done by a public power agency.

"The whole thing about it is that Premier Bennett would rather have his private grudge against the federal government than have public development of the Columbia."

Mr. Sinclair denied Premier Bennett's statement that the fisheries minister's speeches about Columbia development have "sabotaged" talks scheduled to start May 19 between Canada and the United States on downstream benefits from the river.

Mr. Sinclair defended his record in conducting international negotiations, recounting his actions at the United Nations, in the collection of European war debts and the drawing up of fisheries treaties with the U.S.

Power Grab on Columbia Aim of Ottawa, Says Tory

REVELSTOKE (CP)—Leon J. Ladner, co-chairman of the Progressive Conservative campaign committee in the June 10 federal election, accused the Liberal government of trying to trap British Columbia into giving up its rights to power resources.

The Liberals aim at getting complete control of the huge potential of the Columbia River, Mr. Ladner said.

He lashed out at a recent Liberal offer to help develop the Columbia, not by subsidies, grants or guaranteed bonds, but as an owner of shares in a Crown company.

Mr. Ladner referred to a speech by Prime Minister St. Laurent in Vancouver last Wednesday offering to develop the Columbia by formation of a federal-provincial Crown company. Mr. St. Laurent had said the province could buy out the federal government's share in the company eventually.

FEDERAL CONTROL

Mr. Ladner said such a company would eventually come under control of the federal government. A licence from the federal government is required to build reservoirs or dams on any river, the Conservative speaker said, and the federal government could regulate construction and operation of international river improvement.

"In plain language, the Liberal party insists that the federal government would become a part owner of our great hydro power development."

BEFORE THE JUDGE By SILENUS

An Everest for Scott

The serene brow of Justice as she sits in calm seclusion in our Court of Appeal was ruffled by a raised eyebrow last Monday. On that day the atmosphere of dignity and repose which so properly exists in our highest court was sadly marred by the intrusion of unwonted emotion; those who have read their newspapers will remember that the shenanigans centred around Mr. Colin Chalmers.

—5th Century Terracotta
SILENUS

Mr. Chalmers, it will be recalled, was the cause of some local excitement when he, by stratagem and force of arms, robbed one of our local banks; robbing banks is one of those youthful pranks upon which the law looks with disfavor, and Mr. Chalmers was in due course brought before the assize jury, convicted of the crime as charged, and sentenced to 20 years in a place where the opportunity to exercise his talents would be denied to him.

For this restriction of his liberty, which he evidently felt to be excessive, he appealed (as was his right) to the Court of Appeal.

Well enough. There are many appeals against sentence brought before the court; this column feels there would be less if more of the appealing section of the populace were aware that the court has just as much power to increase as it has to diminish; but hope, evidently, springs eternal, and so it did in the breast of Colin Chalmers.

ELEMENT OF DANGER

Every person has a right to get his debt to society reduced as much as he can, even though his path is set with danger in the attempt.

So the case was called. Normally no witnesses are heard on appeals, the court taking the view that if it is possible to produce them at the trial, that is the place where they should be heard. Now and again the court will hear a witness itself, if it is shown that his testimony is important and was hitherto unavailable. Very rarely will it extend its discretion beyond that limit, though the power to do so is always there.

This was one of those rare cases. The court let Chalmers call witnesses to his character, even though no attempt had been made to do so before. The results, as everyone knows, were headlines.

It is not often that the glacial sobriety of the proceedings in the Court of Appeal make good copy. Occasionally some conscientious editor will allow an important (but let us confess, unsensational) constitutional matter, or some legal decision of far reaching effect a prominent place in his pages. But as a general rule such items are recorded in the unobtrusive interior of the paper where only the serious minded can find them. Which is a shame, but things being how they are . . . anyway, Monday was hot stuff.

IT WAS A FINE SHOW

What the court perhaps was not prepared for was the entry of Bill Scott upon the scene. Unlike their colleagues of the trial benches, the Justices of Appeal have had no particular occasion to learn the necessity of preparing for the fray when this formidable Quixote takes the field. With a long record of success in making scenes, from the Oak Bay Police Court to the Assizes, he must have been waiting for an opportunity to round off his forensic career in British Columbia, and he did. It was a fine show, and we can only hope that it did the appellant some good.

This column feels that it is only right that some warning be passed to the Supreme Court of Canada in Ottawa, which by now must be looming as a challenge to Bill. It has an uneasy feeling that he will not rest content until he has scaled this last judicial peak. Some day, perhaps, an opportunity (and the fare East) will arise, and then . . . ! As for Chalmers, he is once again sub judice.

LONDON LETTER By WALLACE REYBURN

Bowled Out by a Knee

LONLON—Folks here are unhappy at the news that when this season ends Denis Compton will be finished with cricket. And it is not only those who closely follow the game who feel sad about it; everybody, including women who take no interest in sport, knows all about Denis and this colorful character dropping out of the limelight will make life that much less interesting in these parts.

Reyburn

Reason he has had to announce his retirement at 38, with what would normally have been several more years of cricket ahead of him, is because of the famous "Compton knee." Interesting thing about the knee with which everyone here is familiar, including my Torontonian wife, is that although all know about it, few know how it got started.

★ ★ ★

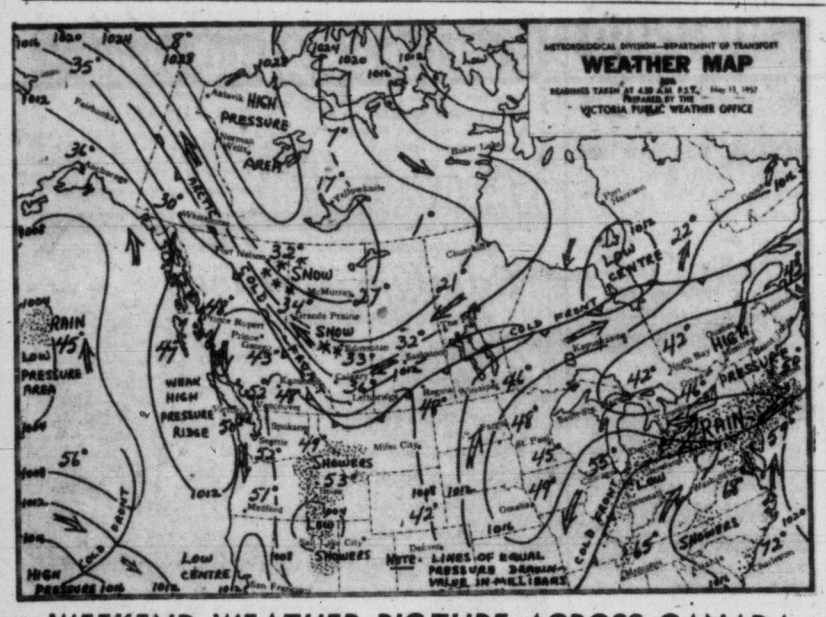
It was injured in a football game just on 20 years ago and after a cartilage was removed didn't give any serious trouble until 1947. In that year he was so busy breaking cricket records with sensational batting that he aggravated it and since then a series of operations winding up with the removal of the kneecap kept Compton and his knee regularly on the front pages.

One of the world's best batsmen and easily the game's greatest crowd-pleaser, the whole country would be on tenterhooks about whether or not his knee would allow him to play in any given match.

One reason for his popularity was that he was the poor kid from the slums who made good. When picked up by a scout playing cricket against a lamppost in the streets he was given coaching but was the despair of coaches to whom being orthodox was all-important. Compton was and still is completely unorthodox.

It was with him that a much-told cricket anecdote originated. A coach, trying desperately to make him bat in the conventional way, bowled a ball to him which Compton promptly smote right out of the ground. Pointing at the ungainly stance Compton had got himself into, the coach yelled at him: "Where's your left foot!" An oldtimer watching broke in: "Where's the ruddy ball!"

He invented strokes of his own which nobody had ever seen before and which other batsmen have tried to emulate but without success because they hadn't Compton's fantastic timing. Once he tripped and fell when running up the pitch to hit a ball and, to the exasperation of the bowler, neatly flicked the ball to the boundary for four runs while lying prone on the ground.



WEEKEND WEATHER PICTURE ACROSS CANADA

SYNOPSIS—There is no indication of any marked centre of activity to disturb the present pattern of fairly pleasant weather in most regions of B.C. Variable amounts of cloud now present in the coastal areas will thin out considerably during the day with afternoon temperatures in the mid-60's except along the outer coast where the mercury will hold in the upper 50's. Sunshine will be general over the southern interior with afternoon temperatures ranging from 75 to 85 degrees. A weak invasion of cool air from northern areas of the province will cause considerable cloudiness and somewhat lower temperatures in the central regions.

DIEFENBAKER: Pension Boost Niggardly

PARRY SOUND, Ont. (CP) — John Diefenbaker has injected into his election campaign the question of the age of Prime Minister St. Laurent.

The Progressive Conservative leader did it by indirect means in speeches here Friday night and earlier at Midland when he coupled the 75-year-old Liberal leader's name with the $6 increase in the old-age pension approved at parliament's last session.

"Mr. St. Laurent," he said, and paused, "he gets the pension." He says $6 is enough."

Mr. Diefenbaker, who is 61, added that Agriculture Minister Gardiner, 73, Trade Minister Howe, 71, and Revenue Minister McCann, 70, got the universal pension, too.

"NIGGARDLY" RAISE

And he criticized the fact that the pension increase to $46 from $40—a "niggardly and unjust" raise—will not go into effect until July 1. He said that when Conservatives demanded last session that the increase be immediate, Finance Minister Harris had indicated that would contribute to inflation.

"Can't you see the pensioners spending that $6," he said with sarcasm. "Can't you see the cost of living going up? They couldn't do much for the veterans either because it would add to the fires of inflation."

Mr. Diefenbaker set a rugged pace Friday in an auto tour north from Toronto to speak at Barrie in Simcoe North constituency, at Midland in Simcoe East and in this town in Parry Sound-Muskoka. Today he continues his speaking campaign along the north shore of Lake Huron to Sault Ste. Marie, through Algoma West and Algoma East — External Affairs Minister Pearson's riding.

FROST BACKING

At the first two meetings Friday he had the presence and endorsement of Ontario's Premier Frost.

"I have no hesitation in endorsing the cause of this great Canadian, John Diefenbaker," the premier said.

Mr. Diefenbaker called for a firm stand on export of raw materials to the United States. Last year $144,000,000 worth of iron ore had been shipped out. A Conservative government would do its best to assure that a larger share of irreplaceable raw materials was processed in Canada "for the benefit of Canadians and to ensure employment."

"Join together in co-operation with the United States—yes," he said, "but build Canada."

And Canada's sovereignty should be assured at mutual defence establishments like the U.S.-built DEW (Distant Early Warning) radar line in the Arctic.

PIPELINE THEME

In all three speeches Mr. Diefenbaker spent considerable time dealing with the position of Parliament and last year's bitter pipeline debate, especially in the Simcoe East riding of Liberal candidate W. A. Robinson, who as Deputy Speaker of the Commons figured prominently in the pipeline battle.

He said Mr. Robinson had "ably assisted" Speaker Rene Beaudoin during the debate, which he described as "the Pearl Harbor of Canadian democracy."

But his major criticism was of Mr. Howe and the rest of the Liberal cabinet.

SOLON LOW: Recession Sure to Come

WINNIPEG (CP)—Social Credit Leader Solon Low Friday night attacked the federal government's "tight-money" policy as "an unnecessary and potentially dangerous experiment with credit curbs."

He predicted before about 175 persons at an election rally here that there would be a sharp increase in the cost of living in the next six months unless the June 10 federal election brings a change in government "with a consequent change in financial policy."

Later, discussing the slow-down in home building, Mr. Low said that under continued Liberal government, Canada could not avoid a recession.

AWAITS APOLOGY

The Social Credit leader also digressed from his regular theme of "tight money" to renew his demand, made at Brandon Thursday night, for an apology from Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Mr. St. Laurent had termed "a downright lie" news reports from Victoria quoting Mr. Low as saying the Liberal leader threatened Prime Minister Eden with Canada's removal from the Commonwealth if Britain did not remove its troops from the Middle East.

"I'm patiently waiting, because he does owe me an apology," said Mr. Low.

He said the Victoria report was inaccurate, and he personally was not making the charge, but quoting a CBC broadcast.

UNEVEN GROWTH

He said Mr. St. Laurent was getting "bad advice" from his political advisers on the matter.

But Mr. St. Laurent, in a statement Friday, referred to Mr. Low's later Brandon, Man., speech about Canada's role in the Suez and said the Social Credit leader was still not telling the truth about the part Canada played in Britain's troop withdrawal from Egypt.

On the "tight-money" question, Mr. Low said unless there was a change in government and federal policy, the cost-of-living index, already at a record high, would jump to 125 points within six months.

He said Canada's growth had become uneven, and the hope of a stable price level has been demolished in a series of upward thrusts in the consumer price index.

SMALL BUSINESSES HURT

The Social Credit leader advocated "selective controls" in place of blanket credit restrictions, lower interest rates, stepped-up immigration and an immediate reduction in income taxes.

COLDWELL: Big Business Must Behave

TIMMINS, Ont. (CP) — Private enterprise has a big role in Canada's future but must watch its step, says Socialist Leader M. J. Coldwell.

The CCF leader, after recounting some sins of corporations, told an election campaign audience Friday night that he does not oppose private enterprise as such, so long as it behaves itself.

However, he charged the Liberal government with fostering policies favoring corporations as against the people and allowing business to pile up excessive corporate profits.

In this gold mining centre of 27,000 Mr. Coldwell delivered the second of eight major platform addresses he will give in the campaign ending June 10.

AUDIENCE OF 200

About 200 people heard him in a partly-filled hall. From here, he goes to Toronto for a meeting Monday.

Mr. Coldwell taxed the government with promoting legislation in favor of the "big business," lagging behind in social security and mishandling policies for the disposal of Canada's huge grain surpluses.

His main private enterprise target was Trans-Canada Pipe Line Ltd., the $375,000,000 company building a natural gas line from Alberta to the East. He said United States-owned companies promoting the line already have made around $26,000,000 paper profits on stock before gas has begun to move.

The 2,200-mile line is to be completed next year. It has had federal loan assistance in the West, and the Dominion and Ontario governments are joining to build a northern Ontario section that passes near here.

RECALLS COMMONS FIGHT

Mr. Coldwell said there has been a "shameful subsidy of private interests" in connection with Trans-Canada and added that the rights of Parliament were trampled on in the Commons fight last year in which the government pushed through legislation to help the company financially.

"Was there ever a slicker deal?" he asked, referring to the transaction whereby the federal and Ontario governments jointly build the $118,000,000 northern Ontario section of the line and lease it to Trans-Canada with a purchase option for the company.

However, Mr. Coldwell said he is not opposed to private enterprise generally, provided it does not exploit the community and is fair to the workers.

On wheat surplus, Mr. Coldwell said Canada cannot sell enough because it is not buying enough abroad to give foreign countries dollar currencies with which to buy Canadian goods.

This country, instead of insisting on dollar payments, should take part payment in the currency of the country to which products are being sold. These funds could be invested overseas, with the good eventual returns financially.

EX-POLICE CHIEF DIES

CLOVERDALE — Former Surrey chief constable Alex Matheson, 87, died Friday at his home here. He was appointed constable in 1904 and held that position for 35 years. He was also named police magistrate in 1913.

Home movie-making appears to be an increasingly popular hobby for two very practical reasons: It is a relatively inexpensive hobby and this, plus the fact that today's movie cameras are easy to operate, has attracted a large following. Families with small children find that home movies are excellent for recording and preserving the drama of "growing up."

Housewives, who tend to shy away from things mechanical, are soon at complete ease with present-day movie cameras which are only slightly more complex than the familiar box camera. Another reason for the growing acceptance of the movie camera on the part of the housewife is the simple fact that she is around the home and the small fry when the lion's share of good "growing up" picture opportunities occur.

By the way, you have an opportunity to cash in on these picture-taking opportunities by renting projectors and screens at JUS-RITE PHOTOS LTD., 716 Yates St. This is a surprisingly economical means of having a home movie session. If you prefer to own your own equipment, however, JUS-RITE PHOTOS LTD. can offer you an attractive deal on the finest products in the field. Phone 4-1852.

MOTHER'S CHAMPAGNE

A-One and-a-two Million Welk Is Unlikely TV Success Story

(This is the first in a three-part series recounting the career of TV's phenominally popular "Champagne Music" maestro, Lawrence Welk.)

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Let the kids have rock 'n' roll.

Mom and dad have their rock 'n' chair music.

It's the "Champagne Music" of Lawrence Welk, the coast-to-coast TV sensation who surprised the experts. Welk music is smooth and in perfect tempo—music for dancing on a romantic cloud or for just sittin' in the parlor.

"The mothers of America," Welk says proudly, "are my biggest fans."

They're just as "gone" as Elvis Presley addicts, too. Without the screams and hysterics.

TONS OF COOKIES

Six thousand fan letters, mostly from mothers, are stacked up every week in his Hollywood office. They also send him tons of cakes, cookies, home-made fudge and knitted socks.

"The Lawrence Welk Show" has become one of the nation's top 10 TV shows and has just been renewed for another 52 straight weeks. Welk's yearly gross income has climbed to an estimated $2,500,000.

He's Mr. Wonderful to an estimated audience of 37,000,000 Americans.

"I give them calm, soothing peace," grins shy, 54-year-old Lawrence Welk, father of three, devoted churchman and, for 13 years of his life, accordion soloist and leader of the six-piece "Biggest Little Band in America" on the Midwestern corn belt dance circuit.

The corn is still sprouting, lush and green, out of Welk's ears after 30 years as a professional musician.

He's been called Mr. Cornball.

They say he's the original Mr. Square.

Night club and TV comedians have forgotten Liberace jokes for Lawrence Welk jokes.

"But I don't worry about it," he told me.

TENDERLY

Like Liberace, he's laughing all the way to the bank.

"His music," they say on Tin Pan Alley, "goes back to the model T Ford." But it also goes back to the days when a boy tenderly held a girl in his arms when they danced—instead of tossing her toward the ceiling or sending her into an out-of-control spin.

That's the big secret of his success.

As one modern jazzman told me: "Bands started playing for their own amusement after Second World War. Welk plays for his audience. He killed us when he put the girl back in the boy's arms."

Lawrence Welk finds it difficult to describe his own music.

"It's hard to put into words," he told me. "It's simple music with a steady tempo. I follow the melody. I don't believe in taking liberties with a composer's music. The beat is heavier than other bands.

"I like violins. I use strings to lend a fine touch to the slower and sentimental ballads which people request of us and want us to play. I strive for a smooth and light sound, which we produce mostly with clarinets, violins, organ, a touch of accordion and saxes."

THE BEAT

I pressed him for some secret musical clue to explain why he's become a national TV phenomenon.

The Welk beat—what is it?

He pointed to his heart and said, "I guess it's here. It's the beat of my heart. When I'm happy—when I feel good—and that's almost always—the band plays better."

It all goes back to a farm near Strausburg, N.D.

Back to a shy, sickly boy. To a $19.90 mail-order accordion. To simple, hard-working people of the land who liked to dance in barns, in ballrooms and even in the streets.

In the ivory towers of New York's Madison Avenue Lawrence Welk is still regarded as a freak. A misfit. But a gold mine. His was a local Los Angeles show that hit the network as a 13-week summer replacement to the jeers of New York TV bosses, who groaned: "And it'll never last more than 13 weeks."

BREAKS ALL RULES

By TV's zippy rock and sock 'em, give-'em-the-old personality - stuff code book, Lawrence Welk breaks all the rules while making up new ones.

Off camera he has a smile broader than an Iowa barn and a delightful sense of humor. But when the camera's red light tells him he's on the air, he looks somewhat like a man suddenly surprised in a bank vault at 3 a.m.

He wears a faint smile. He looks at the floor. He folds his hands in front of him like a funeral parlor receptionist greeting a sorrowful relative. He clears his throat while speaking with the accent of his German parentage.

GASLIGHT DAYS

He leads the applause with polite timidity reserved for afternoon musicales in the gaslight days. And he cues his 23-piece orchestra and his singers with the old-fashioned words of yesteryear's long-haired music masters:

"And-a-one, and-a-two, and-a-three."

"He looks," many people say, "like he's scared to death."

He is—a little. On the outside. Inside he's the happiest man in the world.

The bashfulness, the modesty, the humility all go back to his boyhood and early adult years.

But what also comes across on the nation's home screens for an hour Saturday nights at 9 p.m. PST) and in his one-hour Monday "Top Tunes and New Faces" show at 9.30 p.m. is an honesty, a sincerity and an understandable rhythm that has captured and is delighting one of America's biggest TV audiences. And the audience is still growing.

Operatic Group Presents Life Memberships

At the annual general meeting of Victoria Gilbert and Sullivan Operatic Society, retiring president, Mrs. Margery Russell-Pavier, presented three life memberships to members Ivan Howell, Mildred Allen and Fred Cox.

All three have been consistent and enthusiastic workers for the organization since it was first started 11 years ago.

Elected president for 1957-58, was Ron Berod, with Frank Brawn as vice-president. Peggy Dyson was re-elected secretary; Gwynned Hughes is assistant secretary and Mary-Lou Park, treasurer.

On the advisory board are Wallace Beatty, Margaret Duff, Norman Tyrrell, Jim Yeomans, Charlie Ozard and Ivan Howell.

Mrs. Allen joins a special advisory board of past presidents which includes Don Taylor, Frank Dunn, Bob Birkett and Geoff Hodgson.

'Fahey' Name Adopted by Opera Group

Re-organization of the former Victoria Light Opera Company under the name of the Fahey Light Opera Company was decided upon at a recent meeting in the home of Mme. Winnifred Lugrin-Fahey.

The company was formed originally to produce the works of Mme. Fahey and has done so over a period of years. Last production was in March when "The Spirit of the Nile" was performed. It will be repeated June 7 and 8 at the Langham Court Theatre.

The group is planning for next season an opera appropriate to B.C.'s centenary, and based on B.C. history, "The Brideship."

Officers elected were:

President, Mme. W. L. Fahey; vice-president, Eric V. Edwards; chairman and advertising, Gladys Painter; secretary, Jean Arber; treasurer, Leona Hanley; business manager, Lincoln Palnter; publicity, Mary Edwards; stage manager, H. Rouche; set designer, Tony Maynard; production manager, Bill Fahey; music director, E. V. Edwards; accompanist, Olive Stewart and ticket sales, Bill Metcalfe.

BRIGHT LIGHTS OF MUSIC FESTIVAL

These winning smiles reflect the happiness that comes from a job well done. All three girls were notable winners in the Victoria Music Festival this week. Marlene Vance (left) scored a double win by taking the operatic class with 90 and oratorio with 91 marks. Mary Goward's 93-mark win in senior violin brought her a Victoria Musical Art Society bursary. Shirley Russell (right), a multiple winner in piano and violin classes under 16 won a "Mrs. R. H. Pooley" award.

Pops Singer Hayes Leans to Classics

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Of all top popular singers on records, there are few who can claim the accomplishments and interests of Bill Hayes.

The singer who has produced several top hits such as Davy Crockett and Wringle Wrangle, is a composer-writer, and dabbles as well in playwriting.

He is also busy in other things, such as helping to raise his five children ranging in age from one to nine.

Davy

His one big ambition, he says, is to become a singer of serious songs. He got his first chance recently when he appeared as vocalist at a Cincinnati concert.

Whether or not the singer will try his hand at recording classical songs remains to be seen. For the time being he is sticking to pop songs. His latest is "Ramshackle Daddy"—a tune he wrote himself.

★ ★ ★

A cellist who has become tops in his field is Hungarian-born Janos Starker, now an American citizen.

Starker, a graduate from the Budapest Academey of Music, began to play the cello at the age of seven. It was only after the war on a European tour, however, that he became internationally known.

The artist can be heard on a new Angel release (35417) playing Dvorak cello concerto and Faure "Elegie," with the Philharmonia Orchestra conducted by Walter Susskind. It is a fine performance well-worth hearing.

★ ★ ★

For discophiles interested in symphonies, Angel has also released a superb recording of Mozart's No. 25, K185 and No. 40, K550 (35407).

Conductor is Otto Klemperer, who has been widely acclaimed on this continent and in Europe for his recordings of Beethoven.

If you enjoy Mozart, you will not be disappointed with this record. The symphonies performed rank among the composer's best works.

★ ★ ★

Beethoven First Edition Given To Bruno Walter

A high-emotion occasion at Carnegie Hall was a pension fund concert of the New York Philharmonic-Symphony, an all-Beethoven program, with venerable Bruno Walter conducting and British pianist Dame Myra Hess as soloist in the fourth piano concerto.

There were brief preliminary speeches commemorating Walter's long service for the orchestra and his semi-retirement after this season.

Dame Myra presented him with a first edition score of Beethoven's Pastoral Symphony. Walter acknowledged the compliments with philosophic grace, spoke in praise of Beethoven and the Pastoral, kissed Dame Myra's cheek, then stepped up on the podium and conducted the Pastoral.

Perhaps it was the occasion, but Dame Myra's piano-playing sounded even more deep-running and moving than it usually does.

Chopin composed more than 40 mazurkas for piano.

(A PLUS) "THE GREEN MAN" (Capitol): The Green Man should tickle everyone pink.

It is just about tops in that hard-to-put-together bit of theatrical hankey pankey called a farce. Indeed it is doubtful if the English have come up with anything quite so hilarious of its kind since the prewar days of Tom Walls and Ralph Lynn.

The plot is amazingly complicated, reminiscent of yarning by that crazy-house mentality of P. G. Wodehouse. But to put over such a business the whole must have tremendous pace without a single lag.

As Hawkins, the professional assassin, Alastair Sim wears the apologetic air of a basset hound. A humble man, this Hawkins. As he admits in the beginning, he learned his trade well and came up the hard way. In the beginning his game was small, merely his headmaster whom he electrocuted to death. Then there was the foreign emissary who was going to kick the opening ball off at a soccer game. Then on to better things, such as blowing up an entire ship as it slid down the ways. Now his goal is Sir Gregory, a diplomat soon to serve Britain in the near East theatre.

TO LEARN about Sir Gregory's movements Hawkins woos the diplomat's secretary, Marigold (Avril Anger). But one day Hawkins makes a technical error and Marigold says she knows what's up and is going to tell the police. Hawkins, in the midst of playing a game of chess with a policeman, suggests that possibly she had better call at his home first and he will explain the matter to her satisfaction.

Here, possibly, "The Green Man" reaches its greatest pitch of excitement and fun. Even as he continues his game with the constable he and his "technical assistant" McKechinie (John Chandos) dupe Marigold into the vacant house next door and presumably bump her off. Meanwhile the house is a scene of unexpected activity as vacuum salesman George Cole tries to demonstrate his product to McKechinie, mistaking him for the owner. Then Ann Vincent (Jill Adams) arrives at the house, preparing to get it in readiness for her up-coming marriage to her fiance.

While Hawkins continues to play chess with the policeman the scene next door develops into a bedroom farce with George chasing Ann about in her unmentionables while Ann's fiance, a stuffy BBC type, looks on in understandable alarm. Meanwhile Marigold has more ups and downs than a department store elevator.

Be it to the ever-lasting credit of Sidney Gilliat and Frank Launder who wrote the screen play and director Robert Day, in spite of it being a farce, the picture is sure to keep the audience on the edge of its seat such is its suspense, excitement and high good humor.

Summertime Smile Show Rehearsing

A popular Victoria holiday season show has gone into rehearsal this week with plans to open a six-week run July 11. Jerry Gosley's Smile Show will present its fourth annual summer presentation at Langham Court Theatre with new routines, favorite performers and some fresh talent.

Irene Henderson, Al Denoni and Jerry Gosley will have Reginald Stone providing musical background on the organ. Judy MacCormac, a young Victoria actress, will be featured in a specially written routine and Cockney comedy will be handled by a newcomer to the city, Len Evans.

Original sketches and songs will provide local atmosphere.

DIRECTOR

It's been some time since Joshua Logan has participated in a stage venture in which he isn't at least co-producer in addition to being director, but the script called "The Children's Comedy," held by a new producing team, has so intirgued him that he has agreed to serve merely as director.

The play is by James Leo Herlihy and William Noble. Its production is planned for next fall by James Hammerstein (son of Oscar) and Barbara Wolferman.

Before he undertakes that assignment, Logan will spend the summer directing the film version of "South Pacific" for Oscar Hammerstein and Richard Rodgers.

"A MAN CALLED PETER"

This, to our mind, is one of the greatest motion pictures ever made. One that you will never tire seeing again and again.
The story of the young Scottish Presbyterian minister and his early life as a student, later as an emigrant to America and finally as one of the most powerful and influential preachers in the United States is at once an inspiration and delight. It will give your heart a lift and make you sing inside. His messages are so important to us today and his prayer, "Lord, give us courage to stand for something, lest we fall for anything," is surely most appropriate. Industrial Boom Continues To Spark Canadian Markets

By RICHAR DRAYMOND
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The industrial boom continued on Canadian stock markets this week as industrial stocks recorded slow but steady gains, reaching their best levels since last fall.

News from other sections of the market was dull, however, as both mining issues and western oils traded erratically and lightly. The mines eased steadily throughout the week when price cuts were announced in zinc, lead and copper. Oils declined slightly in early sessions but picked up both in activity and value Thursday and Friday.

Trading was generally light during the week and observers said the decreased volume was the result more of a lack of interest than anything else. There was little in world news to warrant any urgent selling.

STEELS FEATURE

Steels were the decided feature of the industrial advance, followed by utilities and, later in the week, refining oils.

Interest in the steels centred around the gyrations of Page-Hersey Tubes, which added a seven-point gain to last week's gain of eight points. The stock was hit by profit taking in several sessions as speculators climbed aboard, but continued its steady climb, rising almost eight points in Thursday's session.

Other featured industrial stocks —which also suffered occasionally from profit taking — were Ford of Canada A, which finished with a gain of more than nine points for the week; and Algoma Steel and Stelco, both up more than four points at Friday's close.

GAINS AVERAGE POINT

Gains in other industrials averaged around a point and from two to three points among the utilities and refining oils Activity in papers and banks was relatively quiet.

The mines had a hard week, losses falling in the 25 to 50-cent range. Most senior issues eased a point or more, the hardest hit being Hudson Bay, which lost six points. Coppers moved narrowly while nickels eased slightly.

Uraniums eased gradually throughout the week and hit a sudden slump on Friday, with losses ranging from 35 to 50 cents. Golds received a few healthy gains to restore the levels of previous weeks.

The week was one of spasmodic activity for the western oils, some extremely active sessions alternating with periods of relative quiet. There was little difference at the week's end from last week's close as oil issues eased during the first three sessions and picked up again during the last two.

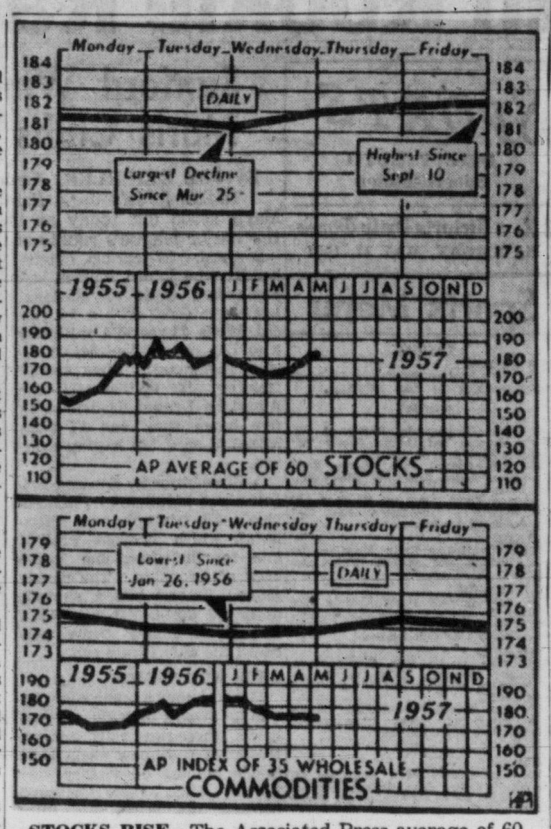
STORY OF WEEK

The oil story of the week came from Western Naco Petroleums after it announced the abandonment of one of its most promising wells at its Hughenden property in Alberta. The well, drilled between two good producers, proved to be little more than dead mud. Investors found the market value of the stock cut by more than one-third when the news hit the market Wednesday morning. West Naco ended the week with a loss of $1.14 at $2.01.

Index changes at Toronto industrials up 6.57 to 480.92; golds off .16 to 80.00; base metals off 3.13 to 207.40; western oils off .11 to 178.76. of 834 issues traded, 242 advanced, 417 declined and 175 were unchanged. Week's volume 24,863,000 compared with last week's 28,377,000.

w ndex changes at Montreal: banks up 0.62 to 52.41; utilities up 0.9 to 149.8; industrials up 1.0 to 291.9; combined up 1.0 to 244.5; papers off 16.31 to 1278.33; golds up 2.92 to 84.68.

Week's volumes: 422,503 industrials and 3,711,112 mines compared with 387,814 industrials and 2,899,873 mines the previous week. Of 416 issues traded, 126 advanced, 154 declined and 136 were unchanged.



STOCKS RISE—The Associated Press average of 60 New York stocks reached the highest level since Sept. 10, 1956, when it closed Friday at 182.5 from 181.7 a week earlier. This was the eleventh straight weekly advance. The commodity index, led by the non-ferrous metals eased for the third week in a row, closing at 175.2 from 175.3. (AP Wirephoto Chart.)

Aussie Trade Group Visits Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Sixteen Australian businessmen arrived here Friday on the first leg of a three-month, round-the-world tour designed to drum up a healthier pattern of multilateral trade with the rest of the world.

The chances for increased Australian sales may depend on that country giving a better break by easing trade restrictions, said Arthur J. R. Birch, secretary of the Sydney Chamber of Commerce.

Fairbanks-Morse Dispute Settled

CHICAGO (AP) — The bitter fight for control of Fairbanks, Morse and Co. has ended with a five-year agreement between the company and Penn-Texas Corp.

The pact was signed Friday by leaders of the opposing factions, Leopold D. Silberstein, head of Penn-Texas, and Robert H. Morse Jr., president of the 127-year-old heavy-equipment firm.

The signing ended a business tug-of-war that began in January, 1956, when Silberstein announced his plan to take over Fairbanks Morse in a proxy contest.

Silberstein and Morse summed up the end of their fight with this joint statement:

"We are both pleased that our differences have been amicably settled and we can concentrate now on the continued growth of Fairbanks Morse to the benefit of our customers, our stockholders and our employees."

The agreement contains these terms:

Each side will have five seats on the Fairbanks-Morse 11-member board of directors.

The 11th member was mutually agreed on.

Morse continues as head of the firm.

Silberstein will discontinue attempts to control Fairbanks-Morse.

Morse will not participate in proxy contests now under way in Penn-Texas Corp. Morse has been buying stock in Silberstein's industrial combine to counter Silberstein's bid for control in Fairbanks-Morse.

Silberstein agreed to sell 300,000 shares of the 692,000 shares of Fairbanks-Morse stock he says he owns to the company's present management. The price was set at $50 a share—$6 below Friday's closing market price.

A company spokesman said Silberstein's agreement to sell his shares assures "continued control of the company by Robert H. Morse Jr. and the present management."

Silberstein, 53, is one of the most colorful personalities in American industry. He came to the United States in 1948 from Germany.

In six years he built an industrial complex with a combination bargaining. Subsidiaries of his of stock transaction and hard Penn-Texas combine are engaged in such varied fields in the U.S. and Canada as heavy industrial equipment oil, coal, cable, wire and uranium. The firm had 1956 sales of about 125 million dollars.

Morse, 58, belongs to the family which has controlled Fairbanks Morse for three generations. The firm has a wide range of products including scales, pumps, diesel engines and locomotives. Fairbanks Morse had sales of about $136,000,000 in 1956.

Remote Chance Of Restriction On Groceries

Possibility of enforcing restrictive sales in corner groceries after 6 p.m. under the new Municipal Act is remote, Ald. Don Smith, MLA, told the Independent Merchants' Co-Operative Association Friday.

"I believe you will enjoy the same privileges under the new act as you do now," he said.

If merchants found they were restricted, he would head a delegation to the government asking to have offending sections of the act removed, he promised.

DO SAME

Lawyer and Victoria federal Tory candidate, A. DeB. McPhillips, advised merchants to continue operating as at present.

"I will be very much surprised if any prosecutions take place," he said.

The act calls for closing of grocery stores for sale of many commodities every evening at 6 except Fridays when they can stay open to 9.

German Backed Firm Buys Into Algoma Steel

TORONTO (CP) — Mannesmann International Corp. Ltd. a German-controlled firm which has a $45,000,000 investment in Canada, is expected to offer stock to the Canadian public, it was reported here.

The corporation, which will have a capital of $36,000,000 after it incorporates "some of its American interests," is expected to raise its capital to $50,000,000 by the sale of shares in the Canadian market.

The Canadian subsidiary is buying 200,000 shares of Algoma Steel Corp. from the estate and beneficiaries of Sir James Dunn, former Algoma president. Amount of cash changing hands in the deal is estimated at $25,000,000.

The Algoma purchase is reported to be the largest single overseas investment by any German company since the war. It will also be the first instance of any German company buying an interest on such a scale in large overseas firms.

Mannesmann International is a subsidiary of Mannesmann A. G., giant German steel-coal company which pioneered manufacturing of seamless steel piping. Its head office is in Duesseldorf.

Mannesmann International, incorporated in October, 1956, controls Mannesmann Tube Co., Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. This $20,000,000 organization will start producing seamless steel tubes up to 10¾ inches outside diameter next month. Initial capacity is 80,000 tons a year, to be raised to 225,000 tons yearly.

Direct Phone Links Opened To Kitimat

VANCOUVER (CP)—Three long-distance radio-telephone circuits have been opened between here and Kitimat, 350 miles to the northwest, B.C. Telephone Co. announced today.

The company said in a release that the three circuits were opened in advance due to heavy demand. Four more will be opened later.

Previously, all telephone calls had to go via land lines through Prince George and Terrace.

Opening of the radio-telephone links involved establishing relay stations on Calvert, Swindle and Trutch islands, north of Vancouver Island.

CPR Firemen Plan to Cost $38 Million

OTTAWA—CPR president N. R. Crump will be cross-examined Monday on a new plan to guarantee wages and protect seniority rights of men displaced under the CPR's proposal to eliminate firemen from its yard and road freight diesel locomotives.

Testifying Friday before the Kellock Royal Commission investigating the dispute between the company and its firemen, Mr. Crump said the proposal which carries three main points, would cost the company $38,000,000.

Mr. Crump termed the railway's proposal to remove firemen "a matter of primary importance to the company," because he said retention of firemen on freight and yard diesels has a great effect on the railway's ability to achieve a sufficient rate of return on its investment to allow it to compete with other industry to obtain capital for modernization. Capital, he declared, was necessary for replacement and expansion which must be carried out to meet competition. If the railway were unable to retain its position in the "intensely competitive," transportation field, he stated, the effect would be felt by all of its present employees.

With Mr. Gosley will be musicians Al Denoni and Dodie Gubbels, singers Stanley Martin and Jean Schofield, magician Palle Jensen, and dancers Marion Mezger, Jackie Porteous and Deanna Pizag.

Long-Delayed Pipeline Proposal To Go Before U.S. Power Body

By GEORGE KITCHEN

WASHINGTON (CP) —The long-delayed proposal by an American pipeline company to import Canadian natural gas and market it in the north - central United States comes before the federal power commission for another round of argument next week.

The commission Tuesday will open a "comparative" hearing on the request by Midwestern Gas Transmission Company for permission to import 204,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily from the trans-Canada pipeline at Emerson Man., and sell it to its customers in North Dakota, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan.

The commission will hear comparisons between the Midwestern plan and those of a group of rival pipeline companies fighting the Canadian importation on the ground they can serve the north-central market better than Midwestern.

Meantime, the trans-Canada line is snaking across the Prairies towards Winnipeg on its way to the industrial markets of Eastern Canada and is not nearly so dependent as it was last year on the American sale. The line will pipe fuel from Alberta as far east as Montreal.

If the commission decides in favor of one or other of the competing pipelines, Midwestern will have to revise its proposals or drop its importation scheme altogether.

The commission already has removed one major barrier to the importation of gas from the Canadian line. In rejecting the dismissal motions last November, it announced it was abandoning long-standing policy of refusing to permit American customers to be wholly dependent on gas imported from Canada.

Tied in with the over-all Midwestern plan is a proposal by its parent company, Tennessee Gas Transmission Company, to export 87,000,000 cubic feet of American gas daily to the Montreal area to help build up a market there pending completion of the Canadian line.

Giants Off To Frisco?

O'Malley Confers With S.F. Mayor

NEW YORK (UP)—The wheels continued turning today in the machinery that eventually may take the Brooklyn Dodgers to Los Angeles and the New York Giants to San Francisco, but baseball commissioner Ford Frick placed a "gag" order on all parties involved.

Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco discussed the possible transfer of a major league franchise to this city at a meeting yesterday with Walter O'Malley, president of the Dodgers, and owner Horace Stoneham of the Giants.

Christopher admitted, "We discussed the possibility of bringing major league baseball to San Francisco."

Stoneham also said as much but added that he and all other parties were prohibited from commenting further because of a telegram to that effect sent by Frick.

WON'T GIVE UP

"I won't give up until we have major league baseball in San Francisco," Christopher said. "I'm frank in saying major league baseball on the west coast is an eventual must. It's going to happen some day and I can't say if immediately or later."

Christopher indicated San Francisco will take any major league club it can get, whether it's the Giants or any other club.

"San Francisco is prepared to pay the bill for major league baseball," he said. "We feel we have a fine site available for a new stadium in the southern part of the city. It is on level land with plenty of parking area and we have been told we can be ready by 1959."

The Giants' lease on the Polo Grounds, where they play their home games now, expires in 1961. There has been some talk that the Giants were thinking of sharing Yankee Stadium with the Yankees after that but Yankee president Dan Topping said he has not spoken with Stoneham about that subject in more than a year and a half.

Meanwhile, Christopher pointed out that if San Francisco could "win away" the Dodgers from Los Angeles he would be all for it even though he realizes Los Angeles has been bidding strongly for Brooklyn.

"If we could take the Dodgers from Los Angeles, we certainly would," said the San Francisco mayor. Mayor Norris Paulson of Los Angeles and I are both anxious to have major league baseball in California. If we get teams, we will beat the pants off Los Angeles."

That Old College Try Again

Infielder Nick Cantwell, captain of St. Joseph's College baseball team, could have saved his energy and bruises in game against University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia. Although Bob Sebastianelli, guarding first base in an unorthodox manner, did not have a foot on the bag, the umpire called the cartwheeling Cantwell out, saying he was tagged when he ran into the Penn first baseman. Jack, Roger Climb In Rookie Ratings

Sanford Wins Fourth; Maris Clubs Athletics

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Staff Writer

Philadelphia's Jack Sanford and Cleveland's Roger Maris stood out today as the early-season favorites for the major league's rookie-of-the-year honors.

Sanford, 27-year-old right-hander who joined Phillies last September, leads all National League pitchers with a 4-0 record. Maris, 21-year-old outfielder who did not make the Cleveland roster until after spring training, is up among the American League leaders with five home runs and 17 runs batted in on a .315 batting average.

A three-hitter by Sanford Friday night highlighted Philadelphia's 3-1 triumph over Pittsburgh which boosted Phillies into fourth place, one game back of Brooklyn. The rookie fanned 10 and had a shutout until the ninth. Then a walk and Hank Foiles' triple produced the only Pirate run.

BAGS KEY HOMER

Maris clouted a home run with a mate aboard to feature Cleveland's three-run rally against freshman southpaw Gene Host in the Indians' 4-1 victory over Kansas City. The triumph boosted the Tribe into third place, a half-game behind New York.

Chicago White Sox made it two in a row over Detroit with a 6-4 victory that gave them undisputed possession of the American League lead, a full game in front of Yankees, who were beaten by Baltimore 4-1. Rain forced the postponement of Washington-Boston game.

Milwaukee snapped its three-game losing streak with a 10-5 victory over St. Louis that increased the Braves' National League lead over Cincinnati Reds to one game. The Reds' scheduled game with the Cubs in Chicago was postponed because of rain. The New York Giants dropped third-place Brooklyn two games from the top with a 2-1 triumph over the Dodgers.

ERRORS COSTLY

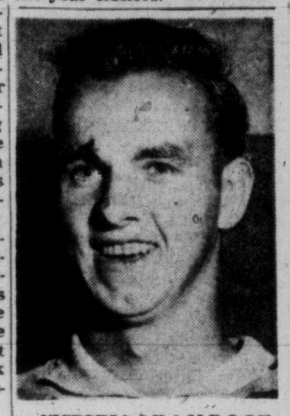
A pair of wild pitches by Luis Arroyo, in relief of Ronnie Kline in the eighth inning, allowed two Philadelphia runners to cross the plate with what proved to be the winning runs. Granny Hamner's second home run since he took over at second base three games ago gave the Phillies their first run.

Juan Pizarro, Milwaukee's rookie southpaw, gained his first major league victory with the help of teammates Johnny Logan and Eddie Mathews, who drove in eight of the Braves' 10 runs. Logan batted in five with a home run, a two-run double and a pair of run-scoring singles. Mathews smashed a two-run homer, double and added a run-producing single.

Willie Mays came off a hospital bed to wallop a triple and two singles, drive in one run and score the other in the Giants' victory over Brooklyn.

EXHIBITION GAME

An exhibition game, preliminary to the opening of their league schedule, will be played between Safeways and Navy Fliers of Pat Bay, of the Sidney Senior Softball League, Sunday at Carnarvon Park at 6.45 p.m.



VICTORIA SHAMROCK forward Al Gill, suffering from a knee injury, is a doubtful starter for tonight's Intercity Lacrosse League game between Shamrocks and defending champion Nanaimo Timbermen at Nanaimo's Civic Arena.

Brandon's Latest Loss Extends Trophy Jinx

QUEBEC (CP)—Brandon Regals left for home Friday, their quest for the Edinburgh Trophy another lost-cause mission that has beset Brandon teams far back in hockey history.

Regals bowed to Quebec Aces 5-1 in games—most of them by close scores—in the best-of-nine series.

Although Regals won the President's Cup in the Western Hockey League this season, some sort of trophy jinx has long followed Brandon teams once they moved out of their immediate leagues.

Brandon even had a big chance once for the Stanley Cup. That was back in 1904, when the great Lester Patrick played for Brandon. But the famous Silver Seven of Ottawa won the cup series in straight games, 6-3 and 9-3.

Came a chance for the Allan Cup in 1920, then the prized trophy of brilliant senior amateur competition. Brandon lost in the final in two straight games to the University of Toronto.

MISSED THREE TIMES

Brandon teams missed out three times in trying for the Abbott Cup, emblematic of the western junior championship. In 1948 the Abbott Cup jinx was beaten and Brandon juniors went after the Canadian championship and the Memorial Cup. In a hectic eight-game final they lost to Montreal Royals.

The Regals-Aces series brought out good hockey crowds despite lateness of the season. Of the six games played, five were in Quebec and one in Montreal.

The five games here drew a total of about 37,200 fans. Highest attendance was 10,358. The single game in Montreal was played before about 5,300.

LOUISE TODD CUP

Mrs. H. G. Mearns won first place in competition for the Louise Todd Cup at Victoria Golf Club Friday by beating Mrs. C. Foster.

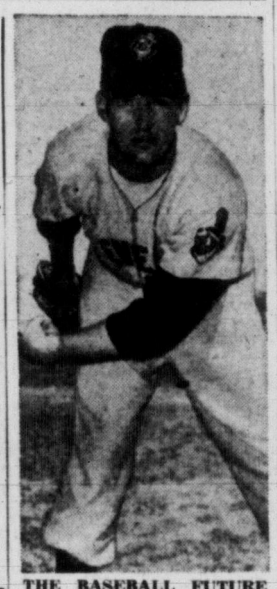
COLWOOD, GORGE STARS IN B.C. AMATEUR MEET

Ten Victoria golfers from two clubs have filed entries for the annual B.C. Amateur Championships, starting at Vancouver Golf Club next Friday.

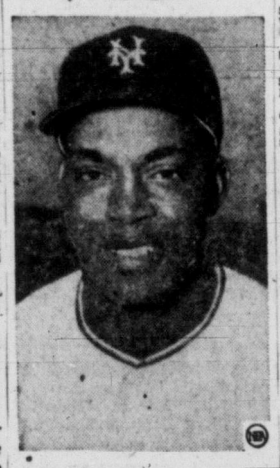
Vancouver's Gordon MacKenzie took the title at Gorge Vale last year with Spokane's Rod Funseth in the runner-up spot.

Colwood has the largest local contingent entered in the tourney with Bill McColl, Pat Frith, Bob Kelly, Laurie Kerr, Tommy Harris, Vince Clarkson and Vic Painter shooting for MacKenzie's title.

Representing Gorge Vale are Dr. Roger Ross, Bill Wakeham and John Carlow.



THE BASEBALL FUTURE of injured Cleveland Indians' pitcher Herb Score may be decided today when doctors take full X-rays of his injured eye to determine if the sight has been impaired. He was injured when hit in the face by a line drive.



THE BRILLIANT CAREER of one of baseball's greatest Negro players, Monte Irvin, has been ended by a sore back. Irvin, former New York Giants star, announced Friday he was retiring from baseball because of a chronic bad back.

TWO LENGTHS BEHIND

Briscoe in Saddle; Arrows Leave Gate

Arrow Furniture finally broke out of the starting gate Friday night to get into the race for the Senior A Men's Softball League title.

Held to five runs in their first two games, Arrows erupted for 10 in the fourth inning at Central Park and went on to whip Mayo Lumber, 14-2. Arrows are now two lengths behind front-running Gorge Hotel, while the Duncan squad is still at the gate with two straight losses.

Dawson Briscoe guided the twice-defeated Furniture crew to the win, pitching a three-hitter and blanking the Lumbermen over the final five innings of the game, called after seven innings because of darkness.

Arrows climbed on three Duncan hurlers for a total of nine hits and took advantage of four walks and two errors as they parlayed four hits into their 10-run inning.

Brian McKinley opened on the mound for Mayo and lasted until the fourth, when Jerry Capps took over. Capps failed to weather the inning, facing only five batters before Ron Hunt chased him to the shower with a bases-loaded home run.

Arrows and Mayo play a return game at Duncan Sunday afternoon while Gorge and Half Way House tangle at Central Park at 2.30.

Fullmer, Jones Sign For Bout in Chicago

NEW YORK (CP) — Former middleweight champion Gene Fullmer signed Thursday to meet contender Ralph (Tiger) Jones of Yonkers, N.Y., in 10-round bout at the Chicago Stadium June 7.

President James Norris of the International Boxing Club made the match after unsuccessful attempts to line up a championship fight for the date.

Stan Leonard Back Home 'Worn Out'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Stan Leonard returned home here Friday from his greatest golf triumph for a three-week rest.

The winner of the Greensboro, N.C., Open is to make his next Gold Trail appearance in one of the sectional qualifying rounds for the United States Open, at Vancouver, Wash., June 3.

Leonard has had to shelve plans to try to qualify for the U.S. Open in the Illinois area, probably at Chicago, because of a testimonial dinner being held in Vancouver in his honor May 28. He is the second Canadian to win a Gold Trail tournament on foreign soil — Toronto's Al Balding was the first.

After his success at Greensboro, his golf fell off and at Louisville in the Kentucky Derby Open he failed to keep among the top scorers.

"The game," he said, "wore me out."

Four Knights To Take Part In Stock Races

The Four Knights, popular recording stars currently appearing in Victoria, will abandon rock 'n' roll for spins and skids tonight at Western Speedway.

Ardent auto racing enthusiasts, the four singers, Cliff Holland, John Wallace, Clarence Oixon and Oscar Broadway, will take part in a special race tonight as part of the regular Speedway program. Three of the four singers have had previous stock-car racing experience in the U.S. and Calgary.

Their race will be held early in the evening so that they can return to their singing date at Memorial Arena.

Al Besselink Holds Lead

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP)—Al Besselink took the halfway lead in the Hot Springs Open golf tournament Friday with 138, one stroke in front of four pursuers.

Besselink carded 68 on the par-72 Hot Springs Country Club course to slip into the lead as both first-day leaders faltered.

Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex.; Bill Casper, Jr., of Bonita, Calif.; Jimmy Demaret of Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., and Johnny Palmer of Tulsa, Okla., were jammed into a four-way tie for second place.

Jackie Burke, who shared the first day lead with Marty Furgol at 68, stayed in contention with a 72, but Furgol skied to 75 and dropped far off the pace.

Demaret turned in the day's best card, a 66 which included an eagle and five birdies.

Al Balding of Toronto carded another one-under-par 71, matching his score in the opening round Thursday for a 142 total, four strokes off the lead.

Pollock Levels Bitter Blast

OTTAWA (CP)—Coach Sam Pollock of Ottawa Junior Canadiens says the refereeing in the Memorial Cup championships was "atrocious, crude and incompetent."

Canadiens arrived home Friday after they lost the best-of-seven final series to Flin Flon Bombers.

Pollock said the refereeing was of the crudest form.

"I've never seen anything like it," he said. "It was very incompetent, just plain bad."

Gorge Medal Round

Gorge Vale Golf Club will host the monthly medal round for ladies with handicaps of 15 or under Monday.

Draw follows:

Steady Eddy Ready for Casey's Job

MONTREAL (BUP)—Eddie Lopat, the former New York Yankee "junkman" now in his sophomore year as manager of the Richmond Virginians, frankly admits he has one goal in mind—succeeding Casey Stengel as manager of the Yankees.

"After all, Case can't go on forever," Lopat pointed out today. "Let's not kid anybody, we managers are in this game for the same thing the players are—the money. And like I tell my players, there's no money in Triple A ball."

The wavy-haired redhead who won 160 games in 12 big league seasons—eight with the Yankees—feels he is serving a worthwhile and necessary apprenticeship in the International League. Lopat said he's not in any particular hurry. "I'm willing to work down here for two or three years and see what happens."

The stocky lefthander they used to call "Steady Eddie," said the struggle for a manager to reach the majors is much the same as it is for the players.

"It's the same for both of us," he said. "They pay off on results."

Lopat disclosed that the idea of turning to managing probably started back in 1949 when he first took over a baseball school in Florida, but "I didn't really start thinking about it seriously until my last year with the Yankees."

EDDIE LOPAT
. . . only one goal

"When I wasn't pitching I'd sit on the bench and make believe I was managing the team," he recalled. "I wasn't trying to second guess Case, but just putting myself in his place trying to call the plays as a manager would. You'd be surprised the different attitude you get and how much more you see in a ball game.

"After a game I used to ask Case why he made certain moves and he'd tell me . . . and I think he knew what I had in mind," he added.

Lopat said he turned down offers to pitch and coach in the majors to take the Richmond job. "I knew I was over the hill and I also wanted to manage and figured the best move I could make was to get started learning all about it." He was talked into being an active manager last year ("while the magic of the name was still there"), but he is sticking to the coaching box this year.

"I'm just another ex-major leaguer managing in the International League now," and besides, he went on, "You just can't play and manage too if you hope to do both jobs justice."

The 38-year-old New York-born Lopat said he is well aware that the Yankees have never hired a manager from their own system, but added optimistically: "Who knows? There's always a first time."

VICTORIA, B.C., SATURDAY, MAY 11, 1957

Civil Servants Protest Bennett Firing Threat

Suggestion by Premier Bennett that the civil service may be trimmed to provide for wage increases next year has been branded as a "threat" by a spokesman for the B.C. Government Employees' Association.

Ed O'Connor, general secretary, said the 10,500-member association would welcome an efficiency survey.

"The government's announcement, however, at this time may be interpreted by many union members as a threat," he said.

"In other words, if you attempt to establish a fair living wage by use of economic force you may lose your job. It is inconceivable that anyone can expect efficiency to live side by side with the complete lack of morale that naturally emanates from a cheap labor policy."

The statement coincided with an association meeting at Nanaimo Friday night at which 500 members went on record as favoring a secret strike vote if the government has still ignored their wage increase demand by the end of the month.

The meeting unanimously reaffirmed a resolution passed at a Vancouver meeting of 1,000 civil servants last Monday empowering the executive to serve an ultimatum on the government.

A. C. Bennett, assistant general secretary, told the Nanaimo meeting the association had already approached the government, asking a meeting with the cabinet.

He was commenting on a statement by Provincial Secretary Wesley Black Friday that no request had been received through his office.

IGNORED

The civil servants charge they are being "ignored" by the government.

A delegation met the cabinet last November to urge a basic wage increase and a similar recommendation has been forwarded by the Civil Service Commission.

Last basic increase was granted in 1952.

H. A. Carney, secretary of the Victoria branch, said today salaries of some civil service officials were boosted this year, but nothing has been done for the rank and file.

The association stand is now that it will wait for an answer from the government agreeing to a meeting to discuss demands.

END OF MONTH

If it is not forthcoming by the end of the month, the strike vote will be called.

A telegram was read at the Nanaimo meeting from the Terrace branch, urging that a special convention be called to consider the situation. All branches throughout the province should have a say in any decision to hold the strike vote, the wire stated.

An executive member said the government could never allow a strike deadline to be reached in some of its departments.

"It is inconceivable that the government can close down for even a week," he said.

Tone of the meeting was set by one member who declared:

"We want action. If we don't get action by the end of this month we will take a strike vote. And Heaven help us if it is defeated. We need more pay and the only way we will get it is by militant action."

In his prepared statement issued from association headquarters at Vancouver, Mr. O'Connor said the government has not denied the justification of the civil servants' wage demands.

Provincial revenues have been steadily increasing, he said, and public services have correspondingly expanded.

The government is subjugating a fair wage policy to an expanding public service, Mr. O'Connor charged.

"It would appear that human values are of little concern."

The average wage of government employees is $38 below the average industrial wage in the province, Mr. O'Connor said.

MONTE ROBERTS

Let us off caps and give three rousing cheers for the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

Such a suggestion, in this space, may come as a shock to loyal constituents, who are aware of the fact I rarely say hurrah for the Chamber of Commerce.

But in this case, the cheers are richly deserved.

I am referring, of course, to the Chamber of Commerce plan to introduce those who deal with tourists to the tourist attractions of this area.

A conducted bus tour, in which 400 to 600 persons will participate, is planned for Wednesday of next week. The Chamber of Commerce hopes that restaurant and hotel people, and others who are in frequent contact with visitors, will attend and thus know better whereof they speak when they suggest places to go and things to do.

This is by long odds the most constructive step in tourism I've seen since I arrived back here a half dozen years ago.

And I speak with authority when I speak of knowledge of tourist attractions.

With all modesty, I think I can lay claim to the free-style championship, ignorance of tourist attractions division.

I know less about Victoria's tourist attractions than anybody I know.

Among the many local tourist attractions I have not visited are Butchart Garden, the Gonzales historical monument which commemorates I know not what, and the Bert Thomas plaque at Saxe Point.

Mind you, I am an old hand at not visiting tourist attractions. In Toronto, for instance, I successfully failed to visit the top of the Commonwealth's tallest building, or tour Casa Loma, or watch the stock exchange in action.

In Montreal, the horse-drawn carriages which tour Mount Royal missed my business.

In New York, Grant's Tomb, the Empire State Building, the Battery, and Zaza Gabor were only a few of the tourist attractions I failed to see.

And, of course, in London, England, I failed to see the tower. But this may be because I've never been in London, England.

The point I am making is this: I know all about ignorance of tourist attractions.

And out of the wealth of my ignorance, I am glad to see the Chamber of Commerce is doing something to eliminate similar ignorance on the part of those who play host to tourists.

Once again, three rousing cheers, and even a tiger, for the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

Preserve Lake Park Ash Demands of City

If Victoria refuses to sell Saanich its Beaver-Elk Lake property, then the city should dedicate the land to park use for posterity, Saanich Reeve Arthur Ash suggested today.

Saanich has bid to buy the land from the city in order to dedicate it for park purposes, but so far has been turned down flat by Victoria city council.

"Victoria should not demand its pound of flesh, but enter into a spirit of co-operation to develop this property as a Greater Victoria park," Mr. Ash said.

He said, considering the site is one of the most promising for development of playground, park and beach, "it is difficult to understand the attitude of Victoria city council in refusing to negotiate . . ."

The city "refuses to do anything about it, and sits back ready to extract a pound of flesh when they think the time is opportune, a rather dog-in-the manger attitude.

"We are all agreed the area should be set aside for park purposes—one of the few remaining green belts in the centre of Greater Victoria . . ." the reeve said.

He suggested after dedication by the city, the three municipalities of Saanich, Oak Bay and Esquimalt join in developing the property.

This would "ensure for all time a permanent park for which present and future generations would appreciate the foresight of those in authority now."

6,507 City Stay-at-Homes Victims of Mock A-Attack

Total of 6,507 persons who refused to leave their homes were dead or injured today following a hypothetical "enemy attack" which levelled most of the HMC Dockyard area.

The mock attack on Victoria was part of an all-Canada Civil Defence paper exercise which concluded at noon today.

According to Greater Victoria CD co-ordinator Roger Peachey, a "guided missile" lobbed from an enemy submarine at 3.30 a.m., devastated the vital area, leaving 1,540 dead, 650 seriously wounded and not expected to live, 2,817 suffering from effects of radiation, and another 1,500 with various minor injuries.

"Casualties" were rushed to city hospitals for treatment after four monitoring teams had surveyed the destruction later this morning. The attack theoretically wiped out everything within a mile's radius. There was no damage to the downtown area.

"The exercise was very successful as far as we are concerned," Mr. Peachey said. "Evacuation was carried out smoothly with very little hold-up."

YWCA HEAD RESIGNS POST

Six Injured In Traffic Mishaps

Overnight traffic smashes sent six persons to hospital, two of them with head injuries.

Jack Lewis, 21, and Dick Morrison, 41, both of Keating, were admitted to Royal Jubilee and St. Joseph's Hospitals respectively and are reported in good condition recovering from head injuries received when thrown from a motorcycle on Patricia Bay Highway.

SOFT SHOULDER

Saanich police said the two were riding near Beaver Lake Park at about 1 a.m. when the motorbike apparently struck a soft shoulder and went out of control.

The men were thrown off to the side of the road.

At 7.10 p.m. cars driven by Alvin Schlecht, 1746 Pembroke, and Fred Charles Alwyn, 2533 Graham, were in collision at Kings and Blanshard, injuring three passengers.

Treated at Jubilee and discharged were Mrs. B. Alwyn, 20, 2533 Graham, who received a leg injury; Barry Rushworth, 22, 2615 Blanshard, hand, head and side injuries, and George Ludlow, 22, 1746 Pembroke, side and arm injuries.

An eight-year-old cyclist, Brian Paul, son of Dr. G. M. Paul, 1895 Lansdowne, received knee and facial injuries and was discharged after treatment at Jubilee following collision with a truck driven by Louis Yen, 537 Cormorant, at Lansdowne and Westdowne at about 7.14 p.m.

Major Speeches Here Next Week

Pearson, Knowles Coming As Campaign Speeds Up

The June 10 federal election campaign moves into high gear in British Columbia next week with a number of major speeches scheduled.

Highlight locally will be the address of External Affairs Minister Lester Pearson in Central Junior High School Tuesday night.

It is presumed Mr. Pearson will touch on the thorny Suez issue, which became a full-blown election controversy this week after National Social Credit leader Solon Low charged in Victoria that Canada had threatened to withdraw from the Commonwealth at the height of the crisis.

Local Liberal candidates Alistair Fraser and Dr. Frank Fairey will speak on the same platform.

The week opens Monday night in the Central Junior High Auditorium with the appearance of Stanley Knowles, CCF whip in the last parliament.

He will be speaking in support of CCF standard-bearers Dr. J. M. Thomas and Victor Williams.

Premier Bennett gets into the fray Wednesday night when he addresses a public meeting at Nanaimo in the Plaza Hotel Ballroom.

Elsewhere in the province, other federal cabinet ministers will be active.

Trade Minister C. D. Howe will be campaigning in the Vancouver area Monday and Tuesday. He will not be in Victoria.

Other Liberal ministers stumping the province next week include Agriculture Minister James Gardiner, Defence Minister Ralph Campney and Fisheries Minister James Sinclair.

Mr. Pearson will spend three days in B.C., and will make another major speech in New Westminster Wednesday night.

The following week Health Minister Paul Martin and Finance Minister Walter Harris will travel west.

Mr. Martin will visit Vancouver Island on Thursday, May 23, not next Thursday, as previously reported. He will speak in Nanaimo on the night of May 23 and will return to the mainland following the meeting. He will not be in Victoria.

Mr. Harris will arrive in Vancouver May 20 and spend two days in that area.

In the local area, Esquimalt-Saanich and Victoria candidates will continue their campaigning at meetings throughout the week.

Apart from the CCF meeting, the only other electioneering Monday night is planned by Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, who is off to a fast start in his bid for re-election.

He will be speaking at Metchosin Hall. The rest of the week, Gen. Pearkes will spend on the lower mainland and Okanagan supporting other Progressive Conservative candidates.

Four B.C. Ministers Invade East

While the federal ministers are on the hustings in the west, B.C.'s provincial cabinet ministers are going to be in the east.

Details of their speaking tours were disclosed today in Toronto. The ministers had been secretive about their campaign plans and refused to tell reporters here when they were leaving.

Works Minister W. N. Chant is already en route to Ontario by train and will speak in Galt Monday night and St. Thomas Tuesday night.

Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi, Labor Minister Lyle Wicks and Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan will also campaign in Ontario in the next week. They are expected to work their way back across the country and hold a number of meetings on the Prairies.

Other cabinet ministers, including Attorney-General Robert Bonner, Labor Minister Ray Williston, Health Minister Eric Martin and Municipal Affairs Minister Wesley Black are also expected to stump the country for Social Credit in the next few weeks.

Premier Bennett won't say for sure, but he probably will return to Eastern Canada, too.

Other speeches planned by the premier within the province were announced today.

He will be in Prince Rupert May 17, Vernon May 27 and Kelowna May 29.

He will also speak at a Deas Island tunnel ceremony in Vancouver May 22 and at a Socred rally in Victoria May 24.

Stanley Knowles told an election meeting in Kelowna Friday night the Liberal government is trying to "half-satisfy" everybody and is catering to "big interests."

Speaking in support of the sitting Okanagan Boundary CCF member, Owen L. Jones of Kelowna, Mr. Knowles said Trade Minister Howe had made Canada "a happy hunting ground for millionaires" but intended to give people who built the country a "miserly $46-a-month old-age pension."

"Mr. Howe," he said, "believed parliament should just shut up and had said so in Port Arthur recently."

Compensation Denied Carver On Royal Totem

The Workmen's Compensation Board has disallowed a claim by totem carver Henry Hunt, working on a totem to be given Queen Elizabeth, for a compensation following a back injury March 26.

As he, his wife and 10 children are not living on a reservation, they also do not qualify for hospital coverage under the Indian Affairs Department.

Mrs. Hunt today said her husband injured his back while moving a canoe in Thunderbird Park to make room for the new totem.

"It was a type of dislocation. The doctors told Henry he should sleep on a hard mattress for at least six months."

She added that her husband still suffered pain, particularly in damp weather.

The Hunts live at 902 Caledonia.

Chief carver Mungo Martin is also perturbed about the situation.

"If we went on strike over the matter, the Queen would never receive her totem," he said.

The Hunts are annoyed because they were brought to Victoria specifically for totem carving projects, and now, said Mrs. Hunt, they are being given the run-around by the provincial government.

Job Picture Shows Steady Improvement

Employment picture in Victoria continued to improve during the week, with the number of unemployed applicants dropping from 1,808 men and 771 women to 1,745 men and 672 women.

The present total of 2,417 unemployed, though, is about 650 above this time last year, according to J. H. Fox, manager of the National Employment Office here.

Number of orders for men changed little during the week, Mr. Fox said, but the demand for women increased 30 per cent, with waitresses, restaurant help, and retail clerks in the greatest demand.

ASK The TIMES

Q.—Did Laurence Irving, actor son of Sir Henry Irving ever visit Victoria?—A.C.M.

A.—Yes, he and his company played here in 1914. The event was fixed in the memories of many Victorians by the news shortly afterwards that he was among those who lost their lives in the sinking of the liner Empress of Ireland.

Q.—What is a solidus?
—D.M.W.

A.—It is the sloping line that separates numerals of a vulgar fraction and the similar line that separates shillings and pence in the written and printed form of that currency. There was a solidus in the days of the Roman Empire but it was a gold coin originally worth about 25 denarii.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times, addressed to "Ask The Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve connudrums.

CARDINAL WYSZNSKI

Polish Cardinal Marks Milestone By Vatican Trip

(Editor's Note: Charles Ridley was the United Press correspondent in Poland during the "Black Church" period in 1950-51. He now is the UP News Editor for Italy and covers the Vatican.)

By CHARLES RIDLEY
UP Staff Correspondent

VATICAN CITY (UP)—The pilgrimage to the Vatican of Stefen Cardinal Wyszinski, primate of Poland, is significant for 75,000,000 Roman Catholics suffering under communist domination.

It is the first time a primate has been able to come from a communist country to Rome. It is an indication that the Polish Red regime failed to bring the church to heel. It reflects the Vatican's faith that in the end the church will triumph over communism everywhere.

But high Vatican sources caution that the situation in Poland differs from other Iron Curtain countries and that even in Poland the church is officially considered to be under the grip of "Atheistic Communism."

"TENUOUS" START

Vatican quarters consider the release of Wyszinski from jail by the new "Independent" Polish Red regime only a "tenuous beginning of a minimum of religious liberty."

In Hungary, Primate Josef Cardinal Mindsenty is neutralized as a church leader. After a brief period of freedom at the start of last October's rebellion, he took refuge in the U.S. Embassy, where he remains today.

In Czechoslovakia, Monsignor Josef Beran, Archbishop of Prague, remains a prisoner in an unknown location.

In Yugoslavia, Primate Aloysius Cardinal Stepinac, though freed from prison, is confined to his native village and cut off from his flock.

In Romania, the small Catholic Church has been virtually wiped out.

13,000 "REMOVED"

In all these countries, thousands of priests remain jailed or banished—or have been executed. Catholic quarters say 13,000 have been "removed" in these ways behind the iron curtain.

Seventy-five million of the church's 450,000,000 adherents live in Communist-dominated countries, including Red China, the Baltic States and Eastern Europe. Of these, more than 25,000,000 are in Poland.

The overwhelming religious faith of Polish Catholics showed itself in jampacked churches and shrines throughout the worst terror of the Stalin era. But Vatican sources cite two other reasons why in their opinion Poland stands apart from other Red-dominated lands:

1. In Poland's brief spell of national liberty before Second World War, its regime was more democratic than some other eastern European states.

2. In Poland's 1,000-year history of oppression by neighboring states, the oppressors, like Russia and Prussia, have been bitter enemies of the church. Thus, the sources say, the church became a symbol of resistance to oppression ingrained in the Polish character. Ninety per cent of the population is Catholic.

For these reasons Pope Pius XII and the Holy See cling firmly to their faith in the Polish church.

EXEMPLIFIES MOTHERHOOD

Cathedral Enshrines Determined Robin

A simple, beautiful stone portrayal of a bird and its nest, high above the pews of Christ Church Cathedral here, exemplifies the faith and devotion of motherhood which will be marked Sunday, "Mother's Day."

Back in 1928, when the cathedral was under construction, a determined robin flew in, looked around, and built a nest, hard by the capital of the southeastern pillar of the nave.

All building operations stopped until the robin's family was successfully launched into the world.

". . . the sparrow hath found a house and the swallow a nest for herself, where she may lay her young, even Thine altars, O Lord of hosts. . . ."—Ps. 84.

It was on the scaffolding around the pillar the robin built, actually raising her brood in sanctuary.

When the pillar was completed, this little triumph in faith was carved on the exact spot on the pillar near where the robin had nested.

Next year the cathedral was roofed in.

But today the event of a quarter century and more ago is still commemorated. There sits the robin, in stone, a lovely inspiring symbol of motherhood for all time.

YOU SAID TO ME-

By ETHEL TULL

A Sunday message of help and comfort for those puzzled, depressed or low in spirit.

You said to me, "What is your objective in life?"

You told me that this question had been recently put to you, yourself, and that you felt it was worthy of thoughtful consideration. I agreed, and to clear my own mind I began to think of what might have happened in your life.

In your youth, you probably had your dreams, as we all do—visions of the part you intended to play on the world's stage. But as you grew older, perhaps circumstances hemmed you in a little, and your outlook began to change. Some of the things you had longed to do became impossible. Perhaps you began to feel that you had never had the opportunity to develop and use the latent powers you knew yourself to possess.

I think I know what your objective in life has now become. All the lovely dreams and visions of youth did not die, for it was the best for which you always looked, and now you have found that the best for you is to live completely by the guidance of God. Your vision is of a world drawn together under one perfect Leadership. You see a society of new men and women, honest with each other in every detail of life—sharing, instead of grabbing—with purity of motive — loving unselfishly. You see that the only form of evolution possible for all mankind is the growth in spiritual power through constant communion with God.

You want to join with others to help to build that new world of new men and women, and you do not shrink from the discipline of God as He teaches you how to take from Him the wisdom and knowledge and love that you need, and to pass it on to others, for the change in you must bring change in them. That is how God builds His Kingdom.

That, I think, is your objective in life, and I pray that the power of the risen Lord may be with you, and with all of us who share your vision and your purpose.

St. John's Gospel Linked With 'Dead Sea Scrolls'

TORONTO (CP)—A theologian has suggested that the Gospel of St. John in the New Testament may be the most historically accurate of the gospels.

Professor James Muilenberg of the Protestant Union Theological Seminary in New York told the second annual Institute on Judaism Thursday there is a remarkable similarity between John's gospel and the writings of the Dead Sea scrolls, found in caves by the Dead Sea in Jordan.

The scrolls, written by a community known as the Essenes, contained the scroll of the Book of Psalms, the Book of Leviticus, a paraphrase of the Book of Job, in Aramaic, in ancient Semitic language, and extracts possibly from the works of minor prophets.

Professor Muilenberg said the similarity between the writings on the scrolls and the New Testament gospel indicated the gospel of John is perhaps the most historically accurate of the four works.

"It is possible and quite probable that John was actually a member of the community of Essenes," he said.

The astonishing thing about the scrolls, Professor Muilenberg said, was the extent of which "our texts" agreed with the more ancient writings.

"There is a variance," he said. "But not as great as we expected."

Misdirection Claim In Cemetery Appeal

The Public Utilities Commission "misdirected themselves on points of law" in granting permission to an eastern Canadian firm to establish a garden-type cemetery at Goldstream, the B.C. Appeal Court was told Friday.

D. M. Gordon, QC, appealed on behalf of the Colwood Cemetery Company against a decision by the Commission and the provincial cabinet last February to grant a certificate of convenience and necessity to Memorial Gardens Association (Canada) Ltd. of Toronto.

The company proposes to build its garden cemetery on 30 acres of former farm land located a few hundred yards south of the Island Highway and east of the Goldstream road.

Fourteen property owners in the Goldstream area are also protesting the new cemetery.

BASIS OF CASE

"The Public Utilities Commission handed down many reasons for granting this certificate and we base our case on these reasons," Mr. Gordon told appeal judges Mr. Justice Sidney Smith, Mr. Justice H. W. Davey and Mr. Justice F. A. Sheppard.

Mr. Gordon contended that the commission erred:

1. In holding that the company qualified for a certificate as an owner of land in Victoria because its president held an option to buy.

2. In granting a certificate to a company unqualified by (a) not being a provincial company or registered as an extra-provincial company (b) by not being a cemetery company.

Dealing with the president's option to buy, Mr. Gordon said: "Until he has paid the purchase price, he has no more right on that land than has a perfect stranger . . . a person who has an option to buy may not necessarily take it up."

"But," interposed Mr. Justice Davey, "he can control the use to which the land is put while he holds the option."

Mr. Gordon emphasized that the same company had been refused permission to build garden cemeteries in Saanich and Sidney by the local municipalities.

MANY LAWYERS

The appeal court was crowded with lawyers when the hearing opened today and Mr. Justice Smith commented: "We are anxious to proceed with this big case which lies ahead of us."

It is expected to last three days.

Public hearings before the PUC last December erupted in a storm of protest from other Victoria cemetery owners and local residents.

The commission rejected an argument that, because a water main runs under the proposed cemetery, the city's water supply would be polluted by seepage.

Local residents objected that the cemetery would harm local businesses including dine and dance hall, beer parlor and auto courts.

Royal Oak Cemetery and Colwood contended there was no need for another burial ground in Greater Victoria.

Eagles Plan Invasion for Celebrations

A "flock" of 500 Eagles, the marching and bugling type—is expected to arrive in Victoria from Seattle, Renton, Tacoma and Bremerton to assist in Victoria Day celebrations next week.

Greater Victoria Celebrations officials said arrangements are completed for a 40-piece band and several marching units from Seattle and a bugle band and drill team from Renton.

They will number 250. Another 250 are expected from Tacoma and Bremerton, including bands and both men's and women's drill teams.

The Eagles will take part in the grand pageant set for Memorial Arena Saturday, May 18. Their entry brings to 1,000 the number taking part in the display.

The visiting Eagles will not take part in the parade May 20 but the Seattle band will hold a concert at Veterans' Hospital Sunday, May 19.

Canadian Explorer's Body Found

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP)—The bodies of Col. Leonard Clark, Canadian writer and explorer, and Richard Macklin, American miner and geologist, were recovered Monday, it was learned here today.

Last Saturday their boat, carrying $500,000 in mining equipment and machinery, capsized in a waterfall on a trip from Cuidad Bolivar to the Caroni territory of Venezuela.

Clark, 50, was a member of the Southwest Research Institute of America. Macklin, 35-year-old vice-president of Strategic Minerals Incorporated, California, was a native of Madison, Wis.

Clark was the author of a number of books, including The Rivers Ran East and A Wanderer Till I Die.

Late last year Clark and a companion claimed the discovery of a new river route into Brazil from the headwaters of the Essequebo River, in the British Guiana hinterland. Their diamond expedition passed through here nearly three months ago bound for the Venezuelan border.

NEW YORK (AP) — Evangelist Billy Graham's 6½-week series of meetings here is expected to cost $900,000, budget figures at his New York crusade headquarters show.

Williston to Act As 'Observer' At Hydro Talks

Lands Minister Ray Williston will act as "observer" for the B.C. government at discussions between the U.S. and Canadian federal governments on the Columbia River.

The talks will open in Washington, D.C., May 19, and Mr. Williston said today he will fly there with Federal Resources Minister Jean Lesage from Ottawa.

He will be accompanied by A. F. Paget, provincial water rights comptroller, and Gordon Kerr, hydraulics engineer with the land department who has specialized in a study of the Columbia.

Principal issue to be discussed at the conferences is downstream benefits accruing to the U.S. by construction of dams on the Columbia in B.C.

SWINDLERS' APPEAL DISMISSED HERE

'Too Many Sharp Practices' In Real Estate, Court Told

What was described as "a carefully thought-out" real estate swindle had its sequel in the B.C. Appeal Court here Thursday afternoon.

The judges dismissed an appeal by two men who are now serving 18 months apiece in penitentiary for defrauding a former Saskatchewan farmer of $3,500 in a Vancouver housing deal.

The men, Peter R. Burlock and John Cependa, were found guilty of defrauding Mark Nelson Albertson over the sale of a house at 1954 Napier Street, Vancouver, last year.

S. J. Remnant, QC, for the Crown, insisted that too many sharp practices are being carried on in the real estate business "and it is time we had a house cleaning."

Mr. Remnant said when the house was advertised for sale Burlock and Cependa approached the owner, Arsene Guerier, and offered to find a buyer.

Later they returned to the house with a spurious offer signed by a man named Chalus to buy the house for $11,250 including a commission of $500. This was accepted by Guerier.

Cependa then inserted this notice in a newspaper:

"$3,000 Bonus! $3,950 cash buys second mortgage of $6,950 being repayable at $65 a month at 7 per cent interest with a five-year clause. This is hot! So act quickly—John Cependa."

Mr. Albertson, former Saskatchewan farmer, agreed to buy the mortgage at the slightly reduced figure of $3,500.

RIFE IN VANCOUVER

Mr. Remnant recalled that the trial judge, Mr. Justice R. A. Sargent, had said:

"The practice of inflating values so as to create a second agreement and sell the ifnlated consideration at a substantial discount is rife in Vancouver."

Richard Anderson, appearing for Cepanda, said the 18 months' sentence was "too severe." He added that Cependa had been studying to become a lawyer.

"This sentence means he is no longer able to realize his ambition and is no longer able to revert to his former occupation as a real estate agent," Mr. Anderson said.

Thomas Dohm, counsel for Burlock, submitted that he did not realize the "import" of what he was doing.

$25 Fine for Failing To File Income Tax

Richard Stanley Stratford, Langford, was fined $25 and $5.50 costs in Colwood RCMP court Friday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of failing to file a 1955 income tax return.

HOT STUFF

By Maurice Humber

I've mentioned our gardener, whose name is "Wong."
He's as old as time . . . and he came from Hong-Kong;
Well, some vegetable seeds he wanted to stir,
So a fistful he bot from Brackman-Ker.
He looked at the pictures, & his lips did smack
He'd spent "60 sen" . . . so I paid him back.
"Oh . . . he velly nice," . . . (he was still selling me,)
"I ketchum onion . . . radishee . . . & cooking-pea."
Then I looked at a package, and sed in some scorn,
"It's too cold in Oak Bay, to grow that corn."
He sat down on his heels & started a row,
And simply replied.—"he all-light . . . HE grow."
Well, he planted his seeds, & they all came thru,
And I'll have a radish for each one of you.
'Cause he planted 4 rows, & he poured 'em tight,
And thinning them out is NOT his delight.
So drop me a line, if you like 'em hot,
'Cause a million radishes I surely have got.
And his corn shoots too, in the sun do shine,
So I think his brown thumb, is much greener THAN MINE.

Queen's U.S. Visit Slated in October

Ottawa Expecting Royal Pair First As Plans Advance for Fall Trip

WASHINGTON (AP)—Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip are due to visit the United States for about 10 days in early October, according to plans which have been worked out between Washington and London.

Persons close to the negotiations reported today that the Queen's formal acceptance to an invitation from President Eisenhower to come to Washington probably will be received here in two to three weeks. It has been pending for months while officials worked out the details.

Queen Elizabeth and Philip are expected to visit places other than Washington but diplomats said they did not know what towns and cities would make up the itinerary except that it seems certain Jamestown, Va., would be included.

Talk of an invitation to the Queen was started originally by sponsors of this year's celebration of Jamestown's historic past.

Clouded in Official Secrecy

So far all exchanges between Washington and London on the Queen's projected visit have been handled primarily by the United States Embassy in London and have been covered with as much official secrecy as the authorities could muster.

This is normal in the case of an invitation by the president to the chief of another state. Nevertheless word usually gets around and reports have been current for about a year that the president would invite Queen Elizabeth and Philip to Washington and that she would accept.

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada wants the Queen to make this country her first stop in any North American travel plan she has for this year.

Prime Minister St. Laurent made this clear on his return from the Bermuda talks with Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

Said Mr. St. Laurent at that time:

"It will be recommended by the United Kingdom government to Her Majesty that if she comes across the Atlantic this year she should visit here first."

Four Rescuers Fail One-by-One

OPELIKA, Ala. (UP)—Five workmen died today in a gas-filled pit at the Pepperell Company sheet factory here.

They climbed to their deaths in single file.

The first to die was Bryant Jones, an electrician, who dropped his glasses into the 10-foot deep hole and died trying to get them back.

In turn, Donald Ingram, Notsaaulga; Carter Ross, Opelika; C. B. Cooper, Opelika, and Jesse Thomas, Auburn, climbed in making rescue attempts. One after another, they collapsed and perished.

The pit was filled with waste water where dye is carried off.

A company spokesman said poisonous hydrogen sulfide gas rises from the waste water. The pit is normally covered but the cover was removed to permit Jones to work on a pump which carries the water off to a nearby stream.

The hole at the top of the pit is so small that the workmen had to squeeze through and worm their way down a ladder.

A spokesman said that apparently the men did not know there was poisonous gas there.

Human 'Bomb' Dies

Montreal Madman Was Shot By Policemen

MONTREAL (CP) — Andre Deblois, the "human bomb" whose threats terrorized a section of Montreal two months ago, died today in hospital from effects of a policeman's bullet that ended his bizarre escapade.

The 25-year-old Deblois, rigged out in sticks of dynamite and detonators, terrorized the staff and customers of a Toronto-Dominion bank branch on St. Lawrence Boulevard last March 8.

Threatening to set off the dynamite, Deblois was finally shot by a police constable who got within shooting range and carefully sent a bullet into Deblois' neck.

BOMB FOUND IN LOCKER

Deblois was taken to hospital where he told police he had planted a bomb in Central Station in downtown Montreal. Police found the home-made bomb in a locker. Some defect in the alarm-clock arrangement prevented the bomb going off at the set hour—5 p.m., while hundreds of homeward bound workers were passing through the station.

Deblois had been paralyzed from the neck down by the police bullet. He was taken into court on a stretcher March 29 and was sentenced to 10 years in prison.

He pleaded guilty to four charges — theft of a taxi, attempted holdup, possession of 39 sticks of dynamite for the purpose of endangering human life, and placing the bomb in the station.

Later Deblois was taken to the Montreal jail in suburban Bordeaux. He was removed from there last Tuesday to Notre Dame de la Merci Hospital.

She collapsed as Jones was being booed by members of the studio audience. She had been in poor health for several months.

VIOLENCE TAKES TOLL

B.C. Officer Dies In Egypt Car Crash

OTTAWA (CP) — The army announced Friday night that a Canadian officer with the United Nations Emergency Force was killed Friday in a traffic accident in Egypt and two Canadian soldiers were injured.

Dead is Lieut. Charles Van Straubenzee, 25-year-old officer with the 56th Reconnaissance Squadron, Royal Canadian Armored Corps. His wife, Sheila, lives in Vernon, B.C.

The soldiers, whose injuries were described as not dangerous, were identified in the cable released by the army only as Tpr. O. Kruger, Arvilla, Alta., the driver, and L.Cpl. C. F. Jette, Calgary.

The accident occurred near Rafah, Egypt, when the Ferret scout car in which the three were travelling rolled over after hitting a sandy patch on the road when the driver swerved to avoid a native crowd.

The five were identified as Marcel L'Heureux, 27; his son Andre 2; L'Heureux' brother, Yvon L'Heureux, 22; Pauline Belisle, 22; and Lucette Piche, 22.

EX-CONVICT ADMITS CHILD KILLING

MUSKEGON, Mich. (UP) — Police from four cities converged on Muskegon today to question confessed child slayer Herman Barmore about the killings of five other children, three in Chicago.

Barmore, 44, alias Charles W. Ficher, a New York ex-convict and sex pervert, has already admitted the fatal shooting of Peter Gorham, 12, Evanston, Ill., July 5, 1955, near a Boy Scout camp 12 miles north of Muskegon. He said it was an "accident" but authorities call it a sex crime.

TRUCK RAMS CAR; 3 PERSONS DIE

BRANTFORD, Ont. (CP) — A huge trailer truck carrying 16 tons of sugar thundered into the side of an automobile that pulled from a side street Friday night in nearby Mount Pleasant, killing three occupants of the car.

The victims were: Milton Lickers, 52; Arthur Howie, 70, and Howie's daughter, Mrs. Helen Bonnacorso, all of nearby Paris.

THREE BURIED IN GRANARY

ST. BENEDICT, Sask. (CP) —Two men and a child were killed on a farm here Friday when the wall of a granary collapsed, burying them beneath about 50 tons of grain.

Killed were Lawrence Reinhart, 43, his four-year-old daughter Delphine and Mathew Victor, 30, a neighboring farmer.

FALLING LIMB KILLS MOTHER OF THREE

TROY, N.Y. (AP) — A young mother who was expecting her fourth child was injured fatally Friday night when a tree limb fell on an automobile during a windstorm. Her husband and three children escaped with abrasions. Mrs. Theresa Nichols, 31, died in hospital of a punctured liver after the limb smashed the windshield of the car.

SOUTHERN COMFORT

Police Get Break Under City's Sun

The new look in Victoria city police is likely to spring up any warm day now.

By order of chief constable John Blackstock, policemen are permitted to stand duty in shirt sleeves, uniform trousers and—shades of California — sunglasses. But the sunglasses mustn't be fancy.

Police union has tried for years to get its membership out of heavy blue serge tunics in the heat of summer, but until recently met with opposition from the police commission which argued police should at all times be fully uniformed.

The new regulation will be implemented at the discretion of patrol sergeants and uniform inspectors and is allowable only if all constables on duty are dressed the same.

Later, police will be issued Sam Browne belts to be worn over shirts and neckties on warm summer days and over tunics the rest of the year.

The chief permitted tunics to be removed on two or three very warm days last summer, but made no standing order.

It will be the first time beat constables are allowed to wear dark glasses, although traffic and motorcycle officers have had the privilege previously.

PM Should Reveal Notes On Suez, Says Tory Chief

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP) — Progressive Conservative Leader John Diefenbaker said here today that he would not believe Canada would withdraw from the Commonwealth over last fall's Suez Canal crisis.

Mr. Diefenbaker, on a barnstorming campaign tour of Northern Ontario, told a press conference on his special train: "It would be as far removed from reality as any government could come."

He made the comments during a reply to queries about a current battle between Social Credit Leader Solon Low and Prime Minister St. Laurent.

Mr. Low was reported to have said at Victoria that the Liberal leader last fall threatened Sir Anthony Eden, then British prime minister, with Canada's withdrawal from the Commonwealth over the Suez Canal crisis. Mr. St. Laurent termed the statement "a downright lie." Mr. Low claims the Victoria report was inaccurate.

But he said at Brandon, Man., Thursday night that a telegram sent last fall by Mr. St. Laurent to Sir Anthony was the major factor in causing Britain and France to halt their intervention in the Israeli-Egyptian dispute. Mr. St. Laurent denied this too and contended that Mr. Low still was not telling the truth about Canada's role in Britain's withdrawal from Egypt.

Asked to comment on the Low-St. Laurent exchanges, Mr. Diefenbaker said: "That's a private fight. I never believe in interfering in others controversies."

EXPLAINS FEELINGS

Mr. Diefenbaker, however, went on to explain his own feelings in the matter. He said he made an effort to obtain a copy of the telegram but Prime Minister St. Laurent refused. He added that the prime minister said Mr. Eden did not want the contents of the telegram published.

He pointed out in the Commons that if the telegram was produced all correspondence, over several months, would have to be produced, and Sir Anthony did not want that," Mr. Diefenbaker said.

"All we've had to date," Mr. Diefenbaker went on, "is a refusal to produce the document. During the first debate he (Mr. St. Laurent) gave general indications of the telegram's content, which was meaningless without that document.

"My own views are that the document should have been produced. The prime minister should not have given his personal views."

Mr. Diefenbaker said he had no information on Canada withdrawing from the Commonwealth. He recalled that External Affairs Minister Pearson had told the Commons that because of the lack of a Commonwealth conference at the time some members were "on the brink of withdrawal."

"I wouldn't believe Canada would withdraw," he concluded.

PALEFACES INVITED

Redskins to Rock To Age-Old Beat

The age-old beat of tribal drums and the modern beat of redskin rock 'n' roll will summon the paleface to Maple Bank Park next week.

Vancouver Island Indian Festival aims to beat out a host of other Victoria Day weekend attractions for a top crowd-pleasing event.

Before the sun is high, about 11 a.m. white man's time, on Sunday, May 19, men and women from many lodges near the great western sea will gather on Songhees Reserve.

They will bring their war canoes, their authentic costumes, their finest athletes, famed choirs, and renowned dancers and a red-hot modern instrumental band which plays Presley-type rhythm in beads and buckskin.

BEAUTIES

They will bring their dark-eyed beauties and will choose the most beauteous among them and name her queen.

They will engage in all manner of contests to find the strongest of the braves, the fleetest of foot, and he who has most endurance in a one-mile foot race. They invite entries from their white brothers.

There will be a time of worship first at 11 a.m. when Rev. J. L. Bradley will sing mass in nature's church where the sky is the roof. And a choir directed by Able Joe, former star of Tzinquaw, will direct it.

Tribal dances at 2 p.m. will feature men and women of the Makah Tribe from Neah Bay, Washington, and a mask dance never before seen by the Canadian public.

Chief Dan George of Maplewood, B.C. (he of the modern band with the sizzling saxophones), will present another group of dancers. There will be a group of dancers too from Yakima.

GOVERNORS' CUPS

Eighteen entries are expected in the international war canoe races. The 11-men crews will compete for cups presented by former lieutenant - governor, Clarence Wallace, and Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross, who speaks for the great white mother.

The women too will race the long canoes before returning to their cooking fires where 300 dozen fresh crab wait to be served, a ton of clams and several tons of salmon await the smoke.

(For the paleface there will be hotdogs too.)

The rubber-shod metal steeds of the visitors will have ample grazing room. President of the festival association, Percy B. Ross, says:

"Yea, 5,000 cars can cluster like locusts in the green fields."

Wampum for admittance to the full program of events is 50 cents, with all papooses under eight free to wander at will.

PUBLIC DEBATE ON PIPELINE

Regnier's Challenge Accepted by Garson

WINNIPEG (CP)—Justice Minister Garson Friday conditionally accepted a challenge to a public debate on the Trans-Canada Pipeline controversy issued by a Liberal who quit the party in protest against government handling of the question in last year's parliamentary debate.

The challenge was issued by Laurier Regnier, former vice-president of the Manitoba Liberal Progressive Association, who has accepted the Progressive Conservative nomination for St. Boniface.

"I will be waiting on the platform of the St. Boniface College auditorium at 8 p.m., Friday, May 17," Mr. Regnier said.

Mr. Garson issued a statement in which he accepted the challenge but reserved the right to change the time and place of the debate and wording of the resolution. He said Mr. Regnier was apparently unaware that such courtesies were usually extended to a person challenged to a public political debate.

He said he already is committed to appear at a joint meeting elsewhere on the night suggested and added that he will issue another statement later on the challenge.

Mr. Regnier offered this resolution as subject for the debate: "Resolved, that the present administration betrayed the principles of parliamentary government in its closure procedure on the pipeline debate in the House of Commons last year."

Dead Rot in Liberal Regime Says Pearkes; Change Due

Dead rot is beginning to creep into the Liberal government after 23 years in office and it's time for a change to the Conservatives, Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, said Friday night.

The Conservative party provides the only alternative to the "approaching dictatorship" of Liberal rule, said Gen. Pearkes, PC candidate in Esquimalt-Saanich.

HELP LIBERALS

"It would also be for the good of the Liberal party," he said, "that the Liberal party return to its own principles."

Gen. Pearkes was speaking at a public meeting in Marigold Hall.

He said Parliament has been "brushed aside" by the present administration, which is governing the country by cabinet order-in-council.

BUSINESS HURT

Gen. Pearkes said the government is piling up a $500,000,000 surplus this year, while at the same time refusing to cut taxes and applying credit restrictions which are hard on small businessmen.

National Leader John Diefenbaker had pledged the Conservatives to appoint a commission to study the plight of these small businessmen.

A Conservative government would also link pensions to the cost-of-living index to assure the aged, veterans and other recipients of a "reasonable and decent standard of living."

Bargain Prices On Eggs Due To Overstock

Smaller Victoria stores, overstocked with eggs because of a record spring production, are selling two dozen at a bargain price of 85 to 89 cents.

Average price remains at 51 cents per dozen, grade A large.

A government official said Friday 12,000 cases or 360,000 dozen eggs produced in B.C. are moving through registered grading stations.

Provincial government soon will open a $75,000 campaign to sell more B.C. eggs.

VANCOUVER (CP)—The mystery of Canada's worst aviation disaster, shrouded for five months in the mighty snows of the Cascade Mountains, may be near solution. The snow shroud is melting.

The disaster occurred Dec. 9 when a Trans-Canada Air Lines North Star disappeared at night over the mountains 100 miles east of here with 59 passengers and three crew members aboard.

Not a trace of the 62 persons or the airliner has been found.

BURIED DEEP

For nine days after the North Star disappeared, low clouds and extreme air turbulence thwarted the search. On the 10th day, 50 planes criss-crossed a 1,200-mile area but the silent snow already had been at work.

During the nine days of bad flying weather, 16 to 38 feet of snow —dependong on the altitude—fell in that jungle of rocky spires that makes up the southern British Columbia Cascade range.

But the mountain snowline now is creeping up and TCA held an organizational meeting Friday to lay search renewal plans.

Represented at the meeting were the RCAF, the RCMP, the federal transport department, Okanagan Helicopters Ltd., Aero Surveys Ltd., and the B.C. Mountain Rescue Organization.

PHOTOGRAPH SEARCH ZONE

Later, Norm Donnelly, TCA operations chief here, announced Aero Surveys will photograph a 2,200-square-mile area considered the heart of the search zone. This project will begin near the end of June or start of July.

Last January Aero Surveys covered 1,100 square miles of the same area but, Donnelly said, because a vast amount of snow had fallen, it "was like grasping at straws."

An RCAF search "with at least 12 planes" will concentrate on a 5,000 - square - mile area centred about 9,700-foot Silvertip Mountain, 100 miles east of Vancouver and 200 miles southeast of Hope, B.C.

Donnelly said the plane search will start when snow conditions resemble or are more favorable than those at the time of the plane's disappearance. This is unlikely to be earlier than mid-June.

The mountaineers will be the first to get started. On June 1 they will search 7,000-foot Mount Klesilkwa and Custer Ridge, both just a few miles east of Silvertip.

FOUND FOUR OTHERS

Sqdn. Ldr. George Sheahan, who commands the RCAF's search and rescue squadron here said since the TCA disaster four other planes crashed in the same general area but in each case they were found.

Aircraft searching for those planes were asked also to be on the lookout for the TCA airliner, but no one ever reported the vaguest trace of it.

Earlier, RCAF-directed planes covered 12,000 square miles hunting for the North Star. Ground parties hiked nearly 200 miles of rugged trail and a special Alpine group scaled seven peaks towering to 8,000 feet in attempts to probe fog and snow - shrouded heights.

Many of the individual reports of persons who claimed to have heard or seen the plane were investigated.

Sqdn. Ldr. Sheahan said more than 3,000 reports were received including nearly 500 from persons who merely reported their dreams about the crash.

What is known of the swift tragedy that took the lives of 13 women, two children and 44 men the night of Dec. 9 comes from log books of TCA operations and in an RCAF radar station.

The aircraft was on eastbound flight 810 with its first stop at Calgary. The four-motored plane took off at Vancouver airport at 6 p.m., two hours late because of delays due to bad weather on its westbound flight.

Fifty-seven minutes later, Capt. Allan Clarke, 35-year-old veteran pilot, radioed that a warning device on the instrument panel signalled No. 2 engine was on fire. He shut off the engine and reported he was returning to Vancouver. His position was a few minutes out of Princeton, 130 air miles east of Vancouver; his altitude, 19,500 feet.

A few minutes later, the pilot reported his aircraft riding smoothly. There was no further word of fire. At 7:10 he gave his position "by Hope" and requested clearance to descend to 8,000 feet. Highest mountain peak on the airways track between Hope and Vancouver is 4,500 feet high.

That was the last radio contact with the airliner.

Transport department officials say a navigation error appears to have caused the North Star to crash into a mountain peak.

SINCLAIR PREDICTION

Socred Fate Hinges On Columbia Offer

ABBOTSFORD, B.C. (CP)—Federal Fisheries Minister Sinclair says Premier Bennett's Social Credit government would face defeat if it rejected the federal offer of assistance to develop the Columbia River hydro potential.

"All Premier Bennett has to do is wire Prime Minister St. Laurent and say: 'I'm in favor of private power', and the people of British Columbia would then give their judgment," Mr. Sinclair told a Liberal party rally here Friday night.

PRIVATE GRUDGE

The federal offer of financial assistance in developing the Columbia is based on the work being done by a public power agency.

"The whole thing about it is that Premier Bennett would rather have his private grudge against the federal government than have public development of the Columbia."

Mr. Sinclair denied Premier Bennett's statement that the fisheries minister's speeches about Columbia development have "sabotaged" talks scheduled to start May 19 between Canada and the United States on downstream benefits from the river.

Mr. Sinclair defended his record in conducting international negotiations, recounting his actions at the United Nations, in the collection of European war debts and the drawing up of fisheries treaties with the U.S.

Power Grab on Columbia Aim of Ottawa, Says Tory

REVELSTOKE (CP) — Leon J. Ladner, co-chairman of the Progressive Conservative campaign committee in the June 10 federal election, accused the Liberal government of trying to trap British Columbia into giving up its rights to power resources.

The Liberals aim at getting complete control of the huge potential of the Columbia River, Mr. Ladner said.

He lashed out at a recent Liberal offer to help develop the Columbia, not by subsidies, grants or guaranteed bonds, but as an owner of shares in a Crown company.

Mr. Ladner referred to a speech by Prime Minister St. Laurent in Vancouver last Wednesday offering to develop the Columbia by formation of a federal-provincial Crown company. Mr. St. Laurent had said the province could buy out the federal government's share in the company eventually.

FEDERAL CONTROL

Mr. Ladner said such a company would eventually come under control of the federal government. A licence from the federal government is required to build reservoirs or dams on any river, the Conservative speaker said, and the federal government could regulate construction and operation of international river improvement.

"In plain language, the Liberal party insists that the federal government would become a part owner of our great hydro power development."

NEED HUBBY, TRY ALBERNI

Proportion of men to women in Canada has increased in the last five years, but no incorporated city boasts a higher rate than Port Alberni.

In the west coast city there are 125 men to every 100 women.

National average is 103 men to every 100 women.
